Saddle and Sirloin gives 22 awards at annual banquet

Billy Frank Craddock of Medina received six awards during the annual Saddle and Sirloin Club Awards Banquet.

The student was presented the Suppliers Association of the Texas and Southwestern Meat Packers Association Award of $250, the spring judging contest award with first place in the senior division, the Ronnie Patterson Award in beef cattle judging, the Obert Sagebiel Award in sheep judging, the J. W. Bassett Award in wool judging, and L. D. Wythe Award as the high point individual in the senior division. Craddock is vice president-elect of the Saddle and Sirloin Club.

Another Suppliers Association of the Texas and Southwestern Meat Packers Association Scholarship of $250 went to Thomas E. Eckert of Mason.

Ira F. Lee of Willow City won the $500 Texas and Southwestern Meat Packers Association Scholarship. The $500 Houston Meat

Industries Association Scholarship was presented to Ronald E. Allen of Abilene.

Another Abilene Aggie, Danny Mack Brown, received the Diezi-Hubbell-White Special Scholarship of $500.

Jim McManigal of Happy, now a Texas Tech University staff member, won two honors—the Brewer Award and the Merit Trophy Award. The Aggie-Ex was Saddle and Sirloin president last year.

Collier Royce Watson of Coleman, dairy manufacturing major, received the Brewer Award as the outstanding senior in the Animal Science Department.

Club members installed two honorary members: Marion Flynt of Midland, rancher and Quarter Horse breeder, and Clem Boettcher of East Bernard, horseman, banker and businessman.

Larry Beerwinkle of Temple was named the outstanding senior in the Saddle and Sirloin Club, Norman Kohls of Boerne the outstanding sophomore, and H. L. Stiles of Cuero the top freshman. James M. Davis of Brownwood, current club president, won the Ammie E. Wilson Award as the club's outstanding senior.

The champion ham salesman, Lee McMillan of Mason, received the Jack Estes, Jr., Meat Laboratory Award, and the Franke-King Award went to Mike McCravey of Eldorado as reserve champion salesman. Jerry Richards of Fairfield was named the club's "hardest worker."

Kenneth Poenisch of Taft was presented the W. W. Reed Award as the high point individual of the junior division in the spring judging contest. Glenn Sparger of Grapevine received the T. D. Tanksley Award as the top swine and pork judge.

Brazos A&M Club to hear football ref

G. Cliff (Frenchy) Domingue, veteran Southwest Conference football official will speak here Wednesday at a sponsored meeting of the Brazos County A&M Club.

Club President John Vittrup said the 7:30 p.m. meeting will be at Wyatt's Cafeteria and open to paid-up members only. Gifford Hill and Co. is sponsoring the last 1969-70 meeting for members and their wives.

Special guests for the Former Presidents' Night meeting will be Brazos A&M scholarship students, 1970 Cotton Ball Duchess Debbie Wolters and her escort and past presidents.

Domingue quarterbacked Texas A&M football, earned three varsity letters and All-SWC honors with two others on Coach Matty Bell's 1931 team. A lettering teammate was the late A&M President Earl Rudder.

Domingue, 57, officiated football more than 30 years and retired following last season as the senior SWC football referee. The 1934 graduate resides in Port Arthur and works for Texaco.

2 courses to offer standard English

A special summer program in the teaching of standard English to speakers of non-standard Negro English will be offered during the first summer session by the English Department.

The program will unify two three-hour English courses for the six-week summer period beginning June 1, announced Dr. Lee J. Martin, department head.

Instructing the teaching course will be Riley B. Smith, assistant professor of English.

"Because of the special topic nature of the two courses, they will be treated as a unit," explained Smith, noting that interested students should register for both English 466, American English dialects, and English 425, teaching of English as a foreign language.

The courses meet at 8 a.m. and 12 noon for 90 minutes each. Registration for only one of the courses will be discouraged.

Hope named associate dean in Education

Dr. Lannes H. Hope, Athletic Council member and part of the psychology faculty since 1961, has been named associate dean for student programs in the College of Education.

The appointment becomes effective June 1, Dean Frank Hubert announced.

A local church and civic leader, Dr. Hope at present is an associate professor in the Psychology Department and counseling psychologist with the Counseling and Testing Center.

Food engineering seminar Thursday

Dr. Essex E. Finney Jr., research agricultural engineer with the USDA Market Quality Research Division in Beltsville, Md., will give a graduate seminar here Thursday.

His topic, "Quality Measurement in Modern Food Engineering," will be heard at 2 p.m. in Room 208, Agricultural Engineering.

Dr. Robert E. Stewart of the Agricultural Engineering Department, said Finney conducts his work in the USDA's Instrumentation Research Laboratory. His studies involve instrumentation and techniques for gauging quality products.

The engineer's major effort has been in development of sonic vibration methods for testing quality of fruits and vegetables, Stewart added.

Six ag economics, sociology students presented awards

Six students in the Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department have received awards in recognition of academic achievement and activities.

Wayne C. Jordan of Art near Mason won the $400 Bowles Scholarship for the second year in a row.

President of the Agricultural Economics Club, he is a "Distinguished Student" with a grade point ratio of 3.9 on a 4-point system.

Two other Bowles Scholarships in the same amount went to Gary A. Johnel of Canadian and Joe A. Pennington of Raymondville. The students have grade point ratios of 3.18 and 3.22, respectively.

The scholarships were started by the Texas Federation of Cooperatives as a memorial to C. E. Bowles of Lubbock, a leader in the state's cooperative movement for many years.

Dudley Blair of Uvalde received the Wall Street Journal Award, a subscription to the paper and a desk pen set.

The J. Wheeler Barger Award went to Richard Hodge of Pledger. Barger was a long-time professor in the Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department. Hodge's name will be engraved on a large bronze plaque in the department.

Tom Wiley of Denison won the Department Head Award for diligence and steady performance as a student.

are your contact lenses more work than they're worth?

If you're tired of using two or more separate solutions to take care of your contact lenses, we have the solution. It's Lenseine the all-purpose lens solution for complete contact lens care—preparing, cleaning, and soaking. Just a drop or two of Lenseine before you insert your contacts coats and lubricates the lens surface making it smoother and non-irritating. Cleaning your contacts with Lenseine retards the buildup of foreign deposits on the lenses. Lenseine is sterile, self-sanitizing, and antiseptic making it ideal for storage of your lenses between wearing periods. And you get a removable storage case on the bottom of every bottle, a Lenseine exclusive for proper lens hygiene. It has been demonstrated Bacteria cannot grow in Lenseine. Caring for contact lenses can be as convenient as wearing them with Lenseine, from the Murine Company, Inc.

that improper storage between wearings may result in the growth of bacteria on the lenses. This is a sure cause of eye irritation and could seriously endanger vision.
