Pinnell new president's assistant

Texas A&M President Dr. Jack K. Williams announced the appointment Tuesday of Dr. Charles Pinnell as assistant to the president for planning and institutional analysis.

Pinnell, who has served as the university's director of planning and analytical studies since 1969, will move into the newly created position Sept. 1.

In his present capacity, Dr. Pinnell has been involved in formulating a comprehensive master plan for growth of the university. The plan includes priorities for construction of additional facilities, projected use of utilities, traffic planning and evaluation of necessary financing in all areas.

"Dr. Pinnell's background and experience make him uniquely qualified for this new position," Williams said. "He will play a key role in our efforts at Texas A&M to achieve the most efficient and economical operation and to project our plant and programs ahead."

Utilities plant has two new chillers

Installation of two new 3,350-ton centrifugal chillers at the central utilities plant has almost doubled the capacity for central air-conditioning on campus.

Walter H. Parsons, physical plant director, said the additional capacity came just in time to accommodate peak summer loads and to meet the requirements for the engineering center, scheduled for completion this fall. The extra 1,100 tons of air-conditioning needed for the new facility would have exceeded the capacity for the eight 1,000-ton absorption units which have been carrying all the load, Parsons noted.

A third 3,350-ton unit is on order and will be installed next year, Parsons added.

Milk producers to meet here

About 1,500 persons are expected for the annual meeting here of the Associated Milk Producers Inc., Southern Division, July 10.

The meeting starts at 10 a.m. in Sbsia Dining Hall and will continue until mid-afternoon.

George Knigge of Houston, president of the Southern Division, said the annual meeting's purpose is to report to membership on current operations and to discuss plans for the coming year.

Serologist attends Lubbock meeting

Dr. William L. Schwartz, serologist for the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory at Texas A&M, will participate in the 19th annual Swine Short Course Thursday and Friday in Lubbock.

He will give a report on services available at the diagnostic laboratory.

Ag Economics to study Spanish peanut uses

The first nationwide study of new markets for the Spanish peanut industry in the last decade has been contracted to the Texas Agricultural Market Research and Development Center in the Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology.

The $20,000 project will attempt to analyze the market potential for southwestern peanuts for the Texas Peanut Growers Association and the Economic Research Division, U.S.D.A., Dr. Robert Branson, coordinator of the Market Research and Development Center, announced.

"We're going to be interested in any new products or possibilities, such as new cereals and snack foods," the marketing professor said.

USDA seeks cut in '72 egg output

To avoid the extremely depressed prices of the first half of 1971, the U.S. Department of Agriculture is recommending that egg production for the first half of 1972 be reduced by 3 percent. Output at this level would result in per capita supplies near 1970 levels but below the first half of 1971 production.

1943 graduate gets promotion

Eastex Packaging Inc. has appointed Willard I. Dowling, Jr., general manager of its Piedmont Division in Charlotte, N. C.

Dowling graduated from Texas A&M University in 1943 with a B.S. degree in chemistry and has completed the American Management Association's General Management School at Syracuse University. He received an R.O.T.C. commission in the U. S. Army upon graduation from Texas A&M and obtained the rank of major before his discharge from active duty.

A&M publication tells computer uses

Texas A&M's Office of Planning and Analytical Studies has prepared a publication outlining techniques for using computers to aid in master planning at institutions of higher learning.

Dr. Jack K. Williams, Texas A&M president, said complimentary copies of the document have been sent to the presidents of all senior colleges and universities in Texas, as well as to the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

The publication, entitled "Computer Assisted Planning at Texas A&M University," is based on a study headed by Dr. Charles Pinnell, planning and analytical studies director.

Pinnell said the publication relates to a two-year study conducted by Texas A&M for the Coordinating Board, resulting in the publication in 1968 of a five-volume set of manuals entitled "Guidelines For Planning in Colleges and Universities."

'69 graduate promoted

James M. Gabler, 1969 Texas A&M graduate from Longview, has been promoted to Army captain in Washington, D. C.

Gabler is operations officer of the Automatic Data Processing Systems Development Branch at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. He studied computer science and received the master's degree at Texas A&M.
