

Ags Invade Corn Fields For Huskers

By Richard Campbell
Battalion Sports Editor

The youthful Texas Aggies, fresh from a painful lesson taught last Saturday night by the LSU Tigers, will fly to the corn fields of Nebraska Saturday for a regionally televised 1:50 p.m. game with the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Coach Gene Stallings will go a predominantly sophomore line-up again with 11 tabbed at starting slots for the Cadets. In two previous meetings, each team owns a win. In 1930, Nebraska prevailed 13-0 and in 1955, the Aggies won 27-0.
Husker Coach Bob Devaney is currently the winningest coach in the country and is pointing toward his eighth straight winning season at the helm of the Big-8 power.

Defensively, the Huskers look solid with ten returning starters and a host of veterans. The top hands include All-America candidates Dana Stephenson, a halfback and All-Big-8 in 1968, and Ken Geddes, the All-Big-8 line-backer who moved to middle guard in the spring. If there is one ingredient which the defense will have, it would have to be size. Reading across the defensive front five they are 228, 260, 224, 226, and 215.

The only spot where the Cornhuskers may encounter some problems is at quarterback where sophomores Jerry Tagge and Van Brownson played in the opening 31-21 loss to Southern Cal. Joining him on the offense are only four returning starters but they held up well in their 10-point loss to the powerful Trojans.

The Aggies came out of the clash with the Bayou Bengals with few injuries and should have everyone except tailback Larry Stegent ready for action. Stegent has still not worked out in any contact drills and Stallings has said that he will not play until he has some contact in practice.

"Our defense gave up a lot of points last week," Stallings said, "but I think that they will be all right." Hopefully, the LSU game gave many of the sophomores a chance to grow up and that they will settle down a little more against Nebraska.

The Aggie offense will again be led by junior quarterback Jimmy Sheffield, who completed 10 of 21 passes for 52 yards against the Tigers. Tabbed to start in the backfield are soph tailback Steve Burks and soph fullback Marc Black, who led the Aggie rushers with 30 yards on 7 carries. Senior wingback Barney Harris rounds out the backfield.

FROM THE PRESSBOX

by Richard Campbell

Funny how things can change in one short year. Who would have thought that cellar-dweller Rice would score eight touchdowns in their first game? Even if it was VMI they beat. Coach Stallings was asked what he thought about Rice scoring all those points and what he knew about them.

"I'll know more about them after this weekend," he said, "and if they score 55 against LSU then I'll start to worry."

QB Jimmy Sheffield did an admirable job punting for the Aggies against the LSU Tigers since he was pressed into the position last week when regular punter Mitch Robertson burst a blood vessel in his leg. Sheffield punted 13 times for a 37.2 average and got away a beautiful kick from his own end zone when a bad snap forced him to hurry it.

The Aggies generally were in agreement that LSU played tough but clean and as one said, "... They didn't do any loud-mouth popping off on the field."

Stallings has said, "I don't say that playing at home is an advantage but I do say that playing away is a disadvantage."

I hope that he will take this into consideration when making out some of the future Aggie schedules. The 1969 schedule, with tough teams like LSU, Nebraska, and Army, is made additionally tougher by seven on the road and the first five in a row away. The Aggies have six games on the road next year and play Ohio State and Michigan along with perennially tough LSU, all away games. The first open dates to schedule games don't come until 1973. Future opponents for the Aggies feature Cincinnati, Washington, Kansas, Kansas State, and Illinois.

Just walking around near the freshman football practice field has got to make us Aggies feel a little better. There are some real monsters out there warming up to defend their 1968 predecessors' undefeated record. Size is not the only consideration Coach Stallings made when he recruited these standouts because most of them even know how to play football. How does this size get you? Buster Callaway (6-4, 235), Bruce Best (6-3, 240), Boise Best (6-1, 230), Thomas Burk (6-6, 215), Mike Faulkner (6-3, 220), Robert Gerasimowicz (6-2, 225), Butch Kamps (6-3, 245), Steve Kirk (6-5, 230), Mike Marshall (6-1, 230), Gary Martin (6-1, 225), Herman Mauch (6-3, 220), Jimmy McFarland (6-4, 215), and finally, Ralph Sacra (6-5, 225). Just to have someone the size of these guys taking the field in maroon and white makes you just want to watch them demolish their foes. Their first opportunity comes Oct. 2 in Kyle Field at 7:30 p.m. when they host the TCU Wogs.

Portrait of a MIXED BLESSING

Here is the River — to some an avenue on their trek westward — to others an obstacle to be crossed.

Today it brings shiploads of needed supplies to the towns along its banks, carries their products to warehouse and factory.

Tomorrow it can escape those banks, leaving death and destruction in its wake. For the River must be ruled by man!

Yesterday it brought pure water from mountain streams to thirsty lips. Then somebody made it his gutter.

Like all our mixed blessings the River can help or hurt. It is just one of those gifts of God whose value will always depend on our good sense and initiative, our respect for God's intent and our concern for the needs of others.

Call it a by-product if you please — but one of the results of faithful religious worship and service is that so many mixed blessings become real blessings!

BILLY JOE POLASEK

STEVE LUEBBEHUSEN

Billy Joe Polasek, a 5-10, 170-pound split end, and Steve Luebbehusen, a 6-0, 195-pound rover, will be two of the 11 sophomores scheduled to start for A&M against the Nebraska Cornhuskers Saturday afternoon.

Dallas Tackle Injures Knee

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas could be without its starting offensive left tackle Sunday when it meets New Orleans in a National Football League game.

Tony Liscio injured his right knee in practice Thursday and it was not immediately determined whether he will be available.

Rayfield Wright will step in for Liscio if the injury fails to heal by Sunday.

Penn State's basketball team will have senior Phil Nichols at center next season. He is 6-feet-9. Bob Fittin, a sophomore from Elmhurst, Ill., adds height to the team. He is 6-8.
