

Aggies stay unbeaten with three wins over Tech

By CLIFFORD BROYLES

Paul Czerwinski fired a six-hit shutout Friday in the second game of a three-game series with Texas Tech and his win was typical of the type of play used by the Aggies as they swept their fourth consecutive series against SWC competition on Kyle field.

The three wins gives A&M 12 without a loss in conference play with second place Texas-Austin now 9-3 in the standings. The Aggies will travel to Fort Worth for a three-game set with Texas Christian University this weekend, while the Longhorns will be at home against the Rice Owls. The two teams meet in the season-closing series May 3-4 on Kyle field. A&M is hosting the University of Houston today in a doubleheader on Kyle field.

Czerwinski, battling hard, worked out of jam after jam to keep the raiders scoreless until Carroll Lilly knocked in pinch runner Larry Smith with a run in the bottom of the sixth inning of the seven inning game. Smith was running for Jim Sampson, who had singled.

Czerwinski had runners at first and third and only one out in the fourth of the contest but pitched his way out. An inning later runners were on second and third with one out but again he stopped the threat. Then in the sixth came the ultimate threat as Cecil Norris crashed a pitch into the left centerfield alley and ended up on third with a triple with none out.

At this time the score was 0-0 and with two at-bats remaining one run seemed crucial. All he had to face was Doug Alt a .370 hitter and Johnny Owens, a four-year letterman and .380 hitter.

Texas A&M baseball coach Tom Chandler was in satisfactory condition and reportedly resting comfortably in Sharpstown General Hospital in Houston after undergoing surgery for a ruptured disc in his back Monday afternoon.

The Aggie mentor is expected to be in the hospital for about a week.

But the senior from Houston challenged Ault with a couple of good curves and the result was two swinging strikes and ground out with a fast ball inside. Then Owens struck out and Roy Carver the same, as Norris stood helplessly on third.

The Aggies won the first game of the series with a never-say-die attitude as R. J. Englert tied the game with a triple down the left field line with one out in the bottom of the seventh.

Before that time, Tech led 2-1 behind Ruben Garcia, who had pitched his way out of two bases loaded jams, after allowing a first inning run on a double by Dave Elmendorf and a single by Billy Hodge.

Tech knocked out Aggie starter Bruce Katt after four in the contest with four runs and seven hits but the bullpen aces Charlie Kelley and Pat Jamison came on to pitch three scoreless innings each allowing only one single apiece.

Charlie Jenkins then hurled the eleventh inning and got credit for the win, his fourth without a loss, as Elmendorf scored from third when a wild pitch got stuck in the screen behind home plate. A ground rule allows for an automatic base for a runner, to advance a base in this case, and Elmendorf waltzed in with the clincher after singling, stealing second and moving to third on a wild pitch. The Raiders intentionally walked Hodge to get to Charlie Jenkins, the next scheduled batter, but while Jenkins was up reliever Bob Geurin tossed a fast ball high that got away from catcher David Hazzard.

The Aggies threatened all day in the game stranding 14 runners but in the end got the run that counted as they brought their record to 29-3 after the Saturday win.

Saturday, the Aggies jumped on starter Doug Ault on a single, three walks, a hit batsman and went ahead 3-0 but Tech tied it in the second. Aggies then answered and put down three straight batters to get out of the jam.

A&M then knocked out Ault in the fourth with Hodge and Sans doubling in one run and Lilly two. After Ault parted Ghutzman shot a single to center that sent home two more. Elmendorf drove in a run in the sixth and Kelley ripped a two runs single in the seventh as the Aggies built a 12-3 cushion.

But Kelley not used to long stints tired in the eighth and was touched for four runs on four hits after allowing only one hit and striking out seven in his first four innings. Jamison came on the ninth and saved his tenth game of the year allowing only a walk and Kelley became the teams winningest pitcher with his seventh.

Aggie first baseman Chris Sans crosses the base he guards on defense after singling. Sans currently is the hottest hitter on the team raising his season average to .306 and conference mark to .442, which is in the top five. (Photo by Mike Rice)

Aggies ink first 3 cage recruits

The Texas Aggies announced their first three basketball recruiting signees for next season Saturday with the inking of two stars from district champion Fort Worth Arlington Heights.

