Good effort, but poor execution in TCU loss

By JOHN CURYLO
Assistant Sports Editor

"The effort of the team was good, but the execution was poor. We didn't improve last week, and we're losing some of our one-one situations."

Coach Gene Stallings had this observation about Saturday's disappointing loss to TCU at his weekly press conference Tuesday in the Letterman's Lounge. Finding few pleasing moments in the 31-15 game, Stallings pointed out a big problem resulting in lack of offensive strength in the past two games for the Aggies.

"Our running game would be better if we could eliminate the losses, fumbles, and penalties," he said. "That way, we could do away with some of the situations we have had: third and nine, second and 14, or third and 11. That's not a sign of a well-disciplined team, and that's a reflection on me."

Injuries have played a big part in the fate of the Aggies this year, with ten boys not being able to practice yesterday. Mike Lord was injured when he blocked a TCU punt, which Grady Hoermann picked up and ran 50 yards for a touchdown. At first it was feared that he had suffered a broken hip, but X-Rays showed no broken bones. However, it is doubtful that he will be able to play against Baylor. Stallings said that the linebacker was limping around due to a broken toe, and that he could not run well.

Injured early in the game was defensive end Todd Christopher, who hurt his knee. He can't practice yet, and the exact extent of his injury is not known. Doug Neill and Ed Ebrum are both hurt by pinched nerves in their necks. Other injured personnel are Gary McCaffrey, Oscar Castillo, Roy Kirkpatrick, Jud Quicksall, Barb Hinnant, and Doug Robbins.

Playing for the first time after recovering from an injury Dennis Carruth replaced Lord when he was hurt in the fourth quarter. Stallings was pleased with the performance of Carruth the short time he was in the game.

As usual, a bright spot for A&M was the punting of Jimmy Sheffield. Late in the first half, he kicked one that bounced twice in the end zone, and then bounced out to the three yard line, where it was downed by the Aggies. Sheffield has punted 29 times this season, and his average is 39.0

Playoffs resume in intramurals

Classes A and C football, Class B horseshoes and Class B basketball are all having playoffs this week. Final championship games will be held Thursday for football and Wednesday for basketball and horseshoes in Class B.

Last week produced two championships. Davis-Gary won Class D horseshoes with a perfect 60 record. Law beat Walton 25-22 to win the Class D basketball championships.

Wednesday will see Squadron 11 playing Squadron 2 in a semifinal game in Class A football. The winner will play the winners of L-1 and D-2; Squadron 8 and A-1 games which were played Tuesday afternoon. The championship game will be played Thursday at 5 p.m.

Class C football had four quarterfinal games on Tuesday. McInnis-Electrical Engineering; Tropicana-Possada; Keathley-Hughes; yards per kick.

"Sheffield punted well, and the coverage was good," Stallings said. "He kicked it nice and high. You don't like a guy who kicks it too far. You want good coverage of a high punt, so that you can cause a fumble and prevent a runback."

Quarterback Lex James has been thrown for losses totalling 281 yards while back to pass this year.

"Our pass protection has not been good," Stallings said, "but part of the problem has been that our receivers have been covered well some of the time."
