

Supreme Court to hear prof's case

'Great Pumpkin Autocross' planned for this Halloween

A "Great Pumpkin Autocross" will be run Sunday at the Texas A&M University Research Annex for all area sports car enthusiasts. Sponsored by the Sports Car Club, the Halloween autocross is a one-car-at-a-time test of a driver's skill and car performance on a specially-marked course. President Kerry Bonner noted that "Detroit iron" (larger American-made cars) are also invited to participate. Information and entry forms can be obtained at a 7:30 p.m. Wednesday meeting of the TAMSCC. It will be held at the old College Station City Hall, 101 N. Church. "Drivers may enter Sunday at the annex," Bonner said. Practice runs will start at 8 a.m. and close at 11 a.m. Interested drivers and spectators should go to the south end of the old Bryan AFB taxi apron.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court agreed Tuesday to hear a Wisconsin case involving a college professor who said his contract was not renewed because he publicly criticized the college administration. Earlier this year the court had agreed to hear the same issue in a Texas case. In the latest case the Supreme Court agreed to hear the appeal of the Wisconsin Board of Regents of State Colleges which is seeking overturn of lower court decisions in favor of David F. Roth who was fired from his job as assistant professor at the Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh. Roth was employed in 1968 for one academic year and was notified in January 1969 that his teaching contract would not be renewed for another year. Under Wisconsin law, state university teachers are hired on a probationary basis and can be released without formal charges until they have achieved tenure through four years continuous service. Although no reason was given for Roth's release, he contended he was fired because he spoke out against the university administrators and regents during disturbances at the school in 1968-69. The U.S. District Court for the western district of Wisconsin upheld Roth's contention that this violated his right to free speech and ordered the university to give its reasons for firing Roth and to give him a hearing. The U.S. Court of Appeals in Chicago upheld the district court ruling in favor of Roth.

In June, at the close of the last term, the Court agreed to hear an appeal from the regents and administration of Odessa, Tex., Junior College against an opinion by the U.S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans in favor of Robert P. Sindermann, a science teacher who charged he was fired because of his status as president of the Texas College Teachers Association. Both cases will be argued before the court this winter.

The display is to show the various forms of communication the diverse peoples of the world. The display is sponsored by the International Students Association and the United Nations.

Alphabet display to be in MSC

A showcase containing several alphabets of the world will go on display Friday in the Memorial Student Center.

Surplus candy to be collected for retarded

Surplus Halloween candy will be collected again this year to bring Christmas cheer for children at the Austin State School for the Retarded. Mr. and Mrs. James Robinette of Rt. 4, Bryan, are coordinating the drive for the eighth year. Collected candy will be taken to Austin Nov. 8 by the Robinettes for distribution to over 1,000 children who will remain in the state school dorms during the holiday season. Mrs. Robinette said the candy also will be used in speech therapy classes. "The amount of candy collected isn't as important as the remembrance of these forgotten children at Christmas time," Mrs. Robinette said. Collection boxes are placed at Mrs. Beard's Kindergarten, Mrs. Hardaway's Kindergarten, Crockett School, Sul Ross School, Henderson School, College Hills School, South Knoll Elementary School, all three Piggly Wiggly stores, Kroger's, Gibson's, Skaggs Albertsons, Kelly's Toyland, the Brazos Valley Rehabilitation Center, A&M Chemistry Building Room 41 and the Veterinary Services Room 307.

Williams elected as vice chairman of commission

A&M President Jack K. Williams has been elected vice chairman of the Federation of Regional Accrediting Commissions of Higher Education. Selection as FRACHE vice chairman puts Dr. Williams in line for the chairmanship of the national organization next year. He was elected at the group's recent meeting in Chicago. Dr. Williams, who this month is completing his first full year as president, is currently serving a second term as chairman of the Commission on Colleges for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. That association is the regional accrediting agency for 11 southern and southwestern states, including Texas.

Hensel Park

(Continued from page 1) hauled off, and their cement anchors dug up. The brick cooking pits have been rammed by logs and broken in and the brick stolen. Electrical facilities have been ripped off the poles, and lights have been repeatedly shot or broken out, or stolen. Litter consisting of beer cans, paper material, and glass has been found all through the park, down the cycling trails and in the creeks. Over 19,000 barbecue plates have been served in the park by the YMCA alone this year, and over 17 fish fries have been held by various groups. The park is used extensively, and the vandalism continues. It has been estimated that 5 per cent of the people using Hensel Park are guilty of wanton destruction. Another 15 per cent are guilty of practices that result in property damage or theft. Of the remaining users of the park facilities it has been estimated that less than 3 per cent do anything to correct the destructiveness they observe in practice. "Right now, we can't even keep up with the destruction, much less make the improvements," Weston added. "The coordinators of the park are considering locking the park gates and restricting the use of the park only to those who make reservations. If the present trend continues, the park may fall in total unuse in a few years," Weston said.
