

Baylor Cubs edge Fish with late touchdown

By JOHN CURYLO
Assistant Sports Editor

The Aggie Fish dropped a close game to the Baylor Cubs in Waco Thursday night 12-7.

The Cubs used a good running game to win their first game of the season. Marcus Rogers and Bob Langham were the top rushers for Baylor, whose rushing game netted 235 yards. The Cubs made 16 of their 19 first downs by rushing.

Rogers gained 111 yards in 26 carries, while Langham had 90 yards and carried 25 times.

Tim Trimmier was the leading passer for the Fish. He completed eight of 18 for 79 yards. His leading receiver was Roger Gaskamp, who caught four for 29 yards.

The first quarter action consisted of a pair of Aggie punts and the start of a possible drive by the Cubs late in the quarter.

Ken Cooper completed a pair of passes, one to Billy Wilson for 23 yards and another to Ken Townsend for 14. A key play came on a third and one situation at the Baylor 4, when Rogers was met at the line of scrimmage by Billy Wiebold, but he fell far enough for the first down.

A good offensive play for the Fish came in the first quarter, when Trimmier threw a screen pass to Garry Smith. Behind the blocks of Jimmy Pattillo and Richard Semands, Smith carried 13 yards for a first down. The Aggies made another first down, but the Fish were forced to punt, at which time Baylor began to move. The short spurt was ended early in the second quarter when Gary Davenport intercepted a pass at the Aggie 7.

Trimmier then moved the Aggies on passes, but the drive was stopped and the Fish punted. The Cubs scored after going 78 yards in 14 plays and 5 first downs. A 19-yard keeper by Cooper and a 9-yard run on a pitchout by Langham put Baylor well into Aggie territory.

On fourth and one at the 28, Rogers went 6 yards for the clutch first down. On the next play, he took a pitchout and went 12 yards to the Baylor 10. Three plays and eight yards later, Rogers carried two yards for the touchdown. On the extra point attempt by Rhea Coppedge, Charles Billingsley blocked the kick. However, an offside penalty moved the ball one and a half yards closer, and Coppedge tried again. This time Billingsley partially blocked the kick, causing it to be low and wide, and the score was 6-0 for the Cubs.

The Fish couldn't move after the kickoff, and Bill Nutt punted, with Baylor setting it up at their own 43. On the next play, Van Daniel, the right linebacker, knocked down and almost intercepted a lateral intended for Langham. He couldn't hold on, and recovered at the 35, putting the Fish in excellent position.

However, two plays later, Tom Hoy recovered a Bobby Merren fumble at the 22, ending any threat by the Fish. The remaining 2:50 of the half had an exchange of punts and one first down by Baylor on the last play, making the halftime score 6-0 for the Bears.

Baylor had a total of 173 yards in the first half, 136 on the ground. Trimmier completed five of 11 passes for the Fish, making 44 yards. Gaskamp, the Fish tight end, caught three of his aerials for 24 yards. The leading Cub rusher was Langham, with 56 yards on 12 carries. Not far behind was Rogers, who gained 54 yards while carrying 13 times.

The Cubs were stalled on their first possession of the second half, as a penalty nullified a long gain by Rogers. Mike Stautzenberger and a gang of Fish threw Cooper for a seven-yard loss, causing Rogers' 20-yard run on the next play to come up five yards short of a first down.

The two teams then punted twice each, Nutt punting 54 and 61 into the end zone. Marc O'Hair's punts were only for 21 and 20 yards, but the Fish could not capitalize, as both Trimmier and Mike Rigby ran the team.

Following a 12 yard punt to the Baylor 48, the Aggies started to move late in the quarter. A pass interference penalty gave the Fish a first down at the 31. Rigby had trouble with a big rush, and was thrown for a loss of 10, and then lost 14, turning the ball over to the Cubs at the A&M 49. Cooper went back to pass, but he fumbled, the recovery being made by Bud Trammell at the 46. Some short running plays gave the Fish a first down, and a 13 yard pass to Bobby Hughes at the 17 for another first as the quarter ended.

