

EARL RUDDER 1910 1970

He became the 14th A&M president in 1960.

He got down to work, often in his shirtsleeves.

His goal: Academic Excellence.

He worked well with students.

He attended their gripe sessions.

He met them in his office, where they came through his "open door."

