lineup change, as Mike Park will get the call at center in place of Ted Smith.
Benny DeWitt, Jim Parker, Leonard Forey and Andy Philley will again make up the middle of the interior offensive line for the Aggies.
Lex James, the second leading total offense man and third leading passer in the Southwest Conference will man the engines for the Aggies with Brad Dusek, Steve Burks and Doug Neill running alongside him in the backfield.
James has completed 52 percent of his passes for 865 yards this year, and his two favorite targets, Hugh McElroy and Homer May, will again be at the ends. McElroy has caught 16 passes for 360 yards, and May has caught 12 for 205 yards and three touchdowns.
Neil and Burks both had outstanding games against Michigan. Neil ran for 99 yards, the top individual performance by an Aggie runner this season, to give him 166 yards on a five yard average. Burks ran for 70 yards to bring his total to a club-leading 200 yards, while Dusek is third on the squad with 122 yards on 30 carries.

The Red Raiders counter with a balance of running backs and claim they have no real break-away threats but just a bunch of good hard running backs.
Junior Miles Langehennig of nearby Brenham and sophomore Doug McCutchen lead the pack, but not far behind are Larry Hargrave, Danny Hardaway and quarterback Charlie Napper.
Between them they average nearly 250 yards a game with McCutchen leading the way with 286. Langehennig has 225, Hardaway 170, Hargrave 153 and Napper 75 yards gained for Tech.
The Raiders also can throw with Napper, an excellent ballhandler, preferring junior split end Johnny Odom as his favorite receiver. Odom has caught 10 passes for 131 yards, with tight end Robbie Best second among the receivers with six for 68 yards. Flanker David May has equalled Hardaway and McCutchen with three receptions.
Napper has completed 53 percent of his passes for 368 yards this season.
Defensively, both teams could be called thieves.
Although Tech is second in total defense in the conference and the Aggies fifth, both have been vulnerable to the rush and defended the pass well.

On the topic of thievery, the Raiders and Aggies both have picked up eight interceptions, and Tech has recovered 10 enemy fumbles. A&M has pounced on 7.
Tech's defensive secondary has been described as no great stars but one that works together well, and that could be a good way to describe the A&M secondary also.
Free safeties Bruce Bushong and Dave Elmendorf have done their part to make the breaks for the defense. Bushong has intercepted three passes for Tech while Elmendorf, the Aggies' All-American candidate, has caught two errant throws and recovered three fumbles.
Left cornerback Ken Perkins of Tech is one of the top punt return men in the conference although Marc Dove got in some time in the rout of UCSB and did well enough to take over the SWC lead in that department. Both Perkins and Dove have two interceptions and linebacker Larry Molinaire had one.

Strong safety David Hall picked off two passes against Michigan to tie Elmendorf for the team leadership, and Lee Hitt, Mike Bunger, Clifton Thomas and Mike Lord have one each. Lord also has pounced on one fumble at his middle linebacker spot.
Ed Ebrum and Bland Smith will man the cornerbacks for A&M.
Kent Finley and Grady Hoermann, sophomores who moved in as starters will again start, although there is a possibility Steve Luebehusen and Dennis Carruth, who have been injured, will see some action.
The Tech defensive line is anchored by three top linemen, including tackles Wayne McDermann and Bob Money and defensive end Bruce Dowdy. Dowdy, a two year starter, has twice been named AP defensive player of the week after performances in the 1968 and 1970 Texas games.

Max Bird has recovered three sophomores in the Aggie defensive line anchored by veteran tackle Van Odom. Gary Martin will play opposite Odom, and Todd Christopher will play at right end. Barb Hinnat, Boice Best and Ralph Sacra also will see action the defensive line for the Aggies.
A crowd of about 40,000 is expected for the game.

The Church.. For a Fuller Life.. For You..

don't knock it
Maybe you don't like rock and roll, but there's vibrancy to its beat that lets kids express themselves. Even if it isn't your kind of music it's their kind of music. Perhaps the "generation gap" may be narrowed slightly if you'll listen.
Life, remember, is a process of give and take. Adults and teenagers have to give a little if they are going to reach mutual understanding. If, in the beginning, you've given the basic things — like faith, love and respect, then you've nothing to worry about.
But it's never too late. For instance — have you gone with your teenager to church lately?

Keller appraises fish performance

By JOHN CURYLO
Assistant Sports Editor
"I think that it's obvious the score wasn't any indication at all of the game."
That was Aggie Fish Coach Jim Keller's observation Thursday, following Wednesday night's 31-7 loss to the TCU Wogs in Fort Worth.
"We're not very deep," Keller said, "and we're not as big as TCU, but some of our kids played as well as they could. They were just outweighed."
The Wog offensive line averaged 250 pounds. However, the Fish were able to beat them in first downs (20-17), yards passing (69-0), and punting (47.2-34.4).
"I think the secondary played real well," Keller said. "TCU didn't complete any passes, and we intercepted three. Also, the offensive backs looked good, and Bill Nutt punted well."

The Fish were hit with two serious injuries in the game. On the second play of the game on defense, guard Billy Williams injured his knee and did not play the rest of the night. Pat Herring, a running back, injured his shoulder. Both are doubtful to see action Thursday night in Waco against the Baylor Cubs. Williams and Robert Dennis, both expected to start for the Fish at defensive guard, are out now because of injuries.
Looking to Baylor, the Aggies' next opponent, their first game was yesterday afternoon in Austin, where they were soundly beaten by the Texas Shorthorns, 47-20. However, Baylor had an above-average recruiting year, and Keller looks for a good game.
In another SWC Freshman game Thursday night, the Texas Tech Picadors clubbed the Arkansas Shoats 24-6. SMU meets Rice tonight in Houston.

Runners, kickers face Tech, also

Aside from the Saturday night football clash, the Texas Aggies and Texas Tech Red Raiders meet in two other sports here Saturday.
Coach Ted Nelson's cross country team opens its season Saturday morning, and the A&M soccer team challenges highly touted Tech in a soccer match in the afternoon.
Frank Ybardo from Blinn Junior College, who placed second last year in the NJCAA mile run and two mile run, and Ruben Moncivaiz of Glendale, Ariz., who also ran in the NJCAA meet, will lead a young Aggie squad in Saturday's meet.

The soccer match features highly rated Texas Tech against the Aggies, who have a 2-2-1 record this season. Tech has a 3-1 record, in the Texas Collegiate Soccer League.
Coach Bill Wright said the Raiders will be heavily favored for the contest but that his team was looking for a big upset.
The match will be on the drill field in front of the Memorial Student Center, beginning at 2 p.m.
