In final season statistics announced by the Southwest Conference, A&M's Dave Elmendorf placed in three of the individual categories, tying for the lead in one.
Elmendorf, fellow Aggie David Hoot, and Arkansas' David Hogue tied in interceptions with six each. Elmendorf led in interception return yardage with 87.

Hoot returned his steals for 40 yards, while Hogue had 45 yards and one touchdown.
Jimmy Sheffield, the senior punter, was second in that department. He kicked 86 times for 2650 yards and an average of 40.2. Ed Marsh of Baylor was the leader, with 3556 yards on 88 kicks for a 40.4 average, barely nosing out Sheffield.
Quarterback Lex James finished second in passing and third in total offense. Playing in ten games, James completed 111 passes for 1662 yards and six touchdowns. He finished with 15.0 yards per completion and an average completion of 11.1. The leader was Chuck Hixson of SMU. The longest play in the SWC this year was the James-to-Hugh McElroy bomb that went for 79 yards to win the LSU game 20-18.

In total offense, James' negative rushing yardage brought his output down to 1473, placing him third behind Hixson and Arkansas' Bill Montgomery. His game average was 147.3, while Hixson had 187.4 and Montgomery 166.5.

In kickoff returns, Elmendorf finished fourth with a 19.9 yard return average. He returned 23 for 457 yards. He also was sixth in punt returns, running back 13 kicks for 130 yards, a 10.0 average.

Homer May, the sophomore tight end, was seventh in receiving, averaging 2.4 completions. In 11 games, he caught 26 aerials for 479 yards and five touchdowns. He was first among the leaders with yardage per completion, compiling a fine 18.4 norm. His touchdown figure was also best among the receiving leaders.
All these Aggies, with the exception of May, are from Houston.
