 For several years now, the state song of Texas, "Texas, Our Texas," has been played at every A&M home game. We have noticed that while the majority of the student body contributes to the National Anthem and "The Spirit of Aggieland," there is a tremendous lack of participation when "Texas, Our Texas" is played.

This song is one reason A&M football games are unique, and it also corrects the misconception that "The Eyes of Texas" is the state song of Texas.

Therefore, we propose The Battalion publish the words to the song "Texas, Our Texas" so the entire student body can participate.

Gladly. Below are the words.

—Ed.
 Texas, our Texas! All hail the mighty State!
 Texas, our Texas! So wonderful, so great!

Largest and grandest, withstanding every test;
 oh, empire wide and glorious, you stand supremely blest.

CHORUS

God bless you, Texas! And keep you brave and strong.
 That you may grow in power and worth, throughout the ages long. (Repeat chorus)

 I am writing this letter in reference to your editorial on the Student Senate in the Oct. 2 Battalion. I think your point on the length of the Senate meetings are well taken. However, I feel that many of your facts concerning the Senate were in error. Many people were overlooked that deserve a great deal of credit.

1. You stated that a Black Awareness Committee had been established by the Senate. This Committee was established over the summer by the MSC Council, not the Senate. Most of the work was done by a group of concerned students, and much done by the blacks themselves. Kent Caperton and Roger Miller worked on this at times, but so did Don Mauro, Tom Fitzhugh, and others from the MSC. The whole idea did not originate in the Senate, nor did the Senate ever discuss the measure on the floor, nor did it ever vote to sponsor such a group. All these things are implied in the editorial.

2. The Batt claims that speakers policy revision was changed "due to the efforts of Student Senate Officers." However, on the front page you have a quotation of Kent Caperton on the subject saying, "this is the type of thing the Senate would like to take credit for but can't." The motivation and inspiration for the change came from President Luedecke, whose previous experience, on the MSC Council had acquainted him very well with the old speakers' policy and its shortcomings.

3. The Soapbox Forum ground-work was not done in the Senate either. It was done last year by the Great Issues Committee, and submitted by the MSC Council to the University Executive Committee. The Senate merely approved the idea once it was handed to them.

4. The request that two students be added to the Disciplinary Appeals Committee was made in last year's Senate.

5. Pass-fail has been passed by three Senates in a row.

I want to know what is going on around this campus. I feel that all the Students should be given a true picture of what is really happening. I would strongly encourage you to research your information to a greater degree before printing it as fact.

David L. Moore

Thank you for your letter. We agree that other organizations besides the Senate were involved on some items, usually the Memorial Student Center Council. You missed the point of the editorial, though. We were not talking about the MSC, or anybody else except the Senate.

 If Acting President Luedecke were to give President Williams a State of the Campus message, it might read as follows:

It used to be A&M was noted as the friendliest campus. Now, the object is to avoid speaking. The corps is losing this tradition, and it's too bad the civilians don't try and keep it. Old Army is dead.

It used to be an Aggie was too proud to boo a referee. Now, the students not only boo but applaud when an Aggie makes an outstanding play. Old Army is dead.

It used to be that Kyle Field echoed with the wildcatting of Aggies when the offensive huddle broke. Now, silence. They're too busy to yell for the team. Old Army is dead.

It used to be girls wore skirts and lace blouses. Now, they wear pants and stand in the boot line. Old Army is dead.

It used to be, for decades, that Aggies stood at football games. Now, there's a special section for people to sit down (Editor's note: standing while pregnant can be somewhat uncomfortable). Old Army is dead.

It used to be common practice for Aggies to whip out when walking the same way on campus. Now, this old tradition is avoided. It takes too much effort to extend a hand. Old Army is dead.

I doubt if the message in this letter will ever be read. After all, Old Army is shot to hell.

ENGINEERING GRADUATES

Ebasco Will Interview on Campus Friday, October 30

It's find out time! Time for you to find out the role you might play in the company that has designed or constructed over 8 billion dollars of fossil fuel, hydroelectric and nuclear plants.

There's never been a more exciting time to join Ebasco. Forecasts call for electrical power systems 3 1/2 times the size of our present national systems. As an engineer at Ebasco you'll be in the forefront of this activity. Ebasco engineers always have been.

See your Placement Director soon to arrange a Q&A session with the Ebasco representative on the above date. If this is not convenient, write to College Relations Coordinator, Ebasco Services Incorporated, Two Rector Street, New York, New York 10006. An Equal Opportunity Employer.