Coach Shelby Metcalf signed 6-5 Cedric Joseph and 6-3 Dale Donaldson of the Fort Worth school at a luncheon Saturday at the Green Oaks Inn in Fort Worth. The coach also announced the signing of 6-7 Webb Williams, Class B third team all-star from Comstock, who averaged more than 30 points a game.

Joseph was chosen Texas high school basketball player of the year recently by the Amarillo Globe-News, an award won last year by Dwight Jones of Houston Wheatley. He is the all-time leading scorer in the history of Fort Worth high school basketball. He finished the season with 840 points and a 29 point average. He once scored 66 points in one game.

The signing of Joseph, one of the blue chip cagers in a poll of conference coaches by the Dallas Morning News, ended a battle that same some 370 schools seek the services of Joseph.

"I visited 8 schools and narrowed it to A&M and Rice. The Southwest Conference is coming up in basketball. I wanted to be a part of, to do what I could to help," Joseph said.

Metcalf said he would probably use Joseph at the post and Williams on the wing.

Donaldson, 6-3, 185, was a top guard for Heights and will assume a similar role with the Aggies.

Metcalf called Donaldson an outstanding defensive player and a good shooter comparing him to Charlie Jenkins, the Ags sophomore guard, who is also a graduate of Arlington Heights.

Ag cagers to play in Washington

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Texas A&M and Virginia Tech will join co-hosts George Washington and American University in the 2nd Annual Presidential Classic basketball tournament, Friday and Saturday January 7-8, 1972, at Fort Myer, Va., according to athletic directors Bob Faris of GW and Bob Frailey of AU.

GW will be out to defend the championship it won in the initial tournament held this past December. The Colonials defeated Richmond, 96-79, in the opening round, then edged East Tennessee State, 81-76, for the championship. Virginia Tech also competed in the 1st tourney and finished third.

Pairings for next year's event will find VPI facing AU at 7 p.m. opening night followed by Texas A&M and GW at 9 p.m. The two opening-night winners will square off for the title at 9 p.m. January 8, preceded by a game for third place between the first-night losers at 7 p.m.

Golfers finish 7th at Houston

The Texas Aggie golf team placed seventh in the four day 72-hole All-America Invitational Intercollegiate golf tournament at Atascocita Country Club in Houston that was completed Saturday.

The University of Florida leading after every day but the first took first place in the team medal play, four ball, individual medalist and tied for first in the two ball results to win the overall championship. The University of Texas at Austin was second and won the team match play title over the Gators.

Tom Shelton paced the Aggies with a 72-74-77-75—298 which is 10 over par. Steve Veriato shot a 71-78-78-72—299, Tommy Johnson a 78-74-75-76—303 and Mike Machemehl a 78-80-74-78—308. Medalist was Andy North of Florida with a 281.

In overall points, Florida had 187½ and A&M was seventh with 13.

Florida had 1169 strokes in team medal play and A&M was seventh with 1208. The Aggies were seventh with 262 in four ball play. Florida had a 249. In match play A&M took sixth bowing to the University of Oregon 4-2 Saturday.

Paul Czerwinski

knocked out Ault with six in the fifth as they ripped to a 12-7 win and sent the Raiders and several UT-Austin players watching the crucial game home wanting.

Saturday's game was played before the largest home crowd of the season and probably the biggest ever for an Aggie game, estimated at 4,500 as all seating capacity was filled, fans lined both fences down the right and left field lines, lined the wall between the back screen and the bleachers, the fences beyond right and centerfield and were perched over every open spot on the Kyle football stadium.

A&M rolled up 12 hits in the contest including four doubles and a triple.

Butch Ghutzman's leadoff single started the downfall of Ault, who after Englert reached on an error, walked Elmendorf, loading the bases, hit Hodge forcing in one run and then ground outs by Gene Reinartz and Chris Sans got in the final two runs.

But Tech tied it off Jackie Binks in the second on singles by Ault, Bob Martindale and Jerry Ballard, a walk and a throwing error.

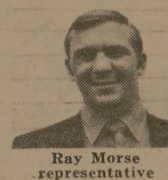

It was the fourth frame that got the Aggies down as Tech put runners on second and third with none out. Manager Terry Logan then went to his bullpen aces once again and Charlie Kelley
