

Ag Fish host quarterback-strong Baylor Cubs tonight

By BILL HENRY
Assistant Sports Editor

Riding the arm of all-state quarterback Robert Armstrong, the Baylor Cubs will visit the Texas A&M Fish in Kyle Field tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The Cubs come here with a 0-1 record after last Thursday night's loss to the Texas Yearlings, 44-7. The Fish stand undefeated with last week's decisive victory over the TCU Wogs, 24-13.

Baylor's strong point this season is its superb quarterbacks. The Cubs list six on this year's freshman roster, five of which have made all-state. Robert Armstrong, the Cubs' starting signal caller, was touted last spring as one of the state's top football candidates. Armstrong hails from the same high school as Aggie quarterback Lex James, Houston

Sam Houston.

"I look for Baylor to pass a lot," stated Fish coach Jim Kellar. "Armstrong was probably the best in the state last year. They are also blessed with good receivers."

Baylor works pretty equally between the run and the pass, as shown in the Texas game, as it picked up eight first downs rushing and nine passing. The yardage was 114 yards rushing and 196 passing.

Neal Jefferey, 6-1 175, from Overland Park, Kan., leads the team in passing by hitting seven of 14 for 124 yards with two interceptions. Armstrong, 5-11, 193, leads the team in rushing with 17 carries for 52 yards. He is second in passing, hitting eight of 19 with four interceptions. Jeffery alternates with Armstrong at the quarterback slot.

Karl Ray, 5-10, 170, from Beaumont South Park, leads the Cub receivers with five receptions for 95 yards. Lloyd Kitchen takes the runner-up spot with five receptions for 48 yards.

In last week's game against Texas, the Cubs' big problem was the number of mistakes. Baylor gave up six turnovers, all on interceptions, with Texas gaining 183 yards in returning them.

The score is not indicative of the way Baylor played. Up until the fourth quarter, the Cubs were very much in the game. They picked up 310 yards to Texas' 400 and picked up 17 first downs to the Yearlings' 21.

"To beat Baylor, we must stop their quarterbacks," stated Kellar. "We've got to get a good pass rush on Armstrong and Jeffrey and not let them complete as many passes as they did last week against Texas."

Kellar was pleased with the performance of the Fish in last week's victory over TCU, who is blessed with as many blue chip players as is Baylor.

"I was real pleased with the aggressiveness of the kids," Kellar said. "We've got to hold onto the football and quit getting our passes intercepted, though, to win football games."

Students are admitted free with activity cards and non-students may purchase tickets at G. Rollie White Coliseum starting at 5:30 p.m. Adult ducats are $1.00 while children's can be purchased for 50 cents.

Aggies head west to water polo games

The Texas A&M Water Polo Club will travel to the University of New Mexico this weekend for a water polo tournament Saturday in Albuquerque.

The team, which is coached by Dennis Fosdick, is 3-0 for the season, having defeated the University of Texas in the process. Fosdick feels that his men yet by the young Aggie ball-players.

"The team should learn a lot more than it has already," Fosdick said. "This should prepare the boys very well for the Southwest Water Polo Championships which will be held here in November."

The starting team for the Ag-

Les Hamman and Fred Myers

should come out fairly well in this competition, but he doesn't know just how well because he doesn't know anything about the other teams entered.

gies includes Steve Engle, at the goalie spot; Les Hamman, Fred Myers, Steve Prentice, Mike Hicks, Steve Sonnenberg, and Eric Wolff.

"I would think that we should have been seeded at least in the top two teams in the tournament," said Fosdick, "but I suppose the other teams knew nothing about us. So New Mexico has been seeded first, with Brigham Young University in second."

The A&M squad will play its first game against the team from Northern Colorado at 8:30 and hopefully will go on farther in the competition. Every team will play at least three games in the tournament.

Other teams entered in the competition will be the University of Arizona and the University of Wyoming.

The competition in the tournament should be the toughest faced

More changes made by Oiler coach in effort to end Houston's losing streak

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Oilers backfield took on more changes Wednesday when head coach Ed Hughes moved rugged Leroy Sledge into the starting fullback slot.

Sledge, a highly touted prospect hampered by injuries since training camp started, moved ahead of second year man Joe Dawkins and will join rookie quarterback Dan Pastorini, who also will be making his first start for the Oilers.

There also was the possibility of a third new face in the Oilers' starting backfield for Sunday's battle against Detroit in the Astrodome.

Starting running back Woody Campbell is questionable for the game with a groin injury. Hughes said if Campbell could not go, he'll start either Mike Richardson, or rookie Ward Walsh.

Sledge came closest to being a threat in last week's 22-13 loss to unbeaten Washington. Sledge rushed for 31 of Houston's 46 yards and caught a 5-yard touchdown pass.

Getting an offensive attack moving consistently continues to be a major problem with the Oilers, still looking for their first victory of the season after three losses and one tie.

"The defense has played several games well enough to win," Hughes said. "We're just making mistakes on offense. After looking at the films, you can see it's just a matter of a running back not hitting the hole or someone missing a block."

Hughes announced Tuesday he would start Pastorini, the only one of his three quarterbacks who has not started. Veteran Charley Johnson has started three games and rookie Lynn Dickey started one.

Pastorini, who does the Oiler punting and is fourth in the American Conference, played an outstanding second half against Kansas City.

Other Oiler injuries, linebacker George Webster and tackle Walt Suggs, remained questionable for the Detroit game with knee injuries. Guard Ron Saul also was doubtful.
