A&M has 881 candidates for summer school graduation

Texas A&M has 881 degree candidates for summer school graduation, Admission and Records Dean H. L. Heaton announced Thursday.

Students filing for degrees include 418 bachelor's, 332 master's and 131 doctoral, including 120 for the doctor of philosophy degree.

Heaton said diplomas will be dated Aug. 20 for graduates of both summer sessions.

Texas A&M holds no graduation exercise for summer school graduates. The second summer session ended Friday.

Diplomas will be mailed to the graduates in late September and early October, Heaton said.

Philosophy will gain faculty member

Dr. Stanley R. Carpenter will join the Philosophy and Humanities Department at Texas A&M University this fall to handle science-oriented courses.

A former engineering and physics instructor at Rose Polytechnical Institute, Carpenter will be an assistant professor, announced Dr. Manuel M. Davenport.

The department head said Carpenter will teach graduate courses in the philosophy of science and mathematical logic. He also will develop new courses in computer research methods for humanities and the social sciences.

appointed to the newly created position of system manager for technical services. John Merchant has been named an assistant director of the department, with Charles E. Brunt promoted to manager of construction and L. J. Grubbs promoted to assistant manager.

The appointments are effective Sept. 1.

Stephens recently retired from the Air Force with the rank of colonel. He is a 1938 architectural engineering graduate of Texas A&M and is a registered professional engineer.

Mothers' Clubs board to meet here

Executive Board members of the Federation of Texas A&M University Mothers' Clubs will hold their first meeting of the 1971-72 school year here Saturday.

Mrs. S. T. Sikes of Houston, Federation president, expects 60 board members for the 8:30 a.m. meeting in the Memorial Student Center.

Attendance will include members of the Federation Executive Board and presidents from most of the state's 51 area clubs.

Club projects for the new school year will be discussed and adopted, Mrs. Sikes said. University officials also will brief the mothers on university plans.

A&M given $20,623 for pesticide study

The National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences has awarded Texas A&M a $20,623 grant to continue a study of the effects of pesticides on behavior.

Studies concerning the effects of DDT and parathion were initiated here last year by Dr. Albert J. Casey and Dr. Anthony E. Bourgeois of the Psychology Department.

The grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare agency will support the professors' work through August of 1972.

Ranch management seminar set

A Ranch Management Seminar sponsored jointly by the Texas and American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers will be conducted at Texas Tech University Oct. 4-8.

The announcement comes from James I. Mallett, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and secretary-treasurer of the Texas Society.

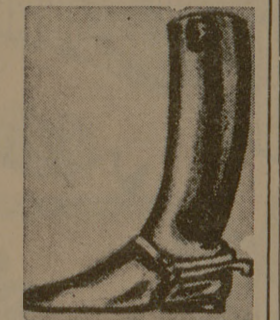

The seminar will deal with range management, stocking rates, cow-calf nutrition, breed selection and improvement, livestock marketing and price forecasting, cost and income, cash flow, and profit maximization. Emphasis will be on analytical techniques and computerized methods of bringing all managerial variables together for both planning and operating a ranch business.

Police relations institute set

Texas A&M will host law enforcement officials and community leaders Aug. 29 through Sept. 2 for the 14th annual Police-Community Relations Institute.

The program is conducted by the Engineering Extension Service's Police Training Division in cooperation with the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Assisting with the program are

New Educational Media head named

Courtney H. Smith has been named director of the Educational Media Center, succeeding William H. Lowry as head of the audio-visual and reproduction services center.

Smith will be an assistant professor in the Industrial Education Department with teaching responsibilities in instructional systems technology (audio-visual communication), announced Dr. James L. Boone.

The department head said Smith's appointment is effective Sept. 1.

The Educational Media Center is operated through the Industrial Education Department of the College of Education and the university.

Library will have separate cataloger

Mrs. Helen H. Britton, formerly of Ohio State University, will join the Texas A&M libraries staff this fall as senior separate cataloger.

Her appointment, effective Sept. 1 with faculty rank as assistant professor, was announced by Director of Libraries John B. Smith.

Mrs. Britton has been at Ohio State since 1962. She also served in Philadelphia's Free Library and the Louisiana state library. She taught English at Bishop College, Tuskegee Institute and Grambling College, among others.

Chemistry professor named journal editor

Dr. Bruno J. Zwolinski of Texas A&M has been appointed editor of the "Journal of Chemical and Engineering Data," quarterly publication of the American Chemical Society.

Zwolinski is a chemistry professor and director of the Thermodynamics Research Center.

He succeeds Dr. Bruce H. Sage, emeritus professor at California Institute of Technology and editor since 1965.

The Journal is one of 21 ACS publications covering the major fields of chemistry and chemical engineering.

The Church.. For a Fuller Life.. For You..

MAKE-BELIEVE

This is make-believe... trying a bundle to a stick and pretending to set forth on a great journey. His lively little imagination glows. Maybe, right around that bend in the road, he'll run smack into a big brown bear...

That's a "scary" idea. So he takes off his hat, puts down his bundle, and plays at home. Yes... it's fun to make-believe.

Home, just now, is his place. In it, he feels a wonderful sense of security, basking in his parents' love, knowing by instinct that they are there to help and guide him.

At night when he kneels to say his prayers, his mother tells him the story of Christ. She is preparing him for the day when he will become a more active part of the Church. She knows that, during his life, when he makes real journeys, the Church will be his home, and that it will help protect and guide him when she cannot.

BVDC gets $22,570 state grant

AUSTIN—Gov. Preston Smith has approved a grant of $22,570 to Brazos Valley Development Council for developing a regional law enforcement teletype network.

The money will come from the Criminal Justice Council, which oversees statewide law enforcement planning and administers funds from the U.S. Department of Justice for crime control projects in Texas.

Units of local government will provide a cash match of $7,944.

Nine teletype stations will be opened in the region, at Anderson, Brenham, Bryan, Caldwell, Centerville, College Station, Hearne, Madisonville and Navasota.

These new stations will use automatic, 100-word-per-minute teletype terminals, providing the region direct teletype communications for the first time.
