To Promote Summer Travel Experimenters in MSC

Information for students interested in spending next summer overseas through the Experiment in International Living will be available Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at a Memorial Student Center booth. MSC Travel Committee chairman Paul Scopel of Seguin said the post office area booth also will show slides made by A&M Experimenters.

The booth manned by travel committee members will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., daily.

Scopel noted A&M led the nation last summer with 19 Experimenters living with families in Australia, Austria, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Holland, Poland, Sweden, Switzerland and the USSR. The committee has set a 40-participant goal for 1970.

Application for Kenya, India, Israel, Austria, Ireland, Czechoslovakia, Soviet Russia, Germany and Switzerland have been made so far, the committee chairman indicated. EIL can arrange family membership in 40 countries.

The Experiment enables students to obtain culturally broadening experience in a foreign country. The program is designed to promote international good will on the premise that a person best learns to understand another people and their culture by living among them.

After living with a family several weeks, the Experimenter and a "brother" or "sister" travel with other EIL participants to major interest centers in the country.

Scopel said information about an overseas loan program also will be available.

FORMER STUDENTS' GIFT—James L. Sewell of Dallas, right, president of the Association of Former Students at Texas A&M University, presents A&M Academic Vice President Horace R. Byers with a check and written authorization for $38,534.81 at the annual Winter Council Meeting Sunday. Sewell noted the gift brought total association contributions to the university during 1969 to $494,499.21.

Five Finalists Announced For A&M Band Sweetheart

Five finalists for Texas Aggie Band Sweetheart have been announced by Edwin Lamm III, band commander of San Antonio.

The 1969-70 band sweetheart will be selected by ballot of bandsmen and their dates at the Feb. 21 band dance in the Memorial Student Center ballroom.

Band sweetheart finalists are Linda Davis, Odessa High senior; Gayle LaNier, Baylor freshman from Waxahachie; Karen Litzmann, Columbus High sophomore; Patricia Ann Lucey, A&M freshman from Bryan, and Laura Swinbank of Houston, a sophomore at S. F. Austin College.

They were selected by an 11-cadet committee chaired by John F. Small, band operations officer of Bandera.

Theme of the annual Aggie Band social will be the Old South. Maynard Gimble's Orchestra will provide music. Lamm said about 300 guests, band members and their dates are expected.

Escorts of the sweetheart nominees are juniors Jim Connally of Houston and Gregg Weaver of Midland, sophomores Joe Anderson of Houston and Steve Sullivan of Waxahachie and freshman Russell Braden of Columbus.

A nationally-known professional photographer will present an exhibit and lecture tonight in the Architecture Auditorium.

H. F. Eilers of the sponsoring Journalism Department said Mike Tatem, award winning photo-journalist and national technical representative for Honeywell Photographic Products Inc., will speak at 8. A large exhibit of Tatem's work will be on display all day today in the Architecture foyer, Eilers added.

He noted that the lecture is open to the public.

Tatem was a guest instructor at Ohio University, the University of Illinois, the Layton School of Art, and the Winona School of Professional Photography.

He has lectured to numerous professional photographic organizations. As vice president and manager of technical services for Ethol Photo Chemical Corp., he has done much research on films and developers.

Tatem was scheduled to speak on "The European Approach to Photojournalism" at 11 a.m. to students in Eilers' photography class.

'Sycamore Trees' Rehearsal Begun

Under a sycamore tree is the location of the ant colony that first discovers human emotion, and later figures out the answers to human problems.

"Under the Sycamore Tree" is the name of Samuel Spewack's hilarious satire on humans from the point of view of an ant.

"Under the Sycamore Tree" is the Aggie Players' next production, scheduled for March 11-13 and 19-21.

Rehearsal has begun and crews, now chosen, have begun work on the technical aspects of the play.

Stage Manager for the production, directed by Robert Wenck, is James Dennis. Wenck's assistant director is Travis Miller.

Costumes will be done by Karen Buckland and Wally Bergquist. What costumes are needed to portray an ant? Tights, and coat hangers with ping pong balls attached for antennae.

James Dennis will be in charge of the set crew, consisting of Paul Peterson, Robert Anderson and Scott Wilson. Already, the huge, revolving ant hill is beginning to take shape. A rotating platform has been set up, and wood, chicken wire and paper mache will complete the hill.

Irene Fazzino (crew head), and Jean Linger will be obtaining the various props needed for the show.

Lights will be handled by Lucy Gravett (crew head) and Bob Robinson. Sound will be done by Melanie Haldas.

House and publicity is headed by Kathy Maxwell. Helping her are Glen Thompson, Kay Slowey, Mary Hanna and Cecelia Loff.

Voices of human beings who will never be seen, but will nevertheless have a definite impact on life in the ant colony are the Federal Communications Commission Monitor, James Dennis; the Ham Radio Operator, Paul Peterson; Sgt. Robinson, Bob Robinson and Capt. Roland, Robert Anderson. Barbara Beals will be the announcer in the colony.

The Aggie Players' director is C. K. Esten and the production is sponsored by the Theater Arts Section of the Department of English.
