Editor:
If what Misters Jones, Abel, Curtis, and Barber stated in their letter of April 8 is correct, then we feel that many Texans are unfortunately set in their ways. 'Yankee' Aggies are not Texas taxpayers but, we are sure there are many Texans in 'Yankee' state schools who get a good education at the expense of 'Yankee' taxpayers.
Their statement about fewer 'Yankees' and more Texans has, we feel, as much intellectual logic as the infamous "Highway 6 runs both ways."
We believe that a student's race, creed, or resident status has no bearing upon whether he (or she) should or should not be permitted to express his opinions at this university. If these were the deciding factors as to his rights, then A&M would be losing some great talent and violating the First Amendment of the Constitution. Last time we heard, Texas was still a part of the United States.

presently serving the council as chairman of the activities committee.
Since the main responsibility of the social secretary is planning the Sophomore Ball I will do my best, if elected, to make our ball the greatest A&M has ever seen. I cannot promise you Credece Clearwater, but I can promise that we will attempt to provide someone of comparable quality. We deserve a much better than the one we had this year, and I will see that we have one.
My most important qualification is that I have the desire to serve you. I believe that I am capable of representing all of our class equally: civilians, corps members and coeds.
On April 23 I would appreciate your support and vote.

get the board to review the case if the AAUP would take A&M off the censured list. President Rudder was also opposed to paying some $7,000 or $8,000 that Gibbs said the university owed him in salary, Davenport added.
Davenport said he replied that the AAUP probably would not consider the Gibbs case any further until the university's governing board had reviewed the case and settled with Gibbs' money claims.
Dr. Richard Ballinger, English professor, urged the chapter recommend to acting President A. R. Luedcke that he ask the board of directors to review the case.
Hopkins said he planned to talk to General Luedcke concerning the matter.
Professor William Saitta of Business Analysis reported that his Committee S on students plans to arrange a meeting with student leaders to discuss student problems.
Dr. Krise, chairman of Committee A on academic freedom and tenure, said that his panel was investigating possible "discretionary" action the university may have taken against AAUP members. He said that he would be examining salary and budget records from the last five years to determine if such a practice exists.
The A&M AAUP chapter has 177 active members, the largest it has ever been, according to membership chairman Bruno J. Zwolinski, a research director in the Chemistry Department.

Veterans Receive More GI Benefits

More than 777,000 veterans, servicemen, wives, widows and children will receive increased educational allowances under a bill signed recently by the President.
All trainees under the G.I. Bill and other VA educational programs were assured by Donald E. Johnson, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, that they will receive the increases automatically and retroactive to Feb. 1. He stressed that it is not necessary to contact the VA to receive them.
Johnson said most of those studying under the G.I. Bill in institutions of higher learning will receive one check about May 10, which will reflect the new regular monthly rate, and include retroactive increases from February through April.
The bill increases from $130 to $175 a month the rate for single G.I. Bill veterans studying in an institutional full-time program.
A veteran with one dependent will receive $205 a month, two dependents $230, and $13 for each additional dependent. Rates are scaled downward for less than full-time students.
Single G.I. Bill students going three-quarter time will receive $128 a month, $152 with one dependent, $177 with two dependents, and $10 a month for each additional dependent.

Half-time G.I. students will receive $81 if they have no dependents, $100 with one dependent, $114 with two dependents and $7 for each additional dependent.

lems, he advised engaged couples to see a marriage counselor. It will greatly lessen the chances of unconquerable differences arising in the marriage, he said.
"Divorce is not wrong," Hamilton said, "especially when it is needed. But a little help before marriage will greatly lessen the chances of it ever happening."
"One of the best things you can do before marriage," he said, "is take a good long second look. You might be surprised at what you see."

NSF Awards Grant For Study of Gases

Dr. Marvin W. Rowe of the Chemistry Department has received a $37,800 National Science Foundation grant for research entitled "Isotopic Composition and Abundances of Noble Gases."
The research will attempt to date the age of noble gases, iodine and uranium through nuclear chemistry, analytical chemistry and mass spectroscopy, Dr. Rowe said.
Two doctoral students, Dennis Whitney and Jack Riley, will work with Dr. Rowe on the research. The nuclear reactor and cyclotron on the A&M campus will be used in the project.
