

Ags host Texas in traditional classic

Read Classifieds Daily

By JOHN CURYLO Battalion Sports Editor For the first time since 1967, the A&M-Texas game will be one of excitement and competition rather than dread and lopsided-ness. The outcome of Thursday's 1:30 game in Kyle Field will determine who the Southwest Conference champion will be and whether the Aggies play in the Liberty Bowl.

when Gene Stallings' crew upset Arkansas, 17-9 in Little Rock. Then things began happening, things like a decisive 27-10 victory over SMU and an 18-13 thriller over Rice.

managed 18 victories. There have been five ties.

Mike Lord at the ends, Van Odom and Boice Best at the tackles, and Bill Wiebold at middle guard. Lord was injured in the Rice game, and Kent Finley may start. Rusty Pool is another substitute end, while Dan Peoples and James Dubcak play tackle and Mike Bruton middle guard.

A&M had a shot at the title until Saturday, when Texas Tech failed to tie or beat the Razorbacks. After two conference losses, the Aggies bounced back to be a contender. Now it is between Arkansas and Texas again. If Texas wins, they play Penn State in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day. Should the Horns lose or tie, the Razorbacks face the Nittany Lions in Dallas the first day of 1972.

In 1967 the "Big Play" Aggies took a 10-7 win in Kyle Field on an 80 yard pass from Edd Hargett to Bob Long. That was the championship year for A&M.

The defensive secondary has Bland Smith and Lee Hitt at the cornerback positions and David Hoot and Brad Dusek at the safeties. Hitt is leading the conference in interceptions with six. He and Hoot have recovered three fumbles each.

So, with some 51,000 fans watching, a traditional rivalry will be renewed. All the marbles are on the line for Texas, and as much pride is at stake for the Aggies, not to mention the trip to Memphis, Tenn.

In 1963 a controversial call by the officials on a possible interception gave Texas another chance to score a touchdown, and they won 15-13. Many partisan Aggies said it was A&M 13, Texas 9, Referees 6. "Wait 'til next year" was the watchword in College Station. "Next year" saw the Longhorns win 26-7 in Austin, and Stallings was brought in to rejuvenate the athletic program at Aggieland.

Placements will be kicked by Pat McDermott. Although he is only a junior, the soccer style specialist has broken the career mark for Aggie field goal kickers. His 53 yarder in the Baylor game is a school record. Mike Bellar will kick off, and Roberto Payan may substitute for either Bellar or McDermott.

It hasn't always been the contest this Thanksgiving Day may provide. Texas has won 54 of the games in the series, and A&M has

He came close twice, 21-17 and 22-14, before conquering Darrell Royal's Texans. Three barren years followed, but the recent strong showing of the Aggies has brought many deserters back to the A&M bandwagon.

Along with King and Green in the backfield will be fullback Doug Neill and wingback Billy Joe Polasek. Marc Black will be behind Neill, while Joey Herr may start at wingback. Steve Burks and Hugh McElroy will spell Green.
