Mr. and Mrs. Reed have donated Twelfth Man scholarships for the last three years. A 1945 aerospace engineering graduate, he is board chairman and production manager of the Reed

When two sophomores, badly burned in a 1965 Fort Worth car wreck, were moved to San Antonio for treatment, Mrs. Reed went to their aid. Joe Wilson died. She stayed with Wayne Werdung, phoned his parents in Offallon, Ill., telling them they would stay at the Reed home, and when Wayne died brought them to the campus for Silver Taps.

TEXAS WOMAN NAMED MOTHER OF THE YEAR
Mrs. R. G. LeTourneau of Longview has her picture taken by her son Roy in Los Angeles after she was named the U. S. Mother of the Year Sunday. Nation's 'Mother Of Year' Has Close Ties To A&M

By JANIE WALLACE
Battalion Staff Writer
The 1969 United States Mother of the Year is known as "Mom" to a sophomore industrial engineer student from Longview.

During the last 20 years, in fact, Mrs. R. G. LeTourneau has sent three sons to A&M. They are Richard, Roy and Ben.

"I think it's great!" was the reaction of Ben LeTourneau to the announcement that his mother won the national contest.

Sixteen years ago, LeTourneau was a freshman here, but decided to work at the family's plant in Vicksburg, Miss. He wanted to advance from his "plateau" so he came back to A&M. He is the youngest of the family, at age 35.

"I met her at the airport in Longview Sunday and she is very happy, but I really haven't talked enough with her to see how she feels, he said.

EVERYONE refers to her as "Mom," he noted. "At the plant (R. G. LeTourneau, Inc.) which employs 4,000 people, all know her and love her."

About 10 years ago, rehabilitating juvenile delinquents was a main concern of Mrs. LeTourneau. She started a "boys' ranch" in Lindale to help them adjust to society. The ranch was the home of 60 boys at one time. She has sponsored, in all, seven boys' camps around the nation, LeTourneau said.

Her prime interest now is taking care of her semi-invalid husband, he added.

LAST WEEK Governor Preston Smith honored her as the Texas Mother of the Year, he said.

"Since I'm here, I don't know much about the contest. I guess it is like a Miss America contest for mothers," LeTourneau went on.

"The alumni association of LeTourneau College in Longview nominated her for the state level contest. (Mr. and Mrs. R. G. LeTourneau founded LeTourneau Technical Institute in 1946. In 1961, it became a four-year col-

Squadron 3 Freshman Receives Appointment To AF Academy

Freshman William F. Cunningham Jr. of Sherman has been appointed to the Air Force Academy.

The son of Air Force Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. F. Cunningham, 1706 Westside Dr., Sherman, will report to the Colorado Springs institution June 23.

He was A&M's annual nominee and appointed directly from the academy following Air University screening of nominations from each U. S. college and university with an Air Force ROTC program.

Cunningham is studying aerospace engineering at A&M and is in Squadron 3 of the Cadet Corps. He has a 2.93 overall grade point ratio and is a member of Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman scholastic fraternity.

Cunningham marches with the national champion Fish Drill Team, which is undefeated in four competitions this year. The team won the national championship by out-marching 49 other units consisting of upperclassmen at the National Intercollegiate ROTC Drill Championships in conjunction with the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C.

His father is assistant deputy of operations at Perrin AFB.

African Paintings On Exhibit Here

Paintings of African tribal culture and 18th Century Oriental ritual sculpture will be on exhibit in the Memorial Student Center through Friday.

Contemporary Arts exhibits committee chairman Tom Ellis of La Porte said the two shows include the work of Mrs. Gretha Hutt, a local artist, and sculpture of Kiko Gallery in Houston.

Mrs. Hutt, of 207 West Brookside Dr., Bryan, was born and raised in South Africa. Persons interested in purchasing her work should phone 846-4926, Ellis said.

The oriental sculpture also may be purchased. Inquiries should be directed to Mrs. Ann Keel in the MSC Social Office, 845-1311.
