Teachers, students, probationers for stricter drug laws

AUSTIN—A two-to-one majority of teachers, students, and boys on probation believe laws on drug abuse should be more strict according to a state-wide survey made by Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE).

The question, "Do you believe laws on drug abuse should be more strict?" was answered, "Yes" by 85 per cent of teachers, 65 per cent of high school students, and 54 per cent of boys on probation. Total response was 67 per cent for more strict laws.

The survey was taken in both rural and metropolitan areas of the state, from Farwell, near the New Mexico line, to Houston. In large city schools, the administration was asked to determine a representative cross section of teachers and students.

"Are you personally acquainted with a drug abuser?" was answered "Yes" by 18 per cent of teachers, 53 per cent of high school students, and 50 per cent of boys on probation.

"Do you know someone who could get illegal drugs for you today if you wished to make a purchase?" was answered "Yes" by 12 per cent of teachers, 52 per cent of students, and 39 per cent of boys on probation.

"Do you know someone who would sell illegal drugs directly to you if you wished to make a purchase?" was answered "Yes" by 10 per cent of the teachers, 40 per cent of students, and 39 per cent of boys on probation.

"In your opinion, what are the two main factors leading to drug abuse in teenagers?" was answered "Peer Group Pressure," and "Curiosity," in that order, by teachers. Students, however, rated "Curiosity" first. Boys on probation rated "Escape" first, and "Sex Substitute" second.

"In your opinion, what are the two most important preventative measures that can be taken to combat drug abuse?" was answered "Education" and "Elimination of Supply of Illegal Drugs," by teachers and students.

Boys on probation rated "Education" slightly ahead of "Law Enforcement," "Stronger Laws," and "Legalization of Marijuana."

The question, "Is it possible to learn about the effects of a drug without personally experimenting with it?" was answered "Yes" by 98 per cent of teachers, 90 per cent of students, and 84 per cent of boys on probation.

"Have you come to a decision about whether or not marijuana should be legalized?" was answered "Yes" by 80 per cent of teachers, 78 per cent of students, and 44 per cent of boys on probation. (They were not asked what their decision was.)

Areas involved in the survey were Farwell, Cotulla, Sulphur Springs, Richardson, Garland, Childress, Grapevine, McAllen, Fort Worth, and Houston. (The survey was also taken in Dallas, but results were not returned in time for tabulation.)

TANE is a non-profit, educational organization, dedicated to preventing alcohol and drug problems. In existence since 1935, it is supported financially by Texas churches, individual contributions, businesses, industry, and proceeds of sale of educational aids.

Programs include public school assembly programs, inservice teacher training workshops, drug education seminars for schools and churches, publishing books, production of audio visual aids, a 150-man speakers bureau, legislative information service, research, and an annual drug education workshop co-sponsored with Baylor University. The next workshop is scheduled for August 5-7 at Waco.

Richardson youth receives scholarship

Scott W. Woods, third in his 1971 Richardson High School graduating class, has been named a President's Scholar at Texas A&M.

He will enroll in August under the award, which includes a $1,000 a year stipend for up to five years of study.

Woods will be one of 21 President's Scholars to start study next fall at the university. They were selected from among 700 candidates nominated by their high school principals.

Woods and the other 20 President's Scholars will join 53 previous honorees at A&M. Two graduated in May, completing four year degree programs in three years.

The President's Scholar awards program, inaugurated in 1967, recognizes outstanding scholars and retains the state's most promising students for advanced education in Texas.
