

Aggie depth nearer that of LSU Tigers

By CLIFFORD BROYLES Battalion Sports Editor

One of the great fortes of the Louisiana State University Tigers' in their football history, which shows 62 winning teams in 77 years is their tremendous depth...

Mike Lord, Aggie linebacker who played his high school football in the home town of the Tigers, Baton Rouge, feels that the current Aggie team has the size and depth to play with the Tigers that previous teams didn't.

"I think we finally have some size and depth to compete with LSU and being able to play more people should keep that humidity from bothering us as much."

Quarterback Lex James, who completed seven of 12 passes for 167 yards and was not intercepted against Wichita State, is anxious to tackle the big three that lies ahead of the Aggies.

"I'm really looking forward to playing LSU, Ohio State and Michigan." "Those are the teams I read about when I was younger, and I always hoped I'd get a chance to play against them. I consider it an honor."

The LSU game will be one of three games the Aggies will play on natural grass this season. The others are Ohio State and Baylor.

Michigan plays on Tartan Turf and SMU, Texas and the Aggies have AstroTurf.

The 41-14 win over Wichita was the first opening game win for A&M since it defeated Maryland 21-13 in 1957. It was the first home opening win since the Ags plastered Villanova 19-0 on Kyle Field in 1956.

The 41 points scored by the Aggies were the most they've scored in a game since they pounded Trinity 55-0 in 1961. It was the highest scoring opener since 1950 when the Aggies trounced Nevada 48-18.

Pat McDermott's five consecutive extra points against Wichita State is one short of the A&M school record of six by Darrow Hooper and John Ballentine.

McDermott also tied the school record for most field goals in a game with his two against the Shockers. He holds the mark with Mike Clarke, who's now kicking for the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

Southwest conference statistics released after games of last week shows the Aggies with only one leader in all the offensive categories. Safety Dave Elmendorf, who ran 34 yards with the first punt returned by the Aggies this season has a 34 yard average for a slight lead over Terry Jackson of Baylor who ran one back for 31 yards.

Other top Aggies in the stats after the first week were rushing yardage, Steve Burks, 96 yards for third; Brad Dusek, 83 yards for fourth. Passing, James fourth and Joe Mac King seventh. Pass receiving, Hugh McElroy, 3-67 yards fourth. Scoring, Pat McDermott 11 points, second. Total offense, James, 166 yards for third and King 67 yards for fifth. Interceptions, Lee Hitt and Mike Bunker, for tie for second. Kickoff returns, Elmendorf, 32.0 yard average for second. Tandem offense, Dusek 105 yards for second and McElroy 92 yards for fourth.

The Aggies tied a world record Saturday night against Wichita State when they attempted the fewest number of punts—0.

Stanford advances to 4th spot

By The Associated Press

Stanford, a 34-28 winner over Arkansas last weekend, and Missouri, a 38-0 victor over Baylor, produced the only major shakeups in the first weekly college football of The Associated Press.

Arkansas' Razorbacks, rated No. 4 in preseason rankings, were bumped to No. 11. Stanford, previously ranked 10th, took over the fourth spot and Missouri moved up one notch to No. 10 in the poll of football writers and broadcasters.

Ohio State, defending national champion Texas, and Southern California remained one-two-three. OSU and Texas were idle last weekend while Southern Cal defeated Alabama 42-21.

Twenty-four of the 40 voters picked Ohio State No. 1, giving the Buckeyes 728 points. Texas had six first-place votes for 657 points while the Trojans accumulated only 644 points, including seven No. 1 votes.

Mississippi, ranked No. 5; Penn State, No. 7 and Michigan, No. 8, each received one first-place vote.

Others in the Top Ten are Notre Dame, No. 6 and Nebraska,

No. 9.

Rounding out the Top 20, in addition to Arkansas, are in order, Louisiana State, Kansas State, Florida, Houston, UCLA, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Georgia and Arizona State.

Alabama, South Carolina, beaten by Georgia Tech 32-30 and idle Auburn fell from the ranks. The only newcomer was Georgia, also idle. There had been a tie for 20th in the preseason poll among Auburn, Oklahoma and West Virginia.

The Top Twenty teams, with first-place votes in parentheses, and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

- 1. Ohio State 24 728
2. Texas 6 657
3. Southern California 7 657
4. Stanford 481
5. Mississippi 1 432
6. Notre Dame 364

- 7. Penn State 1 316
8. Michigan 1 307
9. Nebraska 299
10. Missouri 260
11. Arkansas 148
12. Louisiana State 139
13. Kansas State 134
14. Florida 94
15. Houston 91
16. UCLA 70
17. West Virginia 44
18. Oklahoma 40
19. Georgia 21
20. Arizona State 16
