Cub's Koufax Image Not Appealing
 LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I just want to be known as Ken Holtzman of the Chicago Cubs," says the left-handed pitcher who objects to being called the next Sandy Koufax.
 "That comparison is unfair," declares the 23-year-old south-pay who currently has pitched 33 consecutive scoreless innings. "There never will be another Sandy Koufax."

 "He wasn't as fast Tuesday night," added Durocher after a 7-0 victory over Los Angeles. "But he's some kind of pitcher."

ADIOS!

by John Platzer

In all of sport there is nothing quite like it. Hordes of wild-eyed, intoxicated Cajuns join their voices in the yell which seems to encase all those who would dare enter the confines of LSU's gridiron paradise: TIGER BAIT!! TIGER BAIT!!
 The size of the stadium keeps the number of voices below 67,511 and, yet, to the caged victims an estimate of one million would seem conservative.
 A&M sports season began in this Baton Rouge setting with the Aggies going down to a (13-12) defeat. An unprecedented number of injuries soon reduced the Aggies' title expectations to a 3-7 football season.

The first of the year's two Southwest Conference championships won by the Aggies came in basketball. Led by seniors Billy Bob Barnett, Sonny Benefield and Ronnie Peret, Coach Shelby Metcalf's crew sacked up the crown with a 79-66 victory over Arkansas.

In baseball, A&M began with a nine game winning streak but a team-wide batting slump soon overtook the team. Coach Tom Chandler's squad ended the year with a 16-10 record.
 Youth was the watchword for Coach Charlie Thomas' track team in a very successful season. Champions of the giant Border Olympics, the Aggies took third place in the Southwest Conference meet held in Waco.

Almost as a matter of habit, the Aggies captured the SWC golf championship. Coach Henry Ransom's team consisted of Reggie Majors, Bill Wade, Duke Butler and Richard Ellis among others.
 Good seasons were also enjoyed by Coach Omar Smith's tennis team and Coach Art Adamson's swimmers.

Because of limited space, many of these sports, as well as intramurals, did not receive the notice they deserved. This is regrettable but could not be helped.
 Overall, it was one of the most enjoyable years I have ever experienced. Most of the thanks for this goes to what has to be the greatest athletic department ever assembled.

At the very top of the list is Coach Gene Stallings. In just five years Stallings has done more for A&M than any other man in the school's history. He is an inspiration to all who know him.

Each of the other members of the staff are also "the greatest." The friendliness and cooperative attitudes of such men as Spec Gammon (Sports Information Director, Marvin Tate (Assistant Athletic Director), Wally Groff (Business Manager) and Billy Pickard (Athletic Trainer) make a sportswriter's job easy.

Assistant Sports Editor Richard Campbell (who will occupy this desk next fall) deserves special thanks as well as condolences. Those members of the Batt staff who both contributed stories to the Sports Department and said they were going to contribute (several times, in fact) also helped make the year pass quickly.

Special praise should also be extended to Battalion secretaries Mrs. Charlotte McCarroll and Mrs. Wanda Allison as well as Mrs. Cecilia Prihoda and Mrs. Polly Patranella.

What other way would a sportswriter close out his final column than with a prediction? Judging from the recent Maroon-White game, I predict that 67,000 LSU partisans will have little to yell about on the night of September 20.

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Coach Frank Broyles of the University of Arkansas signed quarterback Joe Ferguson, the most sought after prep footballer in Louisiana, and three teammates from Woodlawn High School to national letters of intent Wednesday.

Others signing with Arkansas were ends Mark Hollingsworth and Jim Hodge and fullback Acie Griffin.

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Namath of the New York Jets will receive the first George Halas Award as pro football's most courageous player of 1968 at the New York Pro Football Writers dinner June 3.

Namath, who never has missed a regular season game despite his ailing legs, was voted the award by the Pro Football Writers Association of America.
