National lottery for draft shows rare coincidence

WASHINGTON (AP) — By rare coincidence, March 6 drew No. 1 in Wednesday's draft lottery and the following day, March 7, No. 2, putting men born those days in 1953 first in line for next year's callup.

In the safest spot with the highest numbers were those born July 23 with No. 365 and Sept. 9 with No. 364. But draft officials expected draftable numbers to fall far below the 125 of last year.

Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr started the drawing by saying: "We do not as yet know what the draft call will be in 1973." "Nor," he said, "do we know as yet what the call will be for the remainder of 1972, but do expect to be lower than they have been in recent years."

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has said there will be no calls at least until April. In contrast to the first three draft lotteries, there were no protesters outside the Commerce Department auditorium where the lottery was held.

Inside the atmosphere was more relaxed than in past years, apparently because this could be the last year for a lottery that counts.

The administration hopes to have an all-volunteer army by June 30, 1973, when the current draft authority expires.

There are plans to hold a standby lottery next year for those turning 19 in 1973.

One drum contained red capsules with birth dates and the other had the blue capsules containing the numbers.

One capsule was pulled from each drum simultaneously and handed to two announcers who called off the date with the number of call.

Four young men and two women — three whites and three blacks — drew the capsules out. They are members of state Selective Service Youth Advisory Commissions in Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The drums were rotated after each 20 draws, when the Pluckers were changed.

There was the usual suspense waiting for No. 1 to be pulled, and it didn't come until the lottery was almost over.

Stephen R. Hartley of Cumberland, Md., picked March 6 and Robert E. McDonald of Harrisburg, Pa., No. 1. That was shortly after No. 2 was matched with March 7 on the 271st draw and No. 4 with April 21 on the 273rd draw. No. 3 went to Aug. 3 on the 100th draw.

The lottery Wednesday affects only men turning 19 this year.

Those in previous lotteries will keep their numbers until they are no longer eligible to be drafted.

Tarr told newsmen the Pentagon hasn't told him what the draft needs will be because defense officials may not know themselves since so much depends on the economy.

Part of this depends on the job situation, since unemployment in civilian life would induce men to enlist. Military pay was raised twice last year, especially for men in low ranks and another increase is in the works for next Jan. 1.

State can shoulder party primary bill

DALLAS (AP) — A federal court which threw out Texas's system of using filing fees to pay for party primary elections Wednesday amended its order to allow the state to shoulder the expenses.

The three-judge panel granted an amendment to its Jan. 20 ruling sought by Bob Bullock, Texas Secretary of State.

In its original order the court ruled unconstitutional a state law which allowed political parties to levy filing fees on candidates for office of up to four per cent of the salary for the position sought.

The money collected by the parties was to be used to pay the expense of conducting the primary elections.

The federal action attacking the filing fee system was brought by Rick Johnston, a candidate for justice of the peace in Dallas. Johnston said he would have been required to pay a filing fee of $3,456, based on the $21,600 annual salary of the post.

Johnston said he also had asked the court to give Bullock control over the conduct of primaries.

Bullock said that if the court granted him this power, he would permit statewide and county-level political powers to levy "reasonable" filing fees to finance the primaries. But, he added, such fees should be uniform and not vary from county to county.

In his motion to the court, Bullock said he had found that county political organizations were not operating uniformly.

An aide of Bullock's said that in one county the Democratic chairman was requiring written statements from candidates who filed for office without making a "donation" to the party. He said the chairman was publicizing the names of those who either refused to donate or contended they could not afford to.

This, the aide said, defeated the purpose of the court decision, which the U. S. Supreme Court refused last week to stay.

"If the court grants this motion, I will ask the governor to transfer funds to this office which this office will use to make up the difference between the sum collected from reasonable fees and the actual cost of the elections. . . . At present my staff calculates that the state's cost should be about $1.3 million," Bullock said in a statement Tuesday.

He said "an untimely special session of the legislature prior to the primaries" might be avoided now that the court has granted his motion.

Construction slows travel, rains hamper work's end

The road in front of the Exchange store should be cleared for traffic by April, according to Charles Brunt, assistant manager of construction.

The concrete utility tunnels will extend all the way down Military Walk to the new construction center. The new tunnel system will be completed next winter.

One section of the utility tunnels will extend from the All Faith's Chapel to Military Walk. The construction of this section is currently shutting off traffic on Houston St. in front of the YMCA. Brunt believes that this road will be opened again in a month.

The demolition of Bagley and Mitchell Halls will begin in April. Mitchell Hall will be replaced by the new health center which should be completed in about two years. A classroom annex will be built where Bagley Hall now stands.

In May construction begins on two parking lots in front of the Systems Building. The lots will accommodate users of the new Oceanography and Meteorology Building which will be opened for the next spring semester. The size of the lots has not yet been determined.

Eventually a pedestrian walk will extend from the south side of the fish pond down the entire length of Military Walk. "Work on this walk will not begin until the utilities tunnels has been completed," Brunt said.

Construction work on campus is hampered by inclement weather.

"Over the holidays long periods of rain prevented us from doing all that we wanted to do," Brunt said.

By angry demonstrators

British Embassy stormed in Dublin

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Thousands of furious republican demonstrators stormed the British Embassy in Dublin Wednesday shortly after the funerals in Londonderry of the 13 victims of "Bloody Sunday."

The mob estimated to number 35,000 overwhelmed a task force of police ringing the embassy in downtown Merrion Square. Gasoline bombs crashed against the walls of the embassy already scarred from earlier assaults by demonstrators protesting Sunday's killings.

The embassy building was soon a mass of flames. Three youths with sledgehammers clambered on to balconies and smashed windows.

Within minutes, an Irish tricolor was fluttering from the embassy flag staff where it was hoisted by another youth.

The demonstrators burned three effigies of British Prime Minister Edward Heath.

Molotov cocktails exploded against the gray-stone walls of the embassy at the rate of one a minute.

A human chain was formed to pass garbage cans slopping with gasoline from the back of the crowd to men making gasoline bombs at the front.

Some demonstrators raided garages and shops to keep up the supply of bottles.

There was only a skeleton caretaking staff inside the embassy. Ambassador Sir John Peck is in London for consultations with the British government and the embassy staff was not at work. A Foreign Office spokesman in London said: "Nobody reported for work because of damage already done to the building."

The demonstrators chanted "British out" while a band played a death march and two coffins draped with black were placed at the embassy portals.

The eruption of violence ended a brief lull as the republic's 89-year-old president, Eamon de Valera, led his country in mourning the Londonderry dead.

Chicago — not just a band, but sweating, straining faces
