A&M SCHOLARSHIPS

$400 Scholarships Won

Scholarships totaling $1,200 have been awarded by Texas A&M University to three high school seniors participating in a National Science Foundation engineering science program here. Winners of the four-year awards are John A. Boerner of San Antonio, Philip L. Dreike of Sunnyvale, Calif., and Elmo L. Kirkindoll of Buna, near Beaumont. Announcement of the scholarships was made Friday by Dr. A. D. Suttle Jr., Texas A&M vice president for research, at ceremonies concluding the eight-week program. A Texas A&M faculty committee selected the trio from a group of 30 high ability students attending the program. The 30 participants, in turn, were selected from more than 500 students who took the nation-wide entrance examination, noted Coleman Loyd, NSF programs coordinator at Texas A&M. Boerner, a student at Douglas MacArthur High School in San Antonio, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Boerner. Dreike attends Homestead High School in Sunnyvale. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Dreike. The third scholarship recipient is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Kirkindoll. He attends Buna High School. NSF and Texas A&M jointly sponsored the summer program. The course was directed by Dr. J. George H. Thompson, mechanical engineering professor.
