

CADET SLOUCH by Jim Earle

"Here it is! The dream schedule; I'm off at 10 o'clock on Friday! Too bad I couldn't work in but two courses this semester!"

Woman, 74, dies after making 260 Atlantic crossing by jet

AMSTERDAM (AP)—The transatlantic travels of a Cleveland, Ohio, widow and her grandson ended Wednesday when she died within earshot of the big jets she had used almost daily this summer.

Sarah Krasnoff, 74, died in an Amsterdam hotel. Doctor's orders grounded her Tuesday after she suffered a heart attack.

The hotel was nearby Amsterdam's Schiphol International Airport, where she and grandson Howard Gelfand, 14, had landed in KLM Royal Dutch jetliners—only to take first-class accommodations on return flights to New York.

Mrs. Krasnoff's son-in-law, Leonard Gelfand of Cleveland, arrived early Wednesday. He learned of her death on his arrival at the hotel.

Gelfand said he had spoken with his son Howard but was still unable to explain why the youth and his grandmother made their almost daily flights.

"I don't really know how all this flying got started," he said. "Things are just very confusing. I last saw my son on July 8 and since then have only had post cards."

Gelfand said his first wife, Howard's mother, had died in 1960 and that since then the boy had spent much of his time living with his grandmother. He said he lost track of them in July and had started legal action against Mrs. Krasnoff "as a way of locating my son."

Gelfand said "so far as I know" Mrs. Krasnoff was not a wealthy woman. But he added her brother died in 1966 and conceivably could have willed her a large inheritance.

Hotel personnel described the flying widow as a "charming old lady."

Gelfand's lawyer in Cleveland, Gerald B. Chatman, said Mrs. Krasnoff had eluded Gelfand about eight days after he got word she was in Cleveland and had booked plane space to New York.

"She hid at the airport and dashed to the plane at the last minute before anyone could stop her," Chatman said.

The youth was reported sleeping and in good condition Wednesday at the Amsterdam motel.

"We will have to sort things out from here," Gelfand said.

A KLM official estimated Mrs. Krasnoff, the widow of a dairy store owner, spent nearly $140,000 for transatlantic plane tickets during her summer travels. She and her grandson were credited by one source with making 160 crossings since spring, but Gelfand said they began the trips only last July.

Round-trip fare for their crossing and immediate return would be about $1,100, KLM estimated. That would make just under 130 roundtrips for $140,000.

KLM confirmed the pair made the trip on innumerable occasions. When flight personnel asked about the repeated trips, they received evasive answers, such as "Grandma likes flying," or "My grandson would like to be a pilot."

New U.S. economic policy brings hardships to Canada

NEW YORK (AP)—While much of America watches the reaction of the Japanese yen and the German mark to the new U.S. economic plan, one of the greatest impacts is likely to be not overseas but right next door in Canada.

Two-thirds of Canada's exports go to the United States, a total of about $10.6 billion a year. About $2.5 billion of these will be affected by a 10 per cent import surcharge, meaning inevitable damage to the Canadian economy.

That economy hardly was in the position to take such a blow. It too had suffered through a frustrating downturn that it was shaking only gradually. Unemployment in the first half of the year topped 6 per cent, and could go higher.

During the past 15 months the Canadians say they had willingly absorbed what amounted to a self-imposed surcharge by permitting their dollar to float from a pegged price of 92.5 cents to better than 97 cents.

In the words of a Canadian government official, "We had, in effect, made a 7 per cent contribution for more than a year."

Civil right leader gives history of black people

Participants in the 14th annual Police-Community Relations Institute here received a mini-history of the Negro people Wednesday from one of Houston's civil rights leaders.

Larry Thomas, area director for the Houston Metropolitan Ministries, asked the 100 men and women attending the A&M institute to imagine themselves black as he traced Negro history in America from 1825 to the present.

The black leader noted the turning point as World War I when blacks returned from the war demanding the freedoms and rights of the white society.

The result was the Klu Klux Klan, he said, and "some 6,000 blacks were either lynched or burned."

Decorations are given to two men officers at A&M

Air Force decorations were awarded Wednesday to two new officers in the Aerospace Studies Department at Texas A&M University.

Recipients of the Meritorious Service Medal and Commendation Medal were Maj. Melton G. Holubec and Maj. Milton R. Halbert, respectively.

Presentations were made by Col. Robert F. Crossland, professor of aerospace studies and ranking Air Force officer at A&M.

Major Holubec was cited for outstanding service as wing academic advisor in the Air University Academic Instructor and Allied Officer School at Maxwell AFB, Ala. Curriculum improvement and teacher training advances were credited to the 1954 Texas A&M graduate.

Major Halbert, also an A&M graduate, was recognized for service as project officer for the Space and Missile Systems, Organization at Norton AFB, Calif. He worked in system effectiveness and design studies for the deputy for reentry systems.

