

Aggie netters drop windy match to Michigan, 5-4

By BILL HENRY
Assistant Sports Editor

College Station wind caused havoc with the elusive tennis ball and the A&M tennis team here Tuesday afternoon in a losing effort to Big Ten champion Michigan 5-4 in dual competition. It was a proud day for two Aggie freshmen, Bill Wright and Billy Hoover, as they were double winners, but for two upper classmen, Dick Fikes and Danny Courson, it was a different story.

Not only did both upperclassmen lose their singles matches but also lost their doubles match after being ahead 4-1 in the first set. "I was very unhappy with the performance of Fikes and Courson today," Coach Omar Smith said. "I'm very disappointed in their team leadership." Going into the doubles competition, the A&M specialty, matches were tied, 3-3. Smith felt very confident of upsetting the talent-laden team from Ann Arbor. In the beginning it looked as though Fikes and Courson were going to annihilate the team of Jeff Ross and Dick Raverby after taking a commanding 4-1 advantage, needing only two of the next six games to win. Michigan won four straight, taking the lead 5-4. A&M won the next game to tie the score at 5-5 and a final chance to pull the match out of the fire. This was not A&M's day as Michigan took the next two and a 7-5 set win. Ross and Raverby easily took the second match, 6-4, thus dropping A&M's dual meet record to 5-5 after beginning the season 3-0. In the Hoover-Wright match, the duo had to come from behind to win their first match on the last point of a tie-breaker. The first team to score five points automatically wins the match. It went down to the wire as the two freshmen pulled it out, 5-4. Dick Fikes' singles match was also won on the tie-breaker, but this time A&M came out on the short end. It was a gallant effort on his part, however, as he was behind 5-1, then won five straight games, gaining the lead, 6-5. He lost the next game and the tie-breaker, 5-0. Michigan's record stands at 1-1 after losing to Corpus Christi University, 5-2, Monday. "I felt real good about the victory," Coach Bryan Heisner said after the contest. "It is only the second day we've played outdoors and I'm confident that the team will improve with more outside work." The results of the dual meet were: Joel Ross, Michigan, defeated Dick Fikes, 7-6, 6-2; Jeff Miller of Michigan defeated Danny Courson, 6-4, 6-2; Bill Wright, A&M, defeated Tim Ott, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4; Billy Hoover of A&M defeated Dick Raverby, Michigan, 5-7, 7-6, 6-4; Tommy Connell of A&M defeated Kevin Senich, 6-4, 6-3; and Jerry Karzen of Michigan defeated Jere Mills, 6-1, 6-4. In doubles action; Fikes and Courson lost to Ross and Raverby, 5-7, 4-6; Wright and Hoover defeated Karzen and Senich, 7-6, 6-4; and Miller and Ott defeated Mills and Park, 6-2, 6-1. Thursday A&M takes on Texas A&I here on Varsity Court starting at 1:30 p.m.
