Karate Club begins classes

The Tae Kwon Do Karate Club is registering students through Wednesday for beginning and advanced karate classes this fall.

Chief instructor David Jordan said interested persons should contact him at 846-0895, meet Tuesday at 5 p.m. in 261 White Coliseum or at the Karate Institute, 2011 S. College, at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Demonstrations and registration will be conducted at the Tuesday and Wednesday meetings.

The Tae Kwon Do Club is affiliated with the U. S. Karate Association, the only nationally-recognized group. Jordan holds the second degree black belt and is Texas' representative to the U. S. Karate Association. Jordan will be assisted by several instructor aides.

Fox appointed to Navy committee

Dr. M. J. Fox, associate professor of industrial engineering at A&M, has been appointed to a three-year term on the National Navy Resolutions Committee of the Reserve Officers Association.

Announcement was made by Capt. Oliver W. Majors, vice-president of the organization.

The committee has responsibility for formulating resolutions to be presented at the national convention.

Fox, the only Texan on the committee, holds the rank of commander and is vice president of naval affairs for the Texas association. He will attend the fall service committee conference at Omaha Oct. 2.

A&M to sponsor Ihms in lecture tour

Orian L. Ihms has completed summer course preparation at Oak Ridge, Tenn., for an atomic energy lecture A&M will sponsor in West and Southwest Texas schools during 1971-72.

He will begin the tour Sept. 7 at Brownwood High School.

Ihms completed an eight-week Dak Ridge Associated Universities course in six weeks and is making final preparations.

The former Llano Junior High School science teacher will bring a panel truck carrying "This Atomic World" demonstration lecture equipment to the campus next week. Enroute he will visit a Tennessee Valley Authority nuclear power plant.

Chemical Foundation awards A&M $3,000

Allied Chemical Foundation has awarded A&M $3,000 for continuation of an animal science fellowship initiated last year.

R. E. Jones Jr. and Paul Culp of Allied Chemical Corp. presented the funds to A&M President Jack K. Williams Thursday during informal campus ceremonies.

Jones, a 1953 A&M graduate, is Allied Chemical's area manager for liquid feed in Houston, Culp, who received his degree from A&M in 1959, is assistant sales manager for liquid feed in Omaha.

Dr. L. S. Pope, associate dean of agriculture, and Dorsey McCrory, development director, joined Dr. Williams in accepting the fellowship award.

Faculty reception to be held Sept. 7

The annual president's reception for A&M faculty and staff will be held Sept. 7 in the Memorial Student Center ballroom.

New faculty-staff members will be honored guests at the 7-9 p.m. reception, but President Jack K. Williams emphasized that all faculty-staff and their spouses are cordially invited, along with retired personnel and their spouses and widows of former faculty-staff members.

President and Mrs. Williams will be joined in the receiving line by Dr. and Mrs. John C. Calhoun Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Tom D. Cherry. Dr. Calhoun, currently vice president for programs, assumes duties Sept. 1 as vice president for academic affairs. Cherry is vice president for business affairs.

New faculty welcomed by Calhoun Aug. 25

Formal welcome was extended Aug. 25 to 124 new A&M faculty-staff members who attended a special orientation program in the Memorial Student Center.

"We are happy to have you join the A&M family and look forward to a productive year," noted Dr. John C. Calhoun Jr., who officially welcomed the newcomers on behalf of President Jack K. Williams who was out of town.

Dr. Calhoun, vice president for programs, assumes duties Sept. 1 as vice president for academic affairs. He succeeds Dr. Horace R. Byers, who presided at the orientation.

Military Science Dept. receives new officers

Eight new Army officers and non-commissioned officers have been assigned in the Military Science Department at A&M, Col. Thomas R. Parsons announced.

Working with Army ROTC cadets will be Lt. Col. Donald E. Smith, executive officer; Maj. Russell Pierre Jr. and Maj. Benjamin R. Schlapak, basic section; M. Sgt. Alfred H. Petty Jr., advanced section; Maj. Thomas L. Avant, administrative officer, and S. Sgt. Joe B. Bryant III, administrative section.

Colonel Parsons said two others have future duty dates.

Young Bros. of Waco awarded Easterwood Airport contract

COLLEGE STATION—A $569,735.50 contract was awarded Tuesday by the Texas A&M University System Board of Directors to Young Brothers Inc. of Waco for renovation of Easterwood Airport.

Work is expected to begin within a month.

The contract includes overlay, leveling and strengthening Runway 16/34, the instrument runway for the community airport which is owned and operated by the university.

Other improvements included in the contract are repair of the 16/34 taxiways, reconstruction and expansion of the parking apron and site preparation for an instrument landing system.

Texas A&M initiated the renovation project after receiving a matching grant through the Federal Aviation Administration's Airport Development Program.

In addition to the work covered in the contract with the Waco firm, the overall project includes acquisition of a clear-zone easement for Runway 16 and relocation of a road near the south end of Runway 34.

The federal government will pay the entire cost for ILS equipment installation, university officials noted.
