students' desire to become involved in student politics.

He is receptive of new ideas and realizes that in the position of student senator he is representing the students' opinion and not his own. He feels that the Student Senate is doing a good job, but that it could stand improvement as far as representation of students is concerned.

George is involved in outside student activities, but not too many where it would interfere in his doing an excellent job of expressing the LA students ideas and making sure that they are known to the Student Senate as well as the rest of the A&M student body.

It is therefore with great pleasure that we place our support for senior Liberal Arts senator behind George Zahaczewsky.

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce myself and solicit your support for Student Senate Welfare Chairman. My name is Randy Ross, and I would appreciate the opportunity to serve you during the coming year. This past year I have served as a student senator and as a member of the Welfare Committee. During that time I have had the opportunity to become acquainted with the problems facing student government here at A&M and especially those falling under the jurisdiction of the Welfare Committee.

It is my firm conviction that student government must move out of the realm of stagnating control by cliques and into the role of adequate, effective representation of all members of the student body. If elected, this will be my primary goal, as I firmly believe that people support what they help create.

If you are interested in an effective, responsive student government that is concerned with your desires and needs, then I would appreciate your vote for Senate Welfare Chairman tomorrow.

We, the undersigned, wholeheartedly endorse and recommend Fernando Giannetti for president of the Civilian Student Council. A person dedicated to the student body of Texas A&M, Fernando has served as president of Schumacher Hall, organizer of the A&M International Student Association, member of the CSC, and member of the Alpha Zeta National Agricultural Honor Fraternity. He is untiring in his work and unafraid to stand up and fight for his constituents.

Fernando stands for change. He realizes that the CSC would function best as a residence hall association rather than trying to emulate the Senate. He will work to abolish unfair on-campus living and eating requirements, coordinate co-educational activities, bring more concerts in the spring semester, and will attempt to establish an association which is not only responsive, but innovative.

It is time for constructive change at A&M. Fernando Giannetti stands for change, for Texas A&M, and for each individual student. Your vote will help to make A&M a better place for the civilian student to be.

As the class of '74, we have almost completed our fish year at Texas A&M. The time has come to select dynamic leadership for our next year since the Class of '74 will no longer be at the bottom of the totem pole, new leaders should be chosen to initiate enthusiasm for next year's class activities.

If I am elected president of the Sophomore Class, I will not only work for the class but with the class. As president, I would represent the class in the Student Senate. I would carry to the Senate ideas that would benefit our class as a whole. Above all, I will strive for a more prosperous Class of '74. Let me work with you as your Sophomore Class president.

In the past several years since civilian students were permitted at A&M, election of campus-wide interest have shown definite signs of civilians voting block for civilians and the same for the corps. This cannot continue if A&M is to grow to its full potential as a university. Student leadership is an essential key to the successful maintenance of a university. This is why I, a civilian student, am endorsing Randy Maness as president of the Class of '74. True, Randy is in the corps, but I still feel he is most qualified to lead the class.

During the past year, Randy has been the president of our class. For many students, especially corps students, the fish year is the most trying. During this past year, Randy has led the Class of '74 in a manner that can only be termed as commendable. Following his lead, the fish class set a new gross record for income from a Fish Ball. Freshman Weekend went off to perfection, and Randy spent long hours working and planning it. Also included in Randy's duties were representing the fish class in the Student Senate. On several occasions, he has risked the rebuttal of corps upperclassmen in order to oppose a move he believed unbeneficial to the Class of '74 as a whole. He made these stands in order to better represent not only the corps fish, but also the civilian freshmen.

So, I urge all members of the Class of '74 to go to the polls on April 28 and reelect Randy Maness as president of their class. With his leadership, the breach between corps and civilian students will continue to lessen until it is closed.

