Aggies take on Longhorns in baseball

With the Southwest Conference baseball championship hinging on the outcome, the Texas Aggies travel to Austin this weekend for a season-ending series with the University of Texas Longhorns. A&M, now 26-11 for the season and 9-6 in SWC play, is third in the league chase for the title. Texas and Texas Christian are tied for the lead, 10-5.

The Horned Frogs will be in action this weekend against Southern Methodist. For the Aggies to win the crown, they need to sweep the Texas series while SMU takes two from TCU.

An interesting feature of the series will be the head-to-head battle for the league's batting championship between A&M center fielder R. J. Englert and Texas third baseman David Chalk.

Englert currently has a consecutive string of 27 games in which he has hit safely this season. His SWC streak is 15. Englert has hit safely in 32 of the 35 games he has played this year.

Englert and five other seniors will be closing out their college baseball careers this weekend. First baseman Butch Ghutzman, second baseman Jim Langford, shortstop Carroll Lilly and pitchers Bruce Katt and Charlie Kelley play their last A&M baseball games Friday and Saturday.

Other starters for the Aggies will be catcher Tommy Hawthorne, third baseman Jim Hacker, left fielder Jim Atterbury and right fielder Karl Bystrom. Besides Katt and Kelley, the other starting pitcher will be Jim Wallace.

The Longhorns will be going for their eighth straight SWC title this weekend. Texas carried the past few seasons by fine pitching, but this year's squad, picked to win the championship in pre-season polls, was supposed to be blessed with great hitting.

The trio of Mike Markl, Chalk and John Langerhans was billed as the "Murderer's Row" of the league, but their bats have been tamed in single games against Texas Tech and TCU. April 7-8, the Rice Owls swept a three-game series in Houston, one of the major upsets ever pulled off on the Austin school.

Texas has back many of the top players from the team that a year ago swept an SWC series from the Aggies to win the title. The Longhorns won 9-6, 3-0 and 10-9, due mainly to the pitching of Burt Hooton.

This season, junior transfer Ron Roznovsky has established himself as the Longhorn pitching staff. Texas attempts to win its seventh title in 57 years of baseball.

Friday's games begin at 10:00 in Clark Field. The doubleheader will be followed by a 1:00 game Saturday. The entire series will be broadcast by KORA 1240.

Tennis agreement reached between forces involved

LONDON (AP) — Warring tennis factions made peace again Wednesday and paved way for the world's top players to compete in the major championships as well as the Davis Cup.

Impact on the Davis Cup probably will prove the most significant feature of the agreement reached between Texas millionaire Lamar Hunt, proprietor of the World Championship Tennis troupe, and the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

The agreement was announced simultaneously in London and in Brookline, Mass.

In London, Allan Heyman, Danish president of the ILTF, said under the pact, which still must be ratified by the full membership, the confusing distinction between contract pros and independent pros will disappear.

This will make such pros as Rod Laver, John Newcombe, Ken Rosewall and Arthur Ashe eligible for the Davis Cup as soon as their present contracts with Hunt expire. Hunt will become a promoter instead of a tour conductor and owner. Hunt said some of the contracts have four years to run.

In the past, professionals under contract to Hunt have been ineligible for the Davis Cup, the competition for world supremacy. However, the Davis Cup is governed by the Davis Cup nations and not the ILTF.

Hunt, in London, said: "The game is now truly open, and WCT's goals are intact. All the world's great tennis players will be able to play on the highest artistic levels ever offered in the sport.

"The spectator is the big winner, for now opponents will be determined by tennis playing ability rather than by politics."

Because ratification must be approved by the entire membership in Helsinki, Finland, in July, the agreement cannot affect the 1972 Wimbledon tournament, scheduled June 28-July 8.

Thus Wimbledon, the grand dame of all tennis championships, will have to be played without the 32 pros in Hunt's stable, including the 1971 winner, John Newcombe. However, ratification is expected to come in time to benefit the U.S. Open at Forest Hills Aug. 30-Sept. 12.

This distinction has created considerable confusion, particularly among fans.

Tennis players of all classes will be free to compete in both ILTF and WCT tournaments and WCT players will be encouraged to compete in the four major championships — Wimbledon, French, Italian and the U.S. Open at Forest Hills — by making them qualifying events for the WCT final.

The truce was greeted enthusiastically by tennis officials throughout the world.

Cepeda frustrated, angry, but will not quit baseball

ATLANTA (AP) — Orlando Cepeda is frustrated. He is angry. But he is not quitting baseball.

"I want to play and soon," the strapping first baseman for the Atlanta Braves said Wednesday while denying reports that he will retire from baseball because of an ailing left knee.

"I didn't say I was going to quit," the 34-year-old native of Ponce, Puerto Rico said. "I did say I was tired of all the needles and pain. And that some days I feel like quitting but the knee is getting better each day.

