

Twenty-five Texas teachers have been named representatives of Programa de Educacion Interamericana, a Title III project under the joint cooperation of Texas A&M and Bryan Independent School District.

The 1969 summer travel-study groups in intercultural education will visit countries in Central and South America, the Caribbean and Canada.

Local teachers and their assignments are Miss Leora Sue Smith, Anson Jones Jr. High School; Mrs. Catharyn Worley, A&M

Consolidated High School, and Miss Melanie Duhr, Stephen F. Austin High School. The three teachers are scheduled for Colombia, Guyana, Surinam and Curacao.

VISITING THE Canadian Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia, Yukon and the Northwest Territory will be Elvin Tyrone, Stephen F. Austin High School.

Programa Associate Director Mrs. Francis Dean said the program is designed "to enrich and strengthen the knowledge and understanding of Texas teachers and students in the field of intercultural education," with particular reference to Mexico and the republics of Central and South America.

"Innovative in concept, the project should produce a new strategy for education which will foster and enhance cultural empathy wherever areas of study in elementary and secondary education relate to any aspect of the rest of the Americas," Mrs. Dean added.

"WE DEFINE 'cultural empathy' as the ability to understand and appreciate the culture of another people as one's own," she said.

"We expect to produce in many substantive areas of the curriculum, units of study, curriculum materials, teaching guides and other useful resources," Mrs. Dean emphasized.

Programa's ultimate goal is to help Texas teachers and students achieve "a warm and genuine understanding and appreciation of our neighbors to the south," she continued.

Water Pollution Traced To Cities, Industries

One of the nation's water pollution control leaders, Dr. Ralph E. Fuhrman, said Wednesday the country's water problem is divided into two camps—municipalities and industries.

"With municipalities, the problem is financing," added Fuhrman. "With industry, it is imposing state and federal regulations and doing considerable research."

Fuhrman, executive secretary of the Water Pollution Control Federation, Washington, D. C., was keynote speaker for the 51st Texas Water Utilities Association's Short School here this week. Sessions continue through Friday in the Memorial Student Center.

Highlighting one of industry's growing problems, Fuhrman said no industry should "discharge material into water that can't be removed. No industry should create insoluble problems."

"It doesn't take much to do damage," he warned and urged industry representatives to take their material to dumping grounds rather than "ruining miles of water." "We can't have solid water pollution control without it," he emphasized.

Expressing disappointment in available funds, Fuhrman pointed out that $700 million have been authorized by the federal government, but that only $214 million have been appropriated due to the Vietnam War.

George Washington was born Feb. 22, 1932, on his family plantation overlooking the Potomac River near Wakefield, Va.
