

Rookies' efforts give Pittsburgh 4-3 win in now-even World Series

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Reserve catcher Milt May and reserve Bruce Kison, a pair of 21-year-old rookies with unflinching nerves, combined their efforts to bring the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night in the fourth game of the World Series.

May, batting for Kison, drove in the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning with a pinch-hit single after the baby-faced but mean right-hander had stilled Baltimore's bats on 6 1-3 innings of one-hit pitching.

Their steel-nerved performances, before an anticipated record television audience of close to 60 million, watching the first night game in Series history, pulled the Pirates even with the Orioles at two victories apiece in the best-of-seven showdown.

And it made a record Three Rivers Stadium crowd of 51,378 deliriously happy at the end of a tense, dramatic struggle in which their favorite, Roberto Clemente, lost a homer on a disputed foul call by umpire John Rice.

Kison came on for starter Luke Walker after the Orioles struck for three quick runs in the first inning, got the last out of the inning and was virtually untouchable through the next six innings.

Only Paul Blair was able to get a hit, a bloop double, as the kid who was pitching for Waterbury in the Eastern League last year, set the Orioles down, never allowing another Baltimore runner to reach second base.

The Pirates battled back to tie on a run-producing double by Willie Stargell and two run-producing hits — a single and double — by Al Oliver, but were still deadlocked when the seventh inning began.

With one out, Bob Robertson got Pittsburgh started with a single to center off reliever Eddie Watt. Manny Sanguillen followed with another single to center. Pirates' Manager Danny Murtaugh immediately went to his bench, sending up Vic Davalillo to pinch hit for Jackie Hernandez.

Davalillo lofted a long fly to left center that Paul Blair raced under, but the usually sure-fingered fielder dropped the drive for an error.

Robertson, forced to hold up, was only able to reach third and Sanguillen, running with a full head of steam, raced halfway between second and third before he realized Robertson still was at third.

Sanguillen was eventually run down, leaving runners on first and third, as Murtaugh tapped young May for pinch-hit duty.

Veteran reliever took over for Kison, retired the last six men in order and saved it for the brash Kison, who is engaged to be married this Sunday — the scheduled date of the seventh World Series game.

Until the Pirates finally broke through for the clincher in the seventh, it appeared that the teams might play all night in the precedent-shattering game under lights, for the Pirates were robbed at least once and possibly twice.

The second instance occurred in the sixth inning when, with men on first and third, Orioles' third baseman Brooks Robinson made a diving catch of Rich Hebner's line drive. That, however, only brought a sigh from the record crowd.

The first instance brought a major rhabarb.

It occurred in the third inning with one out and Hebner on first after a single with the Pirates trailing 3-2. Clemente then hit a long drive off the right field wall right at the foul line and Rice signalled foul.

Pirate third base Coach Don Leppert raced down to argue the call and the normally placid Murtaugh also came out to dispute the decision. As always, the arguers lost to the umpire. Pirate pitchers Bob Moose and Bob Johnson, in the bullpen at the time, later said the drive was foul.

Clemente stepped back up when the argument ended and drilled the next pitch for his sixth hit of the Series, sending Hebner second. One out later, Oliver tied the score with a run-producing single.

The Orioles started out as they would put it out of their mind before Pittsburgh starter Luke Walker could get an out. Bob Mark Belanger and Merv Rettenmund collected singles to load the bases in the first inning.

Blair scored on a passed ball by Baltimore catcher Andy Ettema, Belanger came home on a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson and John Powell drove in a run with a sacrifice fly that drove Oliver to the warning track right center field.

TCU scouting report

Judy should set Frog passing record this week

By MICHAEL RICE
Battalion Sports Writer

With A&M going downhill rather rapidly this season, the TCU Horned Frogs will try to narrow the slim lead A&M holds over them this Saturday in the series record between the two schools.

Currently the Aggies lead 32-27-7 in series play, while TCU leads in conference play with 26-15-6.

Last week, TCU was tied by the Oklahoma State Cowboys 14-14, as the Cowboys came from behind in the final two minutes of the game.

TCU maintains three top spots in the SWC. Steve Judy's 54-yard pass to Freddie Pouncy and Bobby Davis' 59-yard run are the best to date. Also, Lyle Blackwood's 83 yard interception return against the Washington Huskies is a top mark.

