Mothers' clubs president Houston mom

Mrs. S. T. Sikes of Houston Saturday was elected president of the Federation of Texas A&M University Mothers' Clubs at the state-wide organization's annual meeting here.

The program included an address by Texas A&M President Jack K. Williams, inaugurated as president Friday.

Mrs. Carter Dibrell of Brenham, federation president during 1970-71, was elected vice president at-large. Other vice presidents are Mrs. Henry G. Creel Jr., Fort Worth; Mrs. Fred L. May Jr., San Antonio; Mrs. James C. Brown, Alamo; Mrs. Maurice Methary Jr., Junction; Mrs. L. R. French, Baytown, and Mrs. Guy C. Waller, Pasadena.

Also, Mrs. Frances Kimbrough, Bryan, treasurer; Mrs. R. V. Thomas Jr., Liberty, recording secretary; Mrs. J. O. Hurley, Houston, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Don Cottrell, Austin, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Charles O. Chesnut, Beeville, historian.

The federation includes 51 clubs located throughout the state.

Special Olympics set for early Saturday

A Special Olympics for mentally retarded children will be run Saturday on Kyle Field.

Part of a national program initiated by the Kennedy Foundation, the 8:30 a. m. track and field meet will provide competition opportunity for special education students within 100 miles of College Station.

About 200 boys and girls ages eight to 19 are expected for the half-day meet sponsored by the state-wide organization's annual meeting here.

Dr. John M. Chevrette said youngsters will come from Mexia State School and Livingston, among others.

They will compete in the 50-yard dash, 300-yard run, 440-yard relay, standing broad jump, high jump and softball throw for distance. Members of Teenagers for the Retarded will assist in running the Special Olympics.

"Special education students are not eligible to participate in Texas Interscholastic League activities," Chevrette said. "Many of these kids have a lot of physical ability. The Special Olympics gives them a chance to demonstrate it."

High school counseling workshop Saturday

Legal implications in school counseling will be examined Saturday in a regional workshop here.

School administrators and counselors of the area including Huntsville, Conroe, Brenham and Temple are expected to participate, said Dr. Charles E. McCandless, president of the Brazos Valley Counselors Association and workshop co-sponsor with the Region VI Education Service Center at Huntsville.

Keynote speaker of the 9 a. m.

to noon workshop will be Dr. Richard T. Robinson, counseling education director at SMU. The Honorable Charles J. Sebasta Jr., Burleson County judge, Caldwell, and W. C. McClain, Conroe attorney, will lead discussion following Robinson's address.

Workshop sessions will be in the Architecture Auditorium at Texas A&M. McCandless is associate dean of A&M's College of Liberal Arts and associate professor of educational psychology.

Physics lecture Thursday at 4 p. m.

Dr. I. Ielson of the University of Tel Aviv, Israel, will give a physics colloquium lecture on "The Quest for Superheavy Elements" at 4 p. m. Thursday.

The Physics Room 146 lecture is preceded by a coffee at 3:30 p. m.

Doctoral candidate awarded fellowship

An A&M doctoral candidate has been awarded the prestigious National Institutes of Health Post-Doctoral Fellowship to Albert Einstein College of Medicine in Bronx, N. Y.

Richard Stockert, Ph.D. genetics student who expects to graduate in August, will join Dr. Salome G. Waelsch in the Albert Einstein College of Medicine Department Sept. 1.

He is the first A&M graduate accepted at the medical center.

Sea Grant Japanese to talk

Leaders in Japan's ocean exploitation will be in Houston Thursday to present an overview of technical achievements in Japanese offshore technology.

Sponsored by A&M's Sea Grant Program in cooperation with the United States-Japan Panel on Marine Facilities and Structures, the seminar is open to persons working in marine-related fields.

Highlights of the one-day presentation at Astroworld Hotel include a review of key goals within the Japanese Ministry of Transport, an overview of ship research, innovations in port construction, description of the computer-controlled super-automated ship and anti-collision system and a review of the Japanese Man-in-the-Sea Program.

"Presentation of the Mitsui jack-up work platform system for deep water construction will be of special interest," according to Dr. John C. Calhoun, Jr., Sea Grant Program director.

"This system is part of the growing field of civil engineering tools for Japan's expansion into the sea," Calhoun added.

Additional attention will be given to offshore terminal development, acquisition of environmental data, submersible safety and pollution and clean-up.

"Participants will have an opportunity to be involved in a round-table discussion of the technical interface between ocean engineering in the two countries," Calhoun said.

Chairing the seminar are Hiroo Kido, director of the Ship Research Institute of Japan; Charles C. Bates, science advisor to the Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard; Tamio Ashino, manager of Japan's Ship Machinery Development and Dr. Calhoun.

Law dedicates garden to grad's memory

Dedication ceremonies were held Sunday for the Samuel J. Reeve's Memorial Garden of Law Hall. A memorial monument was unveiled, and Terry Van Dyck, Law Hall president, gave a short dedication speech.

Reeve, a 1969 graduate of Texas A&M and a former resident advisor for Law Hall, was on a canoe with two Boy Scouts in North Carolina last summer when the canoe overturned in mid-stream. Successful in rescuing one of the Scouts, Reeve's second attempt was futile and cost him his life.

The monument and memorial gardens are the result of the initiative of hall officers and Robert Rucker, university landscape architect. It is the first such monument on campus, and was approved by the board of directors at its February meeting.
