

Softball, tennis intramurals planned for second session

A variety of intramural athletic activities have been planned for the second summer session. The Intramural Office announced this week the plans to have softball and tennis, with play to begin July 17.

There will be two slow-pitch softball leagues of eight teams each. With this plan, each team is assured of playing seven scheduled games.

League A will play at 5:30 and 7 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays, while League B will play at the same times on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Teams will be able to select their playing days if possible at the time of entering.

Entries will be accepted at DeWare Field House from 8 a.m. July 11 until 3 p.m. July 14. Official entry blanks must be filled out and a roster must be submitted. A copy of the local rules will be available.

Schedules will be announced at 10 a.m. July 17.

Tennis will be offered in men's and women's singles and men's women's and mixed doubles. Singles and mixed doubles will be played on Mondays and Wednesdays, with doubles being played Tuesdays and Thursdays.

A round robin league will be formed in the various classes, with play normally starting at 5:30 p.m.

One "pro" set is considered a match. There will be no deuce sets or tie breakers, so the first player to win eight games is the winner.

Entries will be accepted from 8 a.m. July 11 until 3 p.m. July 14. Schedules will be ready at 10 a.m. July 17.

Faculty and staff are invited to participate in the program.

A&M geologist participates in mid-Atlantic expedition

Dr. Robert B. Scott, A&M geologist, will be among a group of marine scientists from five nations exploring a giant submerged mountain range in the mid-Atlantic for valuable mineral deposits and clues to the origin of earthquakes.

The 10-week expedition is part of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Trans-Atlantic Geotraverse project. TAG was initiated in 1970 to carry out the first comprehensive study of the ocean bottom across an entire ocean basin.

This year's phase, beginning July 5, will be made at the Mid-Atlantic Ridge, part of an undersea mountain range which extends around the world—the largest geographic feature on earth.

NOAA officials said the expedition also will probe the continental margin of Northwest Africa to determine the original edge of the African continent which has remained hidden for about 200 million years.

Dr. Scott and NOAA researchers will be joined by scientists from England, Portugal, Spain and Mauritania, along with oceanographic personnel from the Universities of Miami, Wisconsin and Connecticut.

Scott, an associate professor who came to TAMU last fall from Florida State, will participate in the third leg of the cruise, which begins in the Canary Islands and concludes in Miami.

Scientists aboard the NOAA ship "Discoverer" will lower instruments to collect samples of the newly solidified rocks to prospect for sea-floor minerals at the Mid-Atlantic Ridge in water depths ranging from hundreds to thousands of feet. They also will use electronic instruments to chart the shape of the Mid-Atlantic Ridge and to measure the intensity of the associated magnetic and gravity fields.

Residence hall applications needed before July 31 for fall semester

A&M upperclassmen not signed up for fall semester housing should apply now for a residence hall room.

Application should be made at the Housing Office.

Housing manager Allan M. Madeley said that an expected heavy demand for residence hall space and handling of applications on a date received basis makes early sign-up important.

"Summer school room reservations do not apply to the fall semester in any way," Madeley added.

Freshmen who have been accepted for fall enrollment but who have not submitted fall application cards should turn them in at once. Cards are available at the Admissions Office.

The housing manager reminded that July 31 is the deadline for cancellation of a fall room reservation without forfeit of room deposit.

Honors ceremony for vets is Friday

The annual Honors Convocation for students and faculty in A&M's College of Veterinary Medicine will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Memorial Student Center.

Twenty student and three faculty awards will be presented, plus special awards to student wives and members of the Southwestern Veterinarian staff.

Most of the student and all the faculty honors include cash awards.

Jim Rundell of Delhi, La., will serve as master of ceremonies. Mike Heitmann will voice the invocation.

Dean Alvin A. Price will make the introductions and assist with the award presentations.

Students from all three professional classes will be honored, he said.
