Aggies meet TCU to open conference play Friday

By JOHN CURYLO
Battalion Sports Editor

Southwest Conference baseball action begins Friday at 1:00 in Kyle Field, with the Aggies trying to break the streak which Texas Christian holds over them.

Last season, the Horned Frogs swept a three-game series from A&M just before the crucial showdown with Texas. Losses to both teams knocked the Aggies out of title contention. A&M was 31-9 a year ago, with six of the losses being to the Frogs and the Longhorns.

TCU won in Fort Worth, 5-3, 4-3, and 8-7. SWC series consist of a Friday doubleheader and a Saturday single game. The first game of the twinbill is scheduled for seven innings, with the other two contests going nine innings.

Home series are set to start at 1:00 Fridays and 2:00 Saturdays. This year, the Aggies play TCU, Baylor and Rice at home, with road series against Southern Methodist, Texas Tech and Texas.

The Aggies are 8-4 for the season.

Coach Tom Chandler will start Bruce Katt (2-1) and Charles Kelley (2-2) in Friday's doubleheader, with Jackie Binks (1-1) scheduled to start Saturday. Katt and Binks are left handers, while Kelley is right handed.

Also expected to see mound action are Steve Janda (2-0) and Charlie Jenkins (0-0). This pair stood out in Tuesday's sweep of the Lamar Cardinals. Both are juniors, with Janda being a junior college transfer. Jenkins, who also plays basketball, posted a 5-0 record last season. The right hander hit three singles in three times at bat Tuesday.

Butch Ghutzman will play first base, Jim Langford or Carroll Lilly at second base, Mike Schraeder or Lilly at shortstop, with Jim Hacker and Sandy Bate sharing third base and right field duty.

Jim Atterbury gets the nod in left field, and R. J. Englert is the starting center fielder and the team's leading hitter. Starting catcher will be Terry Overton, Neil McKittrick or Mike Frazier.

TCU Coach Frank Windegger lists returning lettermen Frank Johnstone, Jess Cole and Johnny Grace as his top hurlers. Johnstone is a sophomore with a 7-4 record last year, Cole is a junior who was 3-2 last season, and Grace is a senior with 2-1 as his mark a year ago.

Tom Ladusau and Kenneth Simmons, both junior college transfers, may help the Frog staff. Ladusau was 8-10 last season, while Simmons posted a 6-4 mark a year ago.

The series, and doubleheaders here Monday and Tuesday with Minnesota, will feature the appearance of the Diamond Darlings, A&M's batgirls.

Since the coeds' debut Monday in the St. Mary's twinbill, the Aggies have posted a 4-0 record. The girls have received approval to perform at the remainder of the home games this season. Part of the group will attend road games, with arrangements being made now for some of the girls to travel to Dallas next weekend for the SMU series.

Minnesota mastered the Aggies, 3-0, last year, one of five teams able to beat A&M during the record-setting season. The Aggies won the other two Minnesota games, 4-3 and 7-4. The twinbills both begin at 1:00 at Kyle Field.

The remainder of the schedule for A&M is as follows: March 24-25, at SMU; March 30, Air Force at San Antonio; March 31, St. Mary's at San Antonio; April 7-8, Baylor, here; April 11, Houston, here; April 14-15, at Tech; April 18, at Houston; April 21-22, Rice, here; and April 28-29, at Texas.

Chandler is in his fourteenth year at A&M, having compiled a 234-121 record here. This .659 mark makes him 22nd in winning percentage among active coaches and 47th on the all-time list. His teams won the title in 1959 and 1964, with second place finishes coming the last two years.

The coach, currently working toward a doctorate, earned bachelor's and master's degrees from Sul Ross College in Alpine. He is the 1972 president of the National Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Since coming here in 1959, Chandler has coached six All-Americans — Bill Hancock and Frank Stark in 1964, Mike McClure and Lance Cobb in 1966, Bob Long in 1969 and Dave Elmdorf in 1971.

Bruin's Walton wins honors as year's best

NEW YORK (AP)—Sophomore Bill Walton of UCLA, who looks like Huckleberry Finn and plays like Superman, was named Wednesday the Associated Press' college basketball player of the year for 1971-72.

The red-haired, lantern-jawed center was given a 3-1 margin over Dwight Lamar, the nation's leading scorer from Southwestern Louisiana, in nationwide voting by sports writers and broadcasters.

Others receiving votes were Virginia's Barry Parkhill, Dough Collins of Illinois State and Henry Bibby, Walton's senior teammate.

Walton dominated the balloting the same way he dominated the opposition this year, leading UCLA's sophomore-studded Bruins to a 28-0 record.

The average of 21 points and 15 rebounds a game didn't tell the entire story of the 6-foot-11 star.

"I've never seen a player who makes the outlet pass and starts the fast break as well," said UCLA Coach John Wooden. "He does so many things that don't show up in the box score. Like intimidation. How do you measure that?"

"Our opponents hit in the 30 per cent range during the year and Walton is greatly responsible for that. Not only because of the shots he blocks, but because the other team is always looking for him."

"I think you have to be a real student of the game to appreciate the way Bill plays," says teammate Greg Lee, the Bruins' playmaker. "We are only now beginning to realize how good he is. With Bill back there on defense, the rest of us can afford to gamble and we can cheat on our fast break."

Walton, compared favorably to Bill Russell and Kareem Abdul Jabbar (Lew Alcindor) in their collegiate prime, is deceptive in appearance. He has thin legs and a bony body. Floppy, carrot-color hair sits atop a pale, fragile-looking face.