Holubec, formerly of Rowena, and Halbert of George West were among seven new officers assigned to Texas A&M this year. Major Holubec senior division chief, Major Halbert an instructor in the senior division.

"The brothers and sisters decided to cool it for awhile," he recounted.

Thomas pointed out blacks today face many of the same problems they have faced for many years. He said today's headlines about school integration are almost the same as the headlines in the mid-1950s when integration was first ruled by the U.S. Supreme Court.

"Maybe you can give me some answers to dissatisfied questions

I receive daily," he asked. Thomas attended group sessions after his talk and headed a feedback session for the institute members.

He is one of the three original organizers of Hope Development, Inc., which publishes Houston's largest weekly black newspapers, and has spent the past eight years working with people in the 4th Ward.

He quit the Harris County Community Action Agency, the local war on poverty program, because he felt the agency was not meeting the needs of the poor.

Institute sessions continue through noon Thursday at the Memorial Student Center, with small group interaction scheduled for the remainder of the program.

Policemen, city officials, social workers and community leaders are attending the workshop to improve the relationship between the community and police.

Bulletin Board

Tonight
Cepheid Variable Science Fiction Club will meet in Room 3B of the Memorial Student Center. The 7:30 meeting is open to all interested in science fiction.

Rugby Club of A&M will hold a seminar and film showing at 8 in the Assembly room of the MSC. The public is invited at no charge.

RESTAURANT

Over 100 Chinese & American Dishes

The Place to Dine When Short of Time
Open 7 Days A Week
11 a. m. - 2 p. m. 5 p. m. - 10 p. m.

AGGIE SPECIAL LUNCH
Chinese — $1.25
American — $1.30

Including Drink
Please Show I.D.

Also Visit

CLUB TOKYO

Exotic Drinks In An Atmosphere of Oriental Splendor.

For Membership Information
Call 822-1301

THE OFFICIAL Dallas Cowboy "Insiders" NEWSLETTER

Read it every Friday in

The Daily Eagle

This is the official authorized Dallas Cowboy publication that sells by subscription for $6.00 a year, brought free to you each Friday only in the Daily Eagle.

THE NEWSLETTER CONTAINS INFORMATION AND SCOUTING REPORTS ABOUT THE DALLAS COWBOYS AND THEIR UPCOMING OPPONENT FOR THE WEEK. IT FEATURES STORIES AND COMMENTS BY THE MOST RESPECTED SPORTS WRITERS AND PERSONALITIES, SUCH AS:

- FRANK GIFFORD SPORTS ANNOUNCER ABC-TV
- FRANK LUKSA SPORTS EDITOR FT. WORTH STAR TELEGRAM
- ANDY ANDERSON SPORTS EDITOR FT. WORTH PRESS
- KYLE ROTE FOOTBALL ANALYST NBC-TV
- BLACKIE SHERROD SPORTS EDITOR DALLAS TIMES HERALD

FREE Aggie Football Calendars

NOW AVAILABLE

AT

University NATIONAL BANK
COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS 77840

The Battalion

Opinions expressed in The Battalion are those of the student writers only. The Battalion is a non-tax-supported, non-profit, self-supporting educational enterprise edited and operated by students as a university and community newspaper.

LETTERS POLICY

Letters to the editor must be typed, double-spaced, and no more than 300 words in length. They must be signed, although the writer's name will be withheld by arrangement with the editor. Address correspondence to Listen Up, The Battalion, Room 217, Services Building, College Station, Texas 77843.

Members of the Student Publications Board are: Jim Lindsey, chairman; H. F. Eilers, College of Liberal Arts; F. S. White, College of Engineering; Dr. Ass B. Childers, Jr., College of Veterinary Medicine; Herbert H. Brevard, College of Agriculture; and Roger Miller, student.

Represented nationally by National Educational Advertising Services, Inc., New York City, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The Battalion, a student newspaper at Texas A&M, is published in College Station, Texas, daily except Saturday, Sunday, Monday, and holiday periods, September through May, and once a week during summer school.

MEMBER

The Associated Press, Texas Press Association
The Associated Collegiate Press

Mail subscriptions are $3.50 per semester; $6 per school year; $6.50 per full year. All subscriptions subject to 5% sales tax. Advertising rate furnished on request. Address: The Battalion, Room 217, Services Building, College Station, Texas 77843.

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to the use for reproduction of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in the paper and local news of spontaneous origin published herein. Rights of republication of all other matter herein are also reserved.
Second-Class postage paid at College Station, Texas.

EDITOR HAYDEN WHITSETT
Managing Editor Doug Dilley
News Editor Sue Davis
Sports Editor John Currylo
Assistant Sports Editor Bill Henry