"I want to play, I've played baseball all my life. It is my life."

So far this season, Cepeda, a hulking 6-foot-2 and 205 pounds, has been to bat twice. Last year the former San Francisco Giant and St. Louis Cardinal managed to play in 71 games and batted .276 with 14 home runs and 44 runs batted in before his injured knee had to be operated on in August.

"I was on a weightlifting program after the operation," the 1967 National League Most Valuable Player said. "Then I played winter ball and the knee was coming along.

"In spring training in Florida the doctor told me not to continue with the weights. I did what he said and the knee got worse.

"I saw my own doctor in New York and he said to go back to the weights."

Cepeda's scheduled comeback was placed about three weeks behind, he says and only now is the ailing knee starting to come back to normal.

"It feels much better but I have to wait and see. Luman Harris, Braves manager, has been great. He doesn't want me to rush it.

"When I return I want to come back on a regular basis," said Cepeda, who earns a reported $90,000 a year. "Luman told me to be sure it's okay before I play."

Cepeda, a 14-year major league veteran with a .309 career batting average, is in his fourth season with the Braves after being traded from St. Louis for Joe Torre, and says the sitting is killing him.

"I sit and watch. It's very frustrating and makes me angry sitting on the bench," he said.

Blues coach picks Boston in match against Rangers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "You'd have to rate Boston among the greatest teams the game's ever seen," the coach of hockey's vanquished St. Louis Blues declared.

Al Arbour, seemingly relieved his team was through with the high-scoring Bruins, made the assessment Wednesday following a 5-3 Boston victory on Arena ice the night before.

Asked to comment on the Stanley Cup finals starting Sunday between Boston and the New York Rangers, Arbour added, "If New York is going to do well, its defense is going to have to be super. And their goaltending is going to have to be super, too."

"It's difficult to size up any one series and predict the outcome," Arbour said, however.

Boston's got so much experience. They don't have any rookies, and I think the Rangers have only one." Backing Arbour's praise of Boston was a seven-goal pace with which the Bruins marched through St. Louis in four games. Flourishing a deadly power play, they scored on half of 20 opportunities with St. Louis a player short and poured in 28 goals for a four-game series cup record.

Taking over as the Bruins' most devastating line were Fred Stanfield, Johnny Bucyk and Johnny McKenzie, who combined for 10 goals and 32 points in the sweep.

The line, which set a Cup record of 52 points in 14 games two years ago, now has 46 in nine games entering the finals.

"The thing about Boston is you can't concentrate on stopping

Pats trade Dryer for 1973 draft pick

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots of the National Football League traded unsigned defensive end Fred Dryer to Los Angeles Wednesday in exchange for the Rams' No. 1 pick in the 1973 draft and veteran defensive tackle Rick Cash.

The Patriots surrendered their first and sixth draft choices this year and their No. 2 pick in 1973 to acquire Dryer from the New York Giants.

Dryer played out his option with the Giants last season and the Patriots were unable to sign him. Unless he signs with Los Angeles by May 1, he will become a free agent.

just one player or just one team," Arbour said. "They all come from just about any place at any time."

"The only guy we've got is Bucyk," said Boston coach Tom Johnson before the Bruins left for home. "He's got either a hip injury or a charley horse. We don't know for sure."

Johnson, like Arbour, likes the finals against the Rangers hard to predict.

"We know they've been playing well," he said in respect to New York, which Boston has won five of six games and outscored 25-8 during the regular season. "We handled them pretty well all year," Johnson noted, "sometimes in a series it comes down to who's hot and who's the breaks."

Cuzzo traded for wide receiver

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings traded veteran National Football League quarterback Gary Cuzzo to the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday for wide receiver Bob Gilliam and two draft choices.

Cuzzo, who shared the quarterbacking duties a year ago, played out the season without contract to become a free agent. He had asked the Vikings to trade him or trade him. He would become a free agent May 1.

In addition to Gilliam, the Vikings get the Cardinals' No. 4 draft choice and the No. 4 choice they gave to St. Louis last year when Dale Hackbart went to the Cardinals for Bob Griffin and Nate Wright.

The trade of Cuzzo seems imminent after the Vikings' quarterback Norm Snead, receiver Bob Grim, running back Vince Clements and two other choices to the New York Giants for scrambling Fran Tarkenton who started his career in Minnesota.

The departure of Grim led the Vikings with 45 touchdowns and for 691 yards and seven touchdowns, and the suggestion of Al Denton created a hole for a receiver such as Gilliam. Gilliam has played five seasons in the NFL, the last two with the Cardinals.

Cuzzo has played nine seasons in the NFL with Baltimore, Orleans and Minnesota.
