CS to get one-day delivery of airmail

College Station Postmaster Ernest Gregg announced today that College Station will participate in a program making rapid, dependable airmail delivery the first "national service goal" of the U.S. Postal Service.

The improved airmail service program is the first phase of the master plan for upgrading the postal system, Gregg said. Other national service goals will be announced later.

The service goal becomes effective Thursday. Gregg said under the plan zip coded airmail deposited by 4 p.m. weekdays in the conveniently located "air mail only" box will be delivered the next day in most principal and intermediate towns and cities within a 600-mile radius of College Station, and in virtually any principal city in the continental United States within two days of deposit.

The postmaster said the "air-mail only" box will be located immediately in front of the main postoffice, 101 Houston St.

"Postmaster General Winton M. Blount has said he expects every postal employee to join in meeting this challenge in order to achieve a performance of at least 95 per cent by July," Gregg said. "It will be the first of several major, definite plans that we have on the drawing board for comprehensive service improvements."

Gregg explained that the first national service goal will apply to nearly 500 towns and cities with airports and flight schedules that make next-day and second-day delivery possible. He emphasized that dependability as well as speed of delivery will be stressed.

Gregg said the Postal Service already is strategically placing "airmail only" boxes at key locations in College Station and in cities and towns all over the country to improve airmail delivery. The boxes are identified with distinctive colors and markings.

Pickups of airmail from these boxes will be adjusted to provide prompt dispatch on local area flight schedules.

Many of these boxes are visible along major thoroughfares, in front of post offices, branches and stations and in large shopping centers in major cities. Many more will be ready by July 1.

Editor:

Dear Students:

How did your senator vote on the recently proposed student association constitution?

When this issue and others are presented before next year's Student Senate, if elected senior representative from the College of Education, I will hold meetings for all interested education majors to get their opinions before a vote is taken. I will notify those I represent as to how I voted through periodic newsletters on Senate activities. Throughout next year I will work, and remain open to any suggestions for greater communication among all education majors.

Please remember my name — Marilyn Melcher — when you vote for senior representative from the College of Education. I want to represent you.

To the students:

We would like to take this opportunity to encourage each of you to find out who's running from your college, tell them what you expect from the Student Senate, and vote for the candidate of your choice. Student government cannot function without the support and concern of the students.

We would also like to introduce you to Marilyn Melcher, a junior in the College of Education who is running for a Senate seat next year. Her qualifications are; delegate to MSC Leadership Conference, delegate to the state convention of Texas State Education Association, member and past officer in the A&M Chapter of T.S.E.A., officer in the YMCA Cabinet, co-chairman of the "Y"

Freshman Camp, member of the dress code committee of the CSC, delegate for SCONA, and distinguished student.

She is enthusiastic and energetic and would be an excellent representative.

The election is April 28. Please get out there and vote!

Editor:

I am announcing my candidacy for sophomore senator in the College of Architecture and Environmental Design. I have been interested and active in student government since arriving at A&M.

I am in favor of the proposed new constitution because I feel it will give the student body better representation. In addition, the Senate should be more efficient under a new constitution. A&M has a very diversified student body and without proper, fair representation, next year's Student Senate can never hope to achieve the goals a rapidly growing and vastly changing university should strive for.

I am very concerned about what happens here at A&M. I am willing to get out and work hard in the Student Senate and to represent you. Since I will be your voice in student government, I urge you to call me at 845-6787 or come by Puryear 6-F with your questions and ideas.

Above all, I urge you to do your job and vote April 28. I ask also for your vote and support. I will respond with the best job of representing you responsibly in the Student Senate of 1971-72.

This will introduce to Texas Aggies one of the most outstanding residents of Walton Hall and perhaps the entire civilian body, Larry Hoelscher '74. Larry is a candidate for Sophomore Class president in the upcoming election. I have had the chance and opportunity to work with Larry on many Walton projects. I have been in a position to hear the feedback he receives as a student leader. I have no doubts that Larry is qualified with his proven abilities. Among his class members I notice a marked respect for his personality and ability to get the job done quickly and efficiently.

As Larry has participated in activities this year, he has shown the mark of not only an emergent leader but that of a scholar. Not many people are able to combine both activities and academics to their fullest. I notice a tremendous voter popularity for Larry among not only his hall, but the entire civilian body. I wish Larry the very best luck in this election and invite others to realistically size this gentleman for the job.