Barb Sears is uniquely and specifically qualified for the job of Student Senate recording secretary. Having served as secretary for both the Great Issues Committee and the A&M Debate Club, she has a thorough understanding of the responsibilities involved with the office she is seeking. Furthermore, as one of the five freshman senators elected this year, Barb has gained invaluable experience with the workings of the Senate itself. These two factors in particular assure superior performance as recording secretary. In addition, she is responsible, interested, open-minded, and in touch with student ideas and problems. We feel that Barb is truly qualified for the position, and we urge you to vote for Barb Sears for Student Senate recording secretary.

After examining the candidates for chairman of the Senate Student Life Committee, we believe that the most qualified person is Layne Kruse. This year he has worked hard as a member of the Life Committee on the Senate. He has served as co-chairman of the Grievance Committee, and also as a member of the Academic Excellence Committee. Moreover, he has been treasurer of the Great Issues Committee, a member of AM's debate team, a representative on the Liberal Arts Student Council, and a distinguished student. Throughout his activities, he has shown that he is capable of handling the responsibility of being chairman. But even more important, we know that he will listen to the problems of every student, and he will be willing to respond to those problems. Therefore, we urge you to support Layne Kruse for chairman of the Student Life Committee.

This letter is written in support of David Gorcyca for senior yell leader. Besides being active as an assistant civilian coordinator of the Bonfire, David is known as an Ag who gives a damn about the university, our athletic teams, and his buddies. If you care for your school and want responsible leadership for the coming school year, vote David Gorcyca for Senior Yell Leader.

To the Class of '73

Do you really care about how future students will view the Class of '73? I want them to see this class as the class that got things done. I have cared enough to serve on both the Freshmen and Sophomore Councils, and have worked hard on the class balls. I now want to serve you in a higher capacity, as president of the Junior Class.

In serving on the councils for the past two years I have noticed that their sole functions have been to organize the class balls. Besides working for a full week-end of activities, I would strive to make the council a common meeting place to exchange ideas on issues which concern us as students. Vote Wednesday for a more responsive Junior Council.

I am a candidate for Life Committee Chairman of the Student Senate. I feel that I possess the experience needed for this responsible office. My passed (sic) experience and qualifications are: (for 1969-70) Freshman Class president, Student Senate member, Senate Public Relations Committee member, and delegate to Operation Jericho, (for 1970) Student Senate member representing the sophomores of the College of Engineering, Senate Academic Excellence Committee member and Senate Life Committee member. I believe that with these qualifications I know what changes are needed in student government and how to initiate these changes.

If elected I will work mainly in the area of student needed services, since this directly affects every student. An example of this is the new Student Better Business Bureau which will be enacted next year. I will serve as chairman of this student bureau if elected Life Chairman, since it will be under the responsibility of the Life Chairman. I will also see that the Legal Rights Commission that was formed this year is continued and made even more successful in helping students. And I will work for the establishment of other student services of this nature.

Therefore, I urge you, the students of Texas A&M, to elect on Wednesday Bill Darkoch for Life Chairman of the Student Senate, but above all I challenge you to at least vote in this student election so that the people elected are true representatives of this student body.

Bill Darkoch

Correction

The Battalion reported Friday Daryl Barrett, who has been approved to run for senior yell leader, was a civilian with long hair. He is a civilian, but we erroneously identified him as a long-haired spectator in the back of the Senate meeting. Barrett's ears and neck are visible.

We apologize to him for the error. His name, due to late approval, will not be on the ballots; students voting for him must write his name in.

To be eligible to purchase the Texas A&M University ring, an undergraduate student must have at least one academic year in residence and credit for ninety-five (95) semester hours. The hours passed at the preliminary grade report period on March 15, 1971, may be used in satisfying this ninety-five hour requirement. Students qualifying under this regulation may now leave their names with the ring clerk, Room Seven, Richard Coke Building. She, in turn, will check all records to determine ring eligibility. Orders for these rings will be taken by the ring clerk starting April 1, 1971, and continuing through May 7, 1971. The rings will be returned to the Registrar's Office to be delivered on or about June 23, 1971. The ring clerk is on duty from 8:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, Monday through Friday, of each week. H. L.
