

Theft artist Marsh, bulldozing Worster honored

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At one point in the Texas A&M game, Baylor's Ed Marsh felt lower than an amoeba at high noon on the Sahara.
That was right after last year's NCAA punting leader had stroked a punt for the grand total of 10 yards.
"I just thought I'd die if I didn't do something to make up for that punt," said Marsh who had dashed 54 yards for a touchdown with an intercepted pass on the last play of the first half.

The poor punt put A&M into position deep in Baylor territory with slightly more than a minute on the clock and the Bears leading 29-24.
"I knew he (Lex James) was going to throw deep and I was just waiting . . ." Marsh said. "I had to shake that punt off . . . and then here came A&M wide receiver Hugh McElroy on a cross pattern. I stayed with him and caught the ball just before it went out of bounds."

Marsh was almost beaten to death by his joyous Baylor teammates on the sidelines as the Bears ran out the clock.
For his play, Marsh was named The Associated Press defensive player of the week.
Steve Worster, Texas' freight train fullback, was selected as the offensive player of the week for his 170 yards rushing against Rice in the Longhorns' 45-21 victory.

Marsh said he got some tremendous blocks on his touchdown return.
"I'm not very fast," Marsh said. "But let me tell you I was running faster than I can."
Marsh said "I have never seen such a quick change from defense to offense. Mike Beane, Roger Goree and Trent Phipps got some great blocks . . . Yeah, I think I ran into the Aggie band behind the end zone . . . I was so happy I don't remember."

Marsh, a senior from Vernon, said the victory over A&M "was the sweetest I've ever been associated with. I think we as a team feel like we are a heckuva lot closer as a unit."

Other defensive players receiving votes include Texas linebacker Scott Henderson, and Texas Tech defensive end Bruce Dowdy.
On offense, the other vote getters were Texas Tech quarterback Charles Napper and Baylor receiver Derek Davis.
Worster said "It takes an all-out effort for me to do something well. I don't feel I'm blessed with any great ability, so I have to put forth extra effort."

Texas coach Darrell Royal said Worster is deserving of the Heisman Trophy.
"I guess it's all on halloween but if they're going to pick it as game performance, they're going to have to start mentioning the boy."
Royal said Worster's running style reminds him of a "tree jerked out of a cold stream, fighting and flapping . . ."
