

The action continues afterwards as well, from the singing of the War Hymn to telling Pat McDermott, "You done good." For Hugh McElroy and Homer May, it's a quiet corner and a cold drink—and a rest. For Gene Stallings it's a run off the field with a grin.