If all goes well for TCU's man behind the ball in the aerial department, quarterback Judy (187) will set a record in passing yardage for TCU this week. He now needs only 17 yards to reach the mark of 3,384 set by Sammy Baugh in 1936.

For this season Judy has completed 28 of 60 passes for 363 yards and an average of 467. He has also run the ball for 33 yards to hold his offensive total to 396 yards.

Judy is backed up by sophomore Kent Marshall, who has put the ball into the air 18 times for 90 yards while running the ball 47 times for 122 yards. Marshall also leads the pack on the punting squad with 20 kicks for 707 yards, averaging 35.4 yards per kick.

At the fullback position is senior Bobby Davis (202) with classmate Ken Balfanz (190) as his second. Davis has carried the ball 59 times to equal Judy's offensive total of 396 yards.

Left halfbacks for the Frogs include Bill Sadler (197) and Larry Harris (185). Sadler has come across the line with the ball 6 times for 22 yards while Harris has attempted 48 carries for 177 yards.

Flanker Steve Patterson (178), a sophomore, has 74 yards to his name on 22 attempts. Junior Lane Bowen (211) is behind him in this position.

Playing split end for TCU is Freddie Pouncy (165), a junior, with a backup man in Larry Speake (180), a senior. Ronnie Peoples (221) and senior John Hetherly fill the tight end spot on the team. Both are varsity lettermen.

On the line for the Horned Frogs are a number of not-so-large players. Sidney Bond (262), at the left tackle position, and Les Cowan (267), who plays at left guard, are the only fair sized men on the team.

Starting at left guard this week will be Scott Walker (215), who is a little more fleet of foot

SWC action has Texas and Arkansas in Little Rock Saturday afternoon

By BILL HENRY

Big Shootout Number III is this week, but it lacks the luster of the past two seasons when in 1969 Texas won 15-14 to take the national championship and last year when the Horns bombarded the Razorbacks 42-7.

In a nationally televised game, the Texas Longhorns travel to Little Rock for an afternoon game with the Razorbacks. This year's game will not be like the last two due to the fact that both teams have lost a game. Texas will be weaker after last week's loss to the Oklahoma Sooners. Arkansas will be at full speed and will carry a 4-1 record into the game with the lone loss coming at the hands of upstart Tulsa. Joe Ferguson, John Richardson, Bill McClard and company have the best chance in years to break the Longhorn dynasty of SWC titles.

The SMU Mustangs travel to Houston for a game with the Rice Owls starting at 7:30. Both clubs stand in with 1-3 records. Rice has looked more impressive than SMU with a victory over Tulane and an almost-upset of cross-town rival, University of Houston. SMU has defeated only New Mexico State, 28-25. The Mustangs have scored 12 points in their other three games against Oklahoma, Missouri and Air Force while giving up 85 points. It will be the first conference game for both schools.

In this week's only non-conference game, Texas Tech entertains Boston College in Jones Stadium at 7:30 p.m. Tech has won two in a row after losing its first three and can pull its record up to .500 with a win Saturday. Boston College stands 4-1 with victories over Temple, Navy, Richmond and Villanova. Its loss came in the first game of the season against West Virginia. This will be the final non-conference game for the Raiders as they stand 1-1 in SWC play.

Baylor is off this week to get ready for its game next Saturday with the Texas Aggies in College Station.

than Cowan. The center post will be manned by Rick Garnett (206) and Leon Bartlett (207), both sophomores. At right guard is starter Guy Morriss (224), with the right tackle spot filled by Jerry Wauson, a 219 pound junior letterman.

Gary Whitman (200) will be playing at the monster man spot, while his classmate, Harold Muckleroy (178), will hold down the safety position.

Halfbacks on the squad are David Dixon (186), and David McGinnis (176). Kicking specialists for TCU are Marshall, Hetherly, and Berl Simmons (placements).

Looking at the overall game for the Frogs, the offense is weak because of inexperience and lack of depth in the offensive line. Also a problem on offense is a thin backfield. The defense for TCU is a tough, aggressive one, which is very capable of containing the quarterback.
