

C-1 Nails Down One Title, Sets Sights On Another

Company C-1 nailed down one intramural championship and began staking a convincing claim toward another in action on campus courts early this week. Saber C emerged as the Class A handball champion by defeating Squadron 1 in a best-two-of-three series. The champs' three doubles teams consist of Paul Ihrke and Russell Hawkins, Jim Culbert and Jerry Wheaton and Milton Huebner and John Ferguson.

C-1, commanded by Terry Jungman of Rio Medina, also sent its promising looking cage crew to a second straight win, 51-14, over Squadron 9. Miles Wells had 14 points, Jack Baldwin and Jim Hooten 12 each. E-2 looks to be a top contender in the same league. Randy Clark led the mascot unit to its second win in two outings by taking Squadron 13, 43-28. In Class C, Baptist Students downed LSA, 33-11; AYI defeated Davis-Gary, 36-12, and Joe Bierman led Hughes Hall in a 30-24 edging of Crocker Hall. Three one-TD shutout victories marked Class B football results. B-2 downed A-1, A-2 scotched D-1 and F-1 blanked Squadron 10. A-2 gained the playoffs with a perfect record. Two games wound up with goose eggs on both sides, C-1 and C-2 taking wins on penetrations over B-1 and Squadron 3, respectively.

Lamonica Named AFL's MVP

By Dick Couch
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Dapper Daryle Lamonica, whose bomb-throwing philosophy has propelled the Oakland Raiders to the brink of another division championship, was named the American Football League's Most Valuable Player Wednesday for the second time in three seasons.

A panel of 30 sports writers and sportscasters — three from each AFL city — gave the 27-year-old quarterback a whopping margin over his premier receiver, Fred Biletnikoff, and New York Jets' ace Joe Namath, who won the award a year ago, in The Associated Press' annual poll. Lamonica, who has fired 33 touchdown passes — 15 more than his closest AFL rival and just three less than the all-time pro record—in leading the Raiders to an 11-1-1 record, received 18 votes, to three each for runner-up Biletnikoff and Namath. The sturdy, 215-pound veteran of seven AFL seasons, who directs Oakland's aerial-charged attack against Kansas City Saturday in a Western Division title showdown, captured MVP honors in the Raiders' 1967 Super Bowl season.

He guided them to the Western championship against last season, throwing 25 touchdown passes, but fell four points short in the league title game at New York. Seemingly aloof to mounting criticism of his long-bomb penchant, Lamonica came out throwing this year — and never "When I'm out there, I'm in a world all my own and the only thing I think about is winning," he said. "A few more years and I'll have a chance to go seven some other time." He didn't throw seven touchdowns, or six, in subsequent games, but his payoff total continued to mount — with Biletnikoff and Fred Warren Wells usually on the receiving end — the season progressed. If he throws four against the Chiefs Saturday he'll surpass the single season mark of 36 shared by Oakland teammate George Blanda and ex-National Football League star Y. A. Tittle.

Students at the University of Texas at Arlington who favor continuing with their Rebel school theme have set a little wood-frame shack in which they distribute information about the present school theme. A sign over the door claims that the building is "Rebel Headquarters" and the various flags used by the Confederates fly above.
