

Concrete Foundation Laid For Dorm Service Complex

The foundation and a portion of the concrete work for the $1 million 12-dormitory services building have been completed. Located adjacent to Duncan Dining Hall, the building will house the Aggie Band's practice and office facilities, Corps uniform storage-distribution facilities and cold-dry storage lockers for the Food Service Department. The structure is scheduled for completion next spring.

Aggieland, School Directory Available at Services Building

The 1969 Aggieland and the 1969-70 university directory are now available at the Student Publications Office in the Information Services Building. In addition to campus telephone numbers, the directory includes classifications, majors and hometowns of students and titles and home addresses and telephone numbers for faculty-staff. Besides the Student Publications Office, the directory is on sale at the Exchange Store, the Memorial Student Center gift shop, Shaffers University Book Store and local banks. The 528-page Aggieland is available to students who were enrolled full time at A&M last spring and present their university identification cards. Other persons may purchase the yearbook for $7.50 per copy.

Planned as a one story building with a partial basement, the facility will contain approximately 36,000 square feet. It will have a combination masonry and concrete exterior. Loading docks for laundry, uniforms and food storage will face Lewis Street, across from the drill field where the Thanksgiving bonfire is constructed.

Construction Manager Harold Carter said the basement will take up about two-thirds of the area under the structure, but the additional space has been excavated for possible expansion. Food storage freezers will be located in the basement. The band complex will include a large practice room of about 8,400 square feet, 12 private practice rooms, two ensemble practice rooms, a control room and sound and recording, library and instrument repair areas, receptionist-secretary office and the director's office.

Fall Semester to End Earlier In 1970-71 Academic Calendar

The university's 1970-71 academic calendar will have a number of changes, most notable of which will be completion of the fall semester before the Christmas holidays. To accomplish this and avoid the two-week class break immediately before semester final exams, classes will begin earlier and conclude for the spring semester during mid-May, 1971.

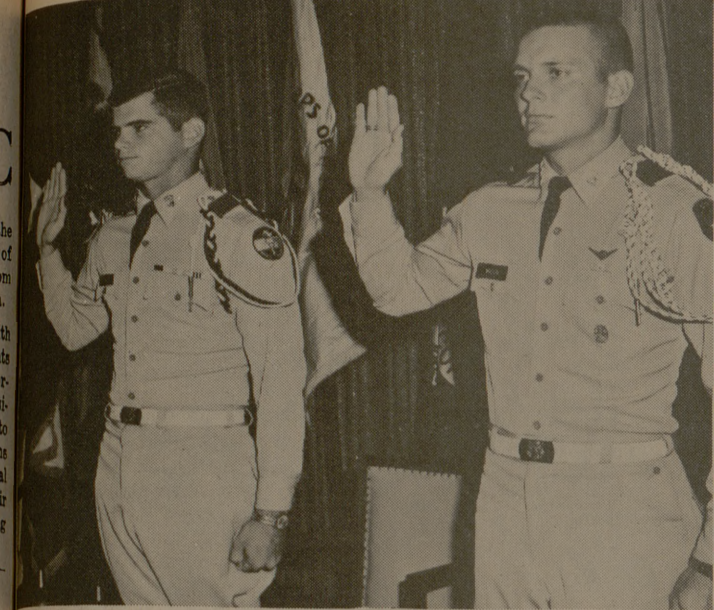

Class dates for the fall, 1970, semester will be from August 31 to December 11. Fall commencement will be on December 12 and finals will be written December 16-22. In line with the adjusted dates, delayed registration, adds and drops will be completed August 24-28, 1970, and new students will be able to file application for admittance up to August 15.

The spring semester, 1971, will run from January 11 to May 15, registration, commencement and finals inclusive. Commencement and final review will be moved up almost a month to May 8 and spring finals will be May 10-15.

The change will not affect the 1969-70 school year. Semester of the the upcoming term will run from September 8 to January 24 and January 26, 1970 to May 30, respectively.

Alpha Zeta Selling Desk Calendars

Calendar notebooks for the 1969-70 school year are now being sold on campus by Alpha Zeta, national agricultural honor fraternity, to finance service projects and scholarships awarded by the group. The maroon, plastic-bound desk calendars contain pictures of the students and campus of Texas A&M and sell for $1.50.

Ag Players Offer Satires, Comedies

Satire, comedy and Erskine Caldwell are 1969-70 entertainment offerings by the Aggie Players.

Director C. K. Esten announced the thespian group's major productions this year are "Denny and the Witches," "Tobacco Road," "Under the Sycamore Tree" and "Barefoot in the Park."

The Aggie Players also will present the annual Christmas show, "The Curate's Play," and a children's theater show.

Casting tryouts for "Denny and the Witches," William Gibson's satire concerning man in the atomic age, will be conducted Monday and Tuesday, according to Bob Wenck. The director said the first production will be presented Oct. 14-16 and 23-25.

Jack Kirkland's adaptation of the Erskine Caldwell-authored book, "Tobacco Road," will be staged Dec. 9-13. The play ran eight years on Broadway, a record until "My Fair Lady" came along. "Under the Sycamore Tree," March 11-13 and 19-21, is Samuel Spewack's treatment of man and his aspirations from the viewpoint of the lowly ant. "Barefoot in the Park," April 30-May 2 and May 7-9, is about a new lawyer and his young bride. It is written by Neil Simon.

The Aggie Players consist of from 30 to 60 students interested in theater arts.

"They are primarily students in our theater arts courses," Wenck said, "but we welcome all students and never have enough. Any A&M

Neutrons Aid Cancer Study At Cyclotron

The highest-energy neutrons ever employed in a biological experiment will be used in a cancer research project this week at A&M's giant cyclotron.

The tests will be conducted by Dr. James T. Brennan, the University of Pennsylvania's professor of research radiology.

Dr. Brennan, who has utilized the nuclear installation on several other occasions, will be joined this week by Dr. Roger J. Berry, professor of radiobiology at Oxford University's Churchill Hospital.

Dr. J. A. McIntyre, associate director of the Cyclotron Institute, said specific purpose of the current series of tests is to investigate use of high-energy neutrons for treatment of cancer.

He noted the neutron beam from the cyclotron will be used to bombard mice, as well as tumor cells taken from the mice.

"The irradiated cells will then be used to inoculate normal mice with varying number of the cells to determine the effectiveness of the cyclotron neutrons for destroying the cancer cells," McIntyre explained.

Dr. Brennan was the first off-campus user of the multi-million-dollar A&M cyclotron, or "atom smasher" as it is often called. A cyclotron is a device used to accelerate charged particles to high energies for bombardment of various types of targets in order to study the nuclear properties of the material.
