

Kennedy denies using influence to prevent questioning

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., has denied a congressman's suggestion that he used his influence to prevent questioning of acting Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst in connection with the Texas stock scandal, it was reported Thursday.

The report was the latest development in a series of questions raised by Rep. Henry Gonzalez.

The San Antonio Democrat has repeatedly blasted the immunity granted Houston financier Frank Sharp, a central figure in the scandal. He says Kleindienst should be questioned on this issue while being considered for the attorney general's post.

Gonzalez earlier had told the San Antonio News that he "could only assume" Kennedy had "passed the word" to senators interested in probing Sharp's immunity to "forget about Frank Sharp."

The News said Kennedy was questioned about Gonzalez's comments in Washington.

"It's a complete lie," the News reported Kennedy said. It quoted him as adding: "Sharp is a Democrat. He's been indicted... this is a sheer fabrication."

Gonzalez earlier had said Kennedy was a "bosom friend" of Claude Hooten, who is married to Sharp's daughter.

Kennedy acknowledged that Hooten is a close friend and was his roommate at Harvard, the News reported.

Told of Kennedy's reaction on the Kleindienst-Sharp issue, Gonzalez said Thursday that Kennedy, therefore, should "take the lead" in questioning Kleindienst about what Gonzalez calls the "quickie deal" to grant Sharp immunity.

Gonzalez has contended that the immunity arrangement was made to protect former Asst. Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, a Texas Democrat turned Republican. Wilson resigned from his Justice Department post after coming under fire from Gonzalez for weeks.

"I don't think there is a history of a similar quickie deal in the annals of the Justice Department," Gonzalez said of the immunity. He said Wilson "had always blamed Kleindienst" and contended that Kleindienst had made the decision.

Gonzalez said Sens. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and John Tunney, D-Calif., had expressed an interest in airing the Sharp matter during the Senate Judiciary Committee's consideration of Kleindienst's appointment, but no such questions have been asked.

Bayh and Tunney are members of the committee along with Kennedy.

'Old Sarge' Weihausen doesn't really hate kids

By LES PALMER JR.

You may not know his name, but if you're taking a language course at A&M, you certainly have seen "Old Sarge" Weihausen.

Supervisor of the language lab, 62-year-old Earl H. Weihausen is referred to around the Academic building as Earl or "Old Sarge."

"The students call me some other things under their breath, I think," he said.

When Earl comes to work every morning, you won't mistake him for a ray of sunshine. His rimless glasses and half-scoff give him the appearance of man who hates kids and dogs and women wearing pants. Talking to him Monday morning corrected that misconception.

"I like everything in general about the students. Oh, we have a few who are mischievous and like to tinker with the tape decks, but most, almost all, of the kids are fine. Are youngsters any different these days than in the past? No, each generation has to go through a certain course and as soon as that course is completed, they'll settle into the proper groove."

Earl retired from the Army in 1953 as a master sergeant, hence the nickname. He has worked at the language lab since 1960.

The Modern Languages Department teaches courses in Spanish, French, German, Russian and Czech. The lab is an indispensable part of the instruction and it is Earl's responsibility.

Besides taking care of 125 tape recorders, 64 of which are in listening booths in the lab proper, he records or duplicates the practice tapes. Tapes are kept for all languages and course levels dependent on the enrollment.

Because of early-morning and nighttime hours of operation, Earl has three student assistants: Ronnie Ledbetter, Mrs. Linda Moffitt and John Chynoweth.

Speaking of Chynoweth, Earl said, "Don't ask me how to pronounce that German's name. I haven't gotten my tongue twisted right yet."

Earl doesn't speak any foreign languages himself, but he feels, "everyone at A&M should have to take at least one semester of a foreign language, just to be exposed to it. When I was in the Army there were many times I wished I could have had the opportunity to study a language."

The Church.. For a Fuller Life.. For You..

ANSWERS ANSWERS ANSWERS

An adding machine performs accurately for anyone who uses it correctly. Each person may record a different column of figures. Answers will vary accordingly but each will be correct.

Life also registers what we give it... produces results correspondingly. Sometimes we are so harried and hurried with whirling activities we forget to include worship.

When we do clear our minds for understanding and prayer with God, good results follow.

The Church has accurate answers for modern problems. Let it help you find correct solutions.
