New Dorm Hours Being Considered

New Civilian dorm visitation hours have been proposed by the Civilian Student Council and are under consideration by A&M administrators.

Proposed hours would be 12-10 p.m. on weekdays and 12-2 a.m. on Friday and Saturdays, said Mark Blakemore, president of the Civilian Student Council.

The existing hours already allowed by the university are 5-12 p.m. on Fridays, 12-12 a.m. on Saturdays and 12-7 p.m. on Sundays.

The proposed change is under consideration by Dean of Students James P. Hannigan, Assistant Dean of Students Howard Perry, Dean of Men Charles Powell, Col. E. C. Oates and Dean of Women Toby Schreiber.

Law Hall went under those hours last semester and reported to Blakemore that the increased visitation privileges worked quite well with no complications.

"We feel it can go well with the other dorms," said Blakemore. "This is with the stipulation that they can perform with local options and set their own hours within guidelines."

Powell based his views on the situation by saying the students "are grown adults who are capable of handling themselves without problems."

"Right now I don't know whether the girls really want the boys in the dorm every day," Powell said. "I've heard some complaints about ungentlemanly conduct during the allowed hours."

Powell said he feels the hours presently in use by the university are "fine." He said the dorm governments must be sure to get the majority of opinions before attempting to reset dorm hours.

Perry said he felt that it was a little premature for any decision but noted that he will be responsive to the requests of students.

Perry pointed out that dormitories must set their programs within the guidelines established by the administration, regardless of whether administrators approve or disapprove of the proposal.

Perry also said that dormitories must get administration approval to reset visitation hours within set guidelines.

Dean Schreiber said she felt the women in Krueger-Dunn wouldn't like the weekdays. She said she also knew there were mixed feelings on the subject.

"I think the girls are pretty unanimous on the subject," Dean Schreiber said. "By and large they don't want weekday visitation, but there are mixed ideas over hours for the weekends."

Oates said he didn't have all the facts on the matter but said any action would be subject to Dean Hannigan's approval.

Oates added he expects a decision to be made next week, "hopefully by Wednesday."

Students' Rights Defined In Blue Book Revision

A revision and clarification of the University's policy on the privacy of a student's room is one of the major changes proposed and accepted for the 1972-73 edition of the University Blue Book.

The old policy was not very specific and did not cover all the aspects of the situation. The new policy clarifies each student's right to individual freedom and personal privacy in matters of search and seizure. It states:

"The proper University officials may enter a student's room in a residence hall to determine compliance with provisions of applicable multiple dwelling unit laws or for improvements or for repairs or to dispense information."

"Additional inspection of cadet corps rooms may be made by authorized cadets in accordance with corps standards."

"The authority to conduct a 'room inspection,' however, does not include the authority to search and/or seize the personal belongings of a student except when accompanied by a local, state or federal law enforcement official with a proper search warrant.

"In the event of sudden illness, death, unexpected departure or some other reason for which a student might be absent for a prolonged or indefinite period, University officials are authorized to collect and store for safekeeping and proper disposal, the affected student's personal belongings and property which are on University premises."

Other changes included the deletion of the policy that beds be made at all times. Also the policy concerning refrigerators has been officially changed to allow them in dorm rooms and also cable TV. Cooking in rooms is still prohibited.

Several other changes were proposed by the 1971-72 Student Senate, but not passed. These included the omission of the notation in the book concerning dress and grooming.

A change to allow a student to establish credit for visiting a class if he can pass a special exam failed to be accepted.

A proposed revision of the pass-fail system to allow students to have until the end of add-drop to state their intentions in their courses failed.

Also proposed was a revision of the policy concerning a student's appeal to his professor over his grade. The new proposal favored the student showing just cause to his department head, then both would review the case with department members.

A proposal that would have allowed holders of Distinguished Student cards to have automatic make up on tests missed was not passed in addition.

Krnavek Announces Corps Staff

Corps Commander Ron Krnavek has announced his staff for the 1972-73 school year, filling 10 senior positions and six junior spots.

Krnavek, a senior engineering technology major from Corpus Christi, appointed Wade Seidel to fill the shoes as his deputy corps commander. Seidel is a native of Brenham and a senior accounting major.

