

Linebacker Luebbehusen ready for third battle with LSU

By JOHN CURYLO
Battalion Sports Editor

Going to Baton Rouge to play football against a very mean LSU Tiger team might be enough to upset some people, but easy-going Steve Luebbehusen isn't worried a bit.

"It'll be a big game," the Aggie linebacker said. "I'm really looking forward to it."

The senior, who played high school ball at Fort Worth Eastern Hills, doesn't care for the idea that his two varsity letters were on teams that finished 3-7 and 2-9.

"Since I'm a senior, I want to go out on a good note," Luebbehusen explained. "I want to play well enough to help the team win a few games."

As a freshman, he was All-SWC, and he was highly touted as a sophomore. Then, as a junior last season, he played most of the season with a leg injury. He's back in good health this year, though, and he has an air of confidence about the A&M defensive unit.

"We're running just one basic defense this year, instead of switching around," Luebbehusen said. "It's a setup made for us. We'll be a very aggressive team this year."

Like his teammates, Steve is conscious of fan support. He expressed his thoughts about the support of the community at the beginning of practice in August.

"We really appreciate it," he said. "We need that kind of enthusiasm. It sure helps to know that everybody is behind us like that."

Luebbehusen said also that the attitude of the players is "real good" and that workouts have been going well thus far. He was optimistic about the move of Brad Dusek from fullback to safety and Robert Murski from cornerback to split end.

"Brad's a great natural athlete," he said. "He made some big plays the other night. Robert has a world of talent, and he'll be a fine receiver."

Luebbehusen, in addition to his athletic prowess, is a fine student. A finance major, his overall grade point ratio is 3.1. He is out of the ordinary at A&M in that he will graduate in May. His plans after that are not definite, though.

"I guess I'll be working in a bank somewhere," he said. "Or maybe I'll go to Fort Worth and find something to do there."

At 6-0 and 202, the veteran won't have to worry about what he does in the Tiger Den Saturday night—that should be LSU's problem.
