Michigan edges Ags in win

By CLIFFORD BROYLES
 Battalion Sports Editor

The University of Michigan Wolverines have an outstanding defense. If they didn't, Saturday would have been a long afternoon for the seventh-ranked Wolverines as the Texas Aggies put up a gutsy defensive stand before a crowd of more than 71,000 in Michigan Stadium despite bowing on the scoreboard, 14-10.

The Wolverines climbed from ninth to seventh in the Associated Press poll after the last period rally that dumped the Aggies.

Michigan carried a 17-point favorite's role into the battle in most quarters, and it went as high as three touchdowns in others. But the Aggies, determined to make up for their performance a week earlier against the Ohio State University Buckeyes, stung the Big Ten school from start to finish.

OSU burned the A&M defense for 513 yards last week, and that performance was a direct opposite to the one turned in this week.

For three quarters Michigan recorded only four first downs. Their total yardage was only 211 for the day and they had only 71 to go along with two first downs at the half. One of the downs was by penalty.

The A&M offense became the first of three opponents to solve the Wolverine defense. Although the Michigan defense held late in the contest to preserve its winning margin, A&M put together enough offense to better the combined efforts of Washington and Arizona.

A&M netted 15 first downs, with 10 of those coming by rushing. The totals of the first two Michigan games added together showed only five first downs rushing and 22 total for opponents.

The Aggies rushed for 168 yards, which is nearly 50 per cent more than Washington and Arizona managed together. They had picked up 104 yards on 71 attempts. The Aggies gained their yardage on 53 rushing attempts.

Doug Neill nearly singlehandedly beat the Huskies, and Wildcats' mark when he ran for 99 yards on 17 carries. Neill broke away for a 45-yard run in the second period that set up A&M's field goal, that gave them a 10-0 lead.

Actually the Aggies picked up 218 yards on the ground but the Michigan defense threw quarterback Lex James for losses totaling 46 yards and that is added to rushing yardage.

Michigan on the other hand could manage only 117 yards in the first three periods and their total for the day got a big tonic from reserve running back Fritz Seyferth, who chalked up 12 carries for 50 yards.

Seyferth played only the final quarter but was prominent in Michigan's winning 62-yard drive in the final minutes.

He took care of the first 30 yards on three tries, then ripped off four more on a fourth-down-and-one play at the A&M 27. He also picked up another first down on third-and-two from the 15 when he banged his way to the 12.

Two plays later quarterback Don Moorhead rolled to the left and crossed the goal despite meeting a large host of Aggies just as he got there, to give the Wolverines a 14-10 lead, which they never relinquished.

Aside from Neill's rushing game, Steve Burks ripped off 70 yards on 15 carries and also made a spectacular catch for a 14-yard gain on a pass from A&M quarterback Lex James.

Burks followed a tremendous block thrown by Neill to score untouched on an option pitchout from James late in the opening period. He continued to hold the lead among Aggie rushers with 200 yards. Neill has 166 and Brad Dusek, who carried four times for 11 yards, has 122 yards.

James ran well on the option and picked up 34 yards, but he had the 46 yards lost while attempting to pass added to his statistics.

James passed for 123 yards, hitting on 11 of 24 as he contested the toughest defense the Aggies have faced yet. Although there was only one interception, on the final play of the game, several passes were blocked and a couple more nearly picked off by the alert Wolverine defense. Joe Mac King, who replaced James on two occasions when he was shaken up, also was the victim of an interception, when one of his passes bounced from the hands of his receiver to the waiting arms of a defensive man, in a play that resembled a setup in a volleyball game.

The same was true of the Aggie defense as they blocked several of Don Moorhead's passes and intercepted two. Moorhead, highly rated in some quarters, completed only three of 16 passes for 35 yards but had at least three sure completions dropped when the receiver was in the open.

Homer May, who caught the first five passes completed by James, led the Aggie receivers with that number of catches for 51 yards. It gives the sophomore 12 catches for 205 yards and three touchdowns this season.

Hugh McElroy snagged onto three passes for 42 yards in the contest, giving him 16 catches for 360 yards this season.

Dusek, Neill and Burks caught one pass each.

One of the big pluses for the Wolverines was their punting. Jimmy Sheffield kicked for a 41.3 average for the Aggies but Paul Staroba launched for a 43.3 average on seven kicks but constantly kept the Aggies backed up to the goal line with his punts.

It was Staroba's second period kick that was fumbled by Dave Elmendorf on the eight, setting up the first Michigan score.

Staroba also rolled a punt dead on the one and another 46 yarder went into the end zone.

End the 9 to 5 conspiracy.

Longhorns lose ground to Buckeyes in AP poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Top-ranked Ohio State opened up its lead over runnerup Texas Monday in the weekly Associated Press college football poll.

The Buckeyes received 27 of the 38 first-place votes from sports writers and broadcasters across the country and a total of 713 points after trimming Duke 34-10.

Texas' 11th-hour 20-17 victory over UCLA on a 45-yard touchdown pass with 12 seconds left kept the Longhorns in the No. 2 spot with six first-place ballots and 610 points. Last week they trailed Ohio State by 24 points and the week before that by a mere 13.

Stanford's stunning 26-14 loss to Purdue dropped the Indians from third to 12th and enabled

Notre Dame and Southern California to move up one spot each to third and fourth, respectively. The Irish blanked Michigan State 29-0 and the Trojans walloped Oregon State 45-13.

Mississippi's nationally televised 48-23 rout of Alabama boosted the Rebels from seventh to fifth and Nebraska remained sixth by beating Minnesota 35-10. Michigan climbed two spots to seventh by downing Texas A&M 14-10 and Air Force was up from 10th to eighth after bouncing Colorado State 37-22.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Auburn and Arkansas, which were 12th and 11th a week ago. Auburn whipped Kentucky 33-15 and Arkansas walloped Texas Christian 49-14. Colorado, eighth last week, lost to Kansas State 21-20 and dropped to 17th.

The Second Ten consisted of West Virginia, Stanford, Georgia Tech, Arizona State, UCLA, Missouri, Colorado, North Carolina, Louisiana State and Tennessee.

Last week, it was Arkansas, Auburn, UCLA, West Virginia, Georgia Tech, Penn State, Alabama, Arizona State, North Carolina and Missouri.

The Top Twenty teams, with first-place votes in parentheses, and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. Ohio State (27) 713