Other seniors on the staff will include Gerald Betty, adjutant, from Springtown; Juan Gonzalez, supply officer, from Eagle Pass; Russell Phillips, scholastic officer, from Hereford; and Bill Walker, operations officer, from Dallas.

Additional seniors are Jim Delony, information officer, from Pasadena; Cal Ramage, inspector general, from Hooks; Layne Kruse, programs officer, from McGregor; and Kerry Hulse, chaplain, from Simonston.

Junior appointments made by Krnavek include Scott Eberhart of Dallas as sergeant major, Slim Noack of Georgetown as supply sergeant, Tom Leopold of San Antonio as personnel sergeant and Ted Paup of Midland as scholastic sergeant.

Also filling junior positions are Al Aertker of Fort Worth as operations sergeant and Jan Faber of Mendota, Ill., as administration sergeant.

SHUTTLE BUS riders seem to be increasing in numbers said A&M officials Wednesday, although the exact effect of the program hasn't been established yet. The committee studying the shuttle bus said compliments and complaints are being heard, largely on the routing of the buses.

'Human Sexuality,' 'McLuhan' and Others

Free University Begins New Year

Free University Night is slated to be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the M.S.C.

Free University is a new concept in education whereby none of the traditional limitations of grades, credits and requirements are enforced. The only requirement is that a group of people be willing to learn.

Registration will be held Sept. 4-8 in the Engineering Center, ground floor; Academic Building at the bell; University Library, ground floor; and Memorial Student Center, by the post office from 8-5 p.m. Course descriptions, registration forms, times, and places of courses will be announced upon registration.

Courses offered under this program include 'Human Sexuality,' a brief introduction to sexual physiology with a cross-cultural consideration of sexual behavior.

Later lectures will concentrate on sociological aspects of marriage and mating trends. Most of the material will be covered in outside readings. The instructor is Dr. Ullrich.

'Introduction to Federal Income Taxation' is offered with the objective to provide an explanation of the elements of federal income taxation. Emphasis will be upon income deductions and tax planning techniques for individual taxpayers and includes the preparation and filing of tax returns. Dr. P. W. Ljungdahl is the instructor.

'Adventure In Automobile Economy' is a course on how to save on service and repairs with emphasis on actual engine tune-up, performance testing, and trouble-shooting practices. Instructor for the course is R. H. Fletcher.

'Reading Improvement' provides instruction and practice for increasing reading speed and comprehension. The instructor is Dr. Lennes Hope.

'McLuhan' is a study of the works of Marshall McLuhan, the prophet of the electronic age. Emphasis will be placed on the current and future implications of his world view. Russell E. Usnik will lead this class.

'A Study of the Book of Revelation' will be an eight-week look at the highly controversial book of the Bible in an attempt to get at the heart of its content. The instructor for the course is Rev. Hubert Beck.

'Socio-Biology' is about the role of biology in the understanding of today's social problems such as the biological nature of man, world hunger and population, human behavior and intelligence, and environmental deterioration.

The instructor is Dr. J. Van Overbeek.

'Mysticism—Sacred and Profane' is a study of the basic nature of the mystical experience and its two major types—first, religious mysticism with its sub-groups of artificially induced experiences and spontaneous experiences. Dr. Manuel Davenport is the instructor.

'A Sight and Sound Exploration of Life' is a series of films mixed with other forms of media which will be the gateway to an attempt to discuss and wrestle with some serious issues of life. The Rev. Hubert Beck will instruct the class.

Other courses will be offered in addition to these. All persons interested should call Bill Hartsfield or Mark Cuculic. For more information call 845-3051 or 845-1515.

Haney Named Asst. Director Of The Texas Aggie Band

Joe T. Haney has been named associate director of the Texas Aggie Band, announced Dean of Students James P. Hannigan.

Haney will work with Lt. Col. E. V. Adams in devising drills, arranging and preparing music for the famous A&M musical organization.

Haney received his appointment to the A&M staff after being the director of the award-winning Mexia High School Band for the last 16 years. His bands won sweepstakes awards eight times in those 16 years. Sweepstakes awards include UIL first division performances in marching, concert playing and sight reading each school year.

Haney will bring with him an impressive 22 years of directing state high school bands and will be the Aggie Band