

Easter Seal Campaign For 1970 Underway

The 1970 Easter Seal campaign is underway with a few new twists.

The campaign this year includes a benefit dance, airplane rides, a cattle auction and a teenage day, in addition to the traditional Easter Seal mail appeal, announced Jim Wright, Brazos County Easter Seal chairman.

A door to door campaign won't be conducted this year, I urge citizens to provide faith, hope and therapy by answering their Easter Seal letters," Wright said.

"Since a door to door campaign won't be conducted this year, I urge citizens to provide faith, hope and therapy by answering their Easter Seal letters," Wright said.

Funds from the appeal will finance treatment and rehabilitation of crippled children and adults in Brazos County.

More than 822 handicapped persons received help last year from the Brazos Valley Rehabilitation Center, the local Easter Seal treatment center, Wright explained.

However, the handicapped's needs and cost of providing expert professional care are rising, and more money than ever will be needed, he added.

"Since a door to door campaign won't be conducted this year, I urge citizens to provide faith, hope and therapy by answering their Easter Seal letters," Wright said.

Funds from the appeal will finance treatment and rehabilitation of crippled children and adults in Brazos County.

A&M Consolidated High School on March 7.

Four Texas A&M professors, Dean John Prescott of the College of Science; Dr. Arthur Roach, head of the Department of Educational Psychology; sociology professor Bardin Nelson, and Dr. Walter Varvel, professor of psychology, will be discussion leaders of the afternoon session of the conference.

Registration fee of $3 which includes a catered luncheon, may be mailed to the Brazos County Counseling Service, 412 Varisco Building, Bryan.

Dr. Bloodworth Named To Seed Board

Gov. Preston Smith has re-appointed Dr. Morris E. Bloodworth of Texas A&M to a two-year term on the State Seed and Plant Board.

Bloodworth is an agronomy professor and head of the Soil and Crop Sciences Department.

The scientist also is a member of the American Society of Agronomy, Soil Science Society of America, Texas Agricultural Workers, American Society for Horticultural Sciences, and the Western Soil Science Society.

Students From A&M and Texas Woman's University Will Swap Ideas On "Dating and Mating"

Students from A&M and Texas Woman's University will swap ideas on "Dating and Mating" during six YMCA panel discussions in March and April.

YMCA Special Programs chairman Ronald E. Owens announced the first series—"Man Your Manners"—will start March 4, with a panel of four TWU students visiting A&M.

The coeds will make their presentations at 7:30 p.m. in Room 113, Biological Sciences Building. Other programs are scheduled March 11 and 18.

"This year the panel of Tesses will deal with communication in dating, Aggie weekends and romance to marriage," Owens pointed out.

Following the TWU presentations at A&M, three Aggies will visit TWU for programs April 7, 14 and 21.

Beta Sigma Phi Sponsoring Bake Sale

Alpha Alpha Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will have a Bake Sale from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at Orr's in Ridgeland.

Items to be sold will be cakes, pies, breads, cookies, and cupcakes, with the chapter also taking special orders for special pastries. To place an order call Mrs. Buddy Winn (846-3507) or Mrs. Ed Martinez (846-8976) or Mrs. Tommy Smith (823-4190).

Proceeds will go to the chapter's service projects, one the support of an 11-year-old boy in an Austin orphanage.

State Agency Cooperation Needed in Conservation

By Tony Huddleston
Battalion Staff Writer

Greater co-operation between state agencies is needed if the wildlife and recreation areas of Texas are to be conserved, State Rep. Bob Armstrong told A&M's Young Democrats Monday night in the UCCF building.

Armstrong, a candidate for General Land Commissioner, cited the rivalry between the Land Office and the State Parks and Wildlife Commission as an example, and noted that was the reason he was a candidate for the office.

Armstrong is opposing incumbent Jerry Sadler of Palestine, and Fred Williams of Houston for the Democratic nomination in the May primary.

"Both agencies have got to work together to provide new recreation and wildlife areas for the growing generations of the future," Armstrong said. He added that he thought it would be a disgrace to Texas, if future generations were not allowed to enjoy the same outdoor privileges that people enjoy today.

Armstrong said that cooperation was also needed between the two agencies in preventing pollution of Texas beaches. He added that six pollution bills had been passed by the last two sessions of the legislature, but for them to be effective, the agencies would have to work together.

"The Land Office and the Parks and Wildlife Commission must unite to keep Texas beaches from being polluted as those in California, Armstrong said. "To accomplish this we must put strict regulations on their uses, because the area not only produces over 60 per cent of the fish in Texas, but also provides recreation areas for coastal residents.

He added that at the present time, most of the beaches were owned by private individuals, but that regulations were needed to protect these beaches from possible sale in the future to corporations that would pollute.

Armstrong added that the recent creation by the legislature of the conservation foundation, which will provide state land under an agency other than the Land Office or the Parks and Wildlife Commission, as another step towards obtaining new facilities.

"The Whitney Ranch near Johnson City, which was converted into the Lyndon Baines Johnson State Park, is costing over $1 million to construct instead of $200,000 because of the non-existence of a foundation to execute the stipulations of the Whitney will," Armstrong pointed out as an example of the powers of the new foundation.

The new antiquity code will help solve some of the problems facing Texas concerning ownership of treasures, Armstrong said. The code provides for state ownership of all treasures determined by a state appointed committee to be of scientific or historical value to the people of Texas.

"I supported the bill in the House because these treasures will have scientific as well as monetary values for Texans by their preservation in Texas museums instead of ownership by private individuals," Armstrong said.

Armstrong praised the Texas Legislature for passing tax bills during the last session that were based on the opinions of the voters. He cited as an example the debate over the sales tax on beer and other alcoholic beverages which was finally decided by letters from voters to their representatives.

Armstrong pointed out that to achieve this voter response that he and several other representatives went on television and appealed for public opinion.

"Over 250 letters were received by my office daily, and I think most of the other representatives received the same number or more of these letters, which was probably the reason they voted the way they did," Armstrong added.

Hunger Happening Scheduled At SFA High School

Filet mignon, a baked potato with two spoonfuls of sour cream, tossed salad and frosted chocolate cake.

If you've ever decoured a meal like this, you are part of a minority group, those in the world who don't face hunger daily.

Hunger a world problem, happens Saturday night at the Stephen F. Austin High School Cafeteria in Bryan. A "Hunger Happening," sponsored by the Luther League of Our Savior's Lutheran Church, will be staged from 6 to 8 p.m.

Tickets cost $1.25 and can be purchased by calling 846-5298. Wednesday is the last day for purchase.

"One-third of those attending will be served barbeque chicken, potato salad, beans, bread and cake," Kyle Kirk, Luther League member said, "the other two-thirds will eat rice. No one will know when he buys his ticket whether he will dine with the rich or eat with the poor."

The event is part of a national Luther League program to promote awareness of the world's hunger problem, Kirk explained. Proceeds from the "Hunger Happening" will go to further this awareness.
