TAMSS helps out

The Texas A&M Scholastic Service will tutor students in some subjects for final exams, announced TAMSS Chairman Sal-ahuddin Yusufzai.

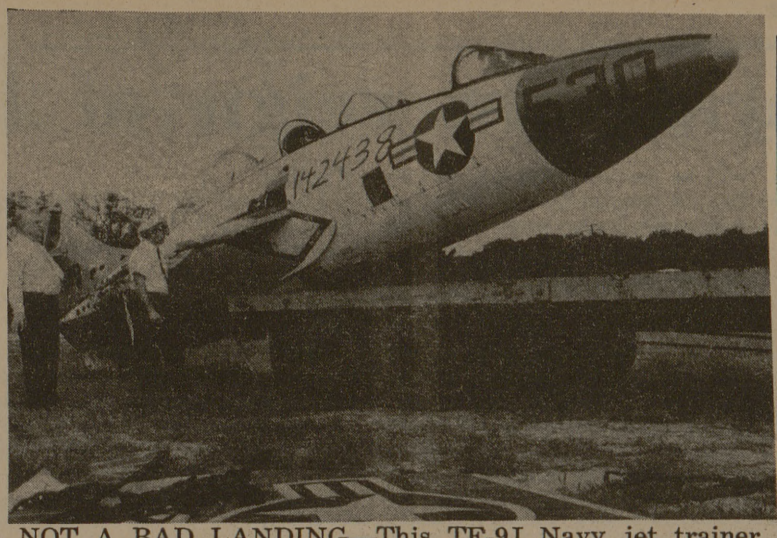

Yusufzai said tutors are available in English, math, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, industrial engineering, chemistry, physics, biology, economics and animal science.

Tutors are also available in political science, sociology, accounting, environmental design, Spanish, psychology, journalism, zoology and philosophy.

Students may call Yusufzai at 845-2670 for information on specific courses offered. Corps students may call Lewis Zingery at 845-5378. Students may also call Ron Johnson at 845-5596. Yusufzai said those students already being tutored need not call again.

Next year's chairman will be Ed Jordan.

Anyone interested in an executive position should see Assistant Engineering Dean C. H. Ransdell in the Zachry Engineering Center.

Phi Kappa Phi recognizes outstanding junior leaders

Phi Kappa Phi, national society for superior scholars in all fields of study, Tuesday recognized outstanding juniors from each college.

The student leaders were cited at the Phi Kappa Phi installation banquet by Dr. Willie F. Krueger, poultry science professor who chairs the TAMU chapter.

Honorees were Don E. McClurg, range science major of Luther, College of Agriculture; James D. McColgin, geophysics, Westfield, Ind., Geosciences; Wade F. Seidel, accounting, Brenham, Business Administration; Johnathan (eq) L. Kiel, veterinary medicine, Houston, Vet Medicine; Also, John C. Moore, health and physical education, Brenham, Education; Bryan K. Mezger, civil engineering, Marble Falls, Engineering; Layne E. Kruse, economics, McGregor, Liberal Arts, and Barbara B. Sears, zoology, Columbia, Mo., Science.

Their selection by a PKP committee assisted by the respective deans and department heads was based on scholastic achievement and all-around activities. Recipients rank in the upper five per cent of their class, have a minimum 3.75 grade point ratio out of 4.0 and have shown leadership capabilities through TAMU activities.

About 200 students were initiated into Phi Kappa Phi at the banquet. The society, known as the Phi Beta Kappa for all disciplines, selects members from the top 10 per cent of graduating seniors and the upper five per cent of the junior class.

Heading the TAMU chapter with Krueger are Dr. Claude H. Hall, vice president; Dr. B. Douglas Stone Jr., secretary; Dr. H. E. Joham, treasurer, and Dr. Glen D. Hallmark, journal correspondent. They teach history, management, plant science and electrical engineering, respectively.

LT. GEN. ORMOND R. SIMPSON, has been announced as the principal speaker at A&M's commissioning ceremonies.

Lt. Gen. Simpson to speak at commissioning exercise

Lt. Gen. Ormond R. Simpson, Marine Corps director of personnel and deputy chief of staff for manpower, will be the principal speaker at A&M's commissioning ceremonies following graduation exercises Saturday, announced TAMU President Jack K. Williams.

A total of 223 students are currently scheduled to be commissioned into the Army, Air Force or Marine Corps at the 1:30 p.m. ceremonies in G. Rollie White Coliseum. The Army heads the list with 125 candidates, with the Air Force having 79 and the Marine Corps nine.

Counting the cadets commissioned at mid-term, TAMU will produce more officers this school year than any other institution in the nation except the military academies, noted Col. Thomas R. Parsons, commandant of the university's Corps of Cadets. He said 131 TAMU students were commissioned in December.
