July 4 weekend schedule given for MSC, services

Memorial Student Center services will close Friday afternoon for the three-day July 4th holiday at Texas A&M.

Students, faculty and staff Independence Day holidays will include Monday.

Closing times Friday for various MSC areas are 4 p.m. for the snack bar, 5 p.m. for general offices and facilities and 7 p.m. for the cafeteria and main desk, said Sanders Letbetter, assistant director.

Other services and offices in the center including window service in the U. S. Post Office, travel office and Association of Former Students close at 5 p.m. Friday.

Operation will resume at 8 a.m. Tuesday except for the cafeteria and main desk, which will open at 7 a.m.

Former student receives promotion

Seaborn J. Buckalew, Class of

'42, Alaska's assistant adjutant general for Air, has been appointed to the rank of brigadier general.

Buckalew's promotion came in a surprise ceremony in the office of Maj. Gen. William S. Elmore, adjutant general of Alaska.

The new one-star general fills the military post on a part-time basis. An attorney, he is the district attorney for Anchorage.

Gen. and Mrs. Buckalew have two sons. The family lives in Anchorage.

Physicist professor to present paper

Dr. Hans A. Schuessler, associate professor of Physics, will attend the Seventh International Conference on the Physics of Electronic and Atomic Collisions at Amsterdam, The Netherlands, July 26 through 31.

He will deliver a contributed paper on "Spin Exchange Cross Section for the Scattering of Slow Charged Particles by Polarized Atoms."

C.E. head reelected to state post

Charles H. Samson Jr., P.E., professor and head of the Civil Engineering Department, has been installed for a second two-year term as national director no. 1 of the Texas Society of Professional Engineers.

Samson, who earned his B.S. and M.S. degrees at Notre Dame and his Ph.D. at the University of Missouri, also serves as research engineer and head of the Civil Engineering Division, Texas Engineering Station and as a research engineer at the Texas Transportation Institute.

field of biology. Hernandez is a graduate teaching assistant at Texas A&M.

Geosciences names assistant dean

Dr. Kenneth C. Brundidge has been named assistant dean of geosciences.

Dean John C. Calhoun Jr. said Brundidge will be assistant dean for student affairs, succeeding Professor Fred E. Smith who retired this month.

Brundidge joined the meteorology faculty in 1955 and was promoted to full professor in 1968, the same year he won the Association of Former Students' award for distinguished teaching.

He earned his Ph.D. at Texas A&M in 1961 after receiving B.S. and M.S. degrees at the University of Chicago.

Animal Science head honored

Dr. O. D. Butler Jr., head of the Animal Science Department, will be presented the American Meat Science Association's Signal Service Award at the annual meeting June 13-16 at the University of Kentucky, Lexington.

The award honors an individual who has made numerous contributions to the efficiency of the livestock industry.

Butler is vice president of the association and will serve as president-elect during 1971-72.

He is a recognized authority in the objective evaluation of beef carcasses and he was one of the first to advocate crossbreeding for increased beef production.

Butler, in cooperation with Dr. Sylvia Cover, was the first to attempt to characterize the components of beef tenderness.

Class of '30 reunion will mark a first

Members of the 1930 class at Texas A&M University mark a first for the institution's Association of Former Students next weekend when they assemble at Fort Collins, Colo., for their 41st anniversary.

It will be the first A&M class reunion held outside Texas.

Association Executive Director Richard (Buck) Weirus said Dr. William E. Morgan, retired president of Colorado State University and 1930 agricultural administration graduate of Texas A&M, will host the reunion.

Texaco promotes 2 former students

Texaco Inc. Tuesday announced the appointments of Herbert N. Wade as supervisor of joint operations and Roy E. Munson as assistant to the manager (operations), both in the Producing Department-Eastern Hemisphere.

Wade graduated from Texas A&M in 1949 with a bachelor of science in petroleum engineering and joined Texaco the same year.

Munson received a bachelor of science in petroleum engineering from Texas A&M in 1951. He joined Texaco in 1953 as an engineering trainee in South Texas.

Professor co-author for encyclopedia

Sayed Z. El-Sayed, associate professor of oceanography, is among the new contributors to the 1971 edition of Encyclopaedia Britannica. He is author, in part, of the article on Antarctica.

Encyclopaedia Britannica is the oldest continuously published reference book in the English language. It was first published in Edinburgh, Scotland, 203 years ago in 1768.