Merren went over left guard for seven to the 10 and Trimmier went around left end on a keeper for 9 following a penalty, putting the ball on the seven.

Pat Herring carried for two to the five, and Smith went over right tackle to the two before Herring went over left end for the Fish touchdown. Jeff Pollicoff's kick put the Fish ahead, 7-6.

Following an exchange of punts, the Cubs moved to the Aggie 12 on four first downs, but Langham fumbled, and Mark Benbow recovered at the 12 for the Fish. They couldn't make the necessary yardage for the first down, and Nutt punted 38 yards to the Baylor 46.

Ten plays and four first downs later, Baylor went ahead 12-7 on a one-yard plunge by Rogers. Langham and Rogers carried the running on the drive for the Cubs, each carrying the ball five times before the score. The conversion try for two points was no good on an incomplete pass.

With only 1:53 left, the Fish ran four plays before giving up the ball on the Baylor eight. The Cubs ran one play to the four as the game ended.

Fosdick head swim coach

Dennis Fosdick

Education from San Jose State College. He coached age-group swimming in the San Jose area for a number of years. He handled the freshman water polo team one year at San Jose State and then coached water polo five years at Santa Clara University.

Last year he was handling swimming at the Maverick Boy's Club in Amarillo. He also put on swimming clinics in Brazil last summer.

"I'm very happy to be at Texas A&M," Fosdick said. "The swimmers here are a hard-working group. They want to be a good team and it is a pleasure to work with them."

Cubs upend Fish in tennis match

The Baylor Freshman tennis team took a three-to-two edge in the singles matches in Waco Wednesday afternoon and then split the doubles to gain a 4-3 win over the A&M Fish.

The loss dropped A&M's freshman mark to 1-1.

A highlight of the meet was in the number one match when the Aggies' Dan Courson defeated George Moncadeo, 6-4 6-4. Moncadeo was on the of the state's top ten rated netters last year.

Courson and Bill Pecor grabbed a solid doubles win over Moncadeo and Dan Novak.

The Aggies' other win was by Mitch Barker over the Cubs' Doug Vandefloegg, 6-1 6-3.

Two unbeaten in TCSL

The Texas Collegiate Soccer League moves into the backstretch of its fourth season this week with three teams neck and neck and two more a step behind.

The University of Texas at Austin Longhorns and St. Mary's University Rattlers are undefeated in four TCSL contests, while Texas Tech, which has two losses, also has four wins. Each team has eight points in the standings, based on two points for a win and one for a tie.

Trinity University and the University of Texas at Arlington are right behind the leaders, with six points each.

With forward Claus-Peter Poppe scoring six goals, UT-Austin whipped Midwestern Saturday in Austin, 11 to 1, while St. Mary's used three goals by Richard Cassinelli for a 3 to 0 victory over Rice in San Antonio. Trinity meanwhile dropped Stephen F. Austin in Nacogdoches, 3 to 1.

Texas A&M, with goalie Luis Martinez turning in his best game of the year, stalled Texas Tech, 2 to 1, Saturday in College Station, but the Red Raiders got back on the track Sunday by handing Stephen F. Austin its second 3 to 1 loss of the week, end in Nacogdoches.

In non-league action, Texas-Arlington outlasted SMU in Dallas, 5 to 3.

League activity this week finds Texas/Austin hosting Texas/Arlington, Stephen F. Austin meeting Rice in Houston, Houston taking on Midwestern in Wichita Falls, TCU challenging Texas A&M at 2 p.m. in College Station, and Tech in San Antonio for a Saturday game with Trinity and a Sunday game against St. Mary's.

Dennis Fosdick, 31-year-old California native, is the new swimming coach at Texas A&M.

The announcement was made jointly by A&M Athletic Director Gene Stallings and Dr. Carl Landiss, head of the university's Health and Physical Education dept. In addition to coaching swimming, Fosdick will teach in the Health and Physical Education dept.

Fosdick replaces Melvin Patterson, who resigned recently to take the job of swimming coach at the University of Texas at Austin.

Fosdick, a bachelor, was born in San Diego, Calif., and was graduated from Palo Alto (Calif) High School. He received a bachelor's degree in Physical
