rabbit has a lot of competition from Rita Damone, whose imaginatively decorated eggs rival anything the bunny has in his holiday basket.

With hollow eggshells, scissors, white adhesive and odds and ends from notions counters, fabric shops and 10-cent stores, plus infinite patience, Mrs. Damone fashions colorful and sparkling ornaments.

"I never know when I start just how it's going to come out," she explained as her flying fingers transformed a large white egg into a sequined, flowered and gold-braid-bedecked piece of art. "I just let my imagination run wild."

Among the showpieces this imagination has produced is a set of zodiac eggs. Each of the dozen has the inclusive dates in tiny gold decal letters; the symbol cut from a large silver sequin; the flower of the month; and the gem of the month, which is matched by a velvet band the color of the stone.

Another group is made up of four eggs representing the seasons. Spring shows tiny flowers, an umbrella and silver sprinkles for rain; summer features plastic roses with velvet leaves and a bluebird snipped from a sequin; for fall there are sequin leaves in all colors; and multishaped sequin snowflakes adorn the winter scene.

One egg with a contemporary motif has the word "love" spelled out in tiny beads, each one put on separately with a toothpick dipped in glue. On others rhinestones simulate dew on flowers. And many of the eggs have bands of sequins edged in gold or silver braid.

"I used to have to glue each sequin separately," Mrs. Damone says, "but recently they started making strip sequins of different colors and widths with a peel-off

Small wardrobe best for travel

THE BATTALION

WOMEN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS If you are one of the thousands of travelers planning a summer or spring vacation, what to wear and where to go need not be a problem.

Wednesday, April 7, 1971

A small travel wardrobe can go far if you plan it carefully according to both color and pattern. Start with two colors and build your wardrobe around them, eliminating the need for extra shoes and bags that pile on the

Clothes that do double duty when they are going to have a can lighten your luggage load and provide added costumes . . a suit with blouse and jacket that can be mix-matched with > Taking knits helps too. They pack well-either flat, or rolled along the sides of the suitcase to save space.

> For the woman traveler who plans a two week vacation, here's Aeronaves de Mexico's suggested travel wardrobe:

> Take along a lightweight, twopiece knit suit. It easily can serve for either sightseeing, lunching or shopping.

For resort wear colorful print shifts and vivid knit slacks, topped with a coordinated shirt, will sponsor an Easter egg art exhibit take you anywhere, even to res-Wednesday in the lobby of the taurants or late-night discotheques.

> For after-five fun include two cocktail dresses, one the everfashionable and useful basic black a vivid color for cocktail parties.

Pack a fast drying swimsuit with one of the new cover-up dresses that can go from hotel, to beach, to poolside restaurant.

Loungewear has never been prettier. Many informal lounging costumes are styled with long skirts which would be great for dancing under the stars.

NOW

This year's new lingerie and sleepwear is a boom to women travelers. Lightweight, cool and comfortable, they can double as a beach robe, and lounge with equal ease.

It's always wise to bring a raincoat and fold-up umbrella for protection against summer show-

A long scarf is a must among accessories. It can be draped any number of ways around the neck, flung over the shoulder and used as a head cover.

Take along one of the new synthetic wigs. They are a great replacement for curlers, especially after swimming all day.

Three pair of shoes should suffice, daytime pumps, comfortable low-heeled walking shoes and evening sandals. Take packable bedroom slippers that can double for beach sandals.

Other accessories should include three sets of nylon lingerie, three pair of pantyhose, drip-dry Crepeset nylon nightgown, sunglasses, cosmetics in small plastic jars and an extra pair of reading glasses.

pair. Take it easy and console Nowadays an electric mixer or yourself with the fact that a a portable electric beater could large number of young women be called a necessity. But if you are in the same bag. Remember, haven't received one of these for too, that old-fashioned sustainer: a wedding gift and are not planning to buy it, get yourself Every bride who is starting to a hand-operated rotatry beater of keep house needs a comprehensive first-class quality.

In the baking department there are standard sizes. The best cookie pans come in large and small size and have no rims. Both round layer-cake pans and square cake pans come in 8- and 9-inch size. An 11 by 7 by 11/2 inch cake pan-sometimes called a biscuit pan—is also widely available.

Ovenproof glass oblong baking dishes and round casseroles come in suitable sizes and are worthwhile; fortunately they are comparatively inexpensive. Recipes often call for these so seriously consider acquiring them. Ovenproof glass custard cups are useful and widely available in 6ounce size.

You'll enjoy buying gadgets. Wire racks to use for cooling cakes and cookies are a must if the bride is going to try her hand at baking.

A kitchen scissors is endlessly useful. And so is a swivel-blade vegetable peeler; it can be used for everything from paring apples to peeling fresh asparagus spears. A small beater that will beat as little as 1/4 cup cream or 1 egg is another great gadget. So are whisks in various sizes. And a meat thermometer is a boon.

Spatulas are a real help. A short narrow-blade metal one is used for leveling dry ingredients when measuring, for loosening cake and gelatin dishes and for spreading cake frostings. A wide metal spatula is a must for removing cookies from pans, turning pancakes, meats, fish, poultry and so on.

A small hand-operated jar opener is a blessing. When it comes to a can-opener, choose a hand-operated wall-type or an electric model.

If the bride is going to do any rolling of dough a pastry cloth and a stockinet-covered rolling pin are, in our opinion, indispensable.

In the cutlery department two French knives with blades 7 and 9 inches long are eminently suitable for food preparation. These knives come with blades that are wide near the handle and come these, too, come in nested sets to a point at the tip. They are used for all sorts of cutting, dicing, chopping and mincing jobs. A French knife with a Saucepans also come in standblade made from high carbon steel ard size: 1 quart; 11/2 quarts; will take and hold a sharp edge but it will stain easily. The staining is unattractive but does not harm either foods or the measures from 4 to 6 quarts and that can be used for everything cutting ability of the knife. To eliminate some of the staining all a cook has to remember is to Among the ones most used are rinse and dry such a knife right the 6-, 8- and 10-inch size. These after using it.

a "trimmer" is another good buy acquiring skillets with durable because it can be used for tasks too big for a paring knife and too small for a French knife. It goes without saying that a paring knife should be on hand. Every cook should make a practice of keeping her knives sharp so a en spoons should have bowls and knife-sharpener (hand-style or electric) is a must.

Now that you have an idea of how a kitchen should be equipped A colander and a set of wire- have fun adapting this list to mesh strainers are aids most you own needs!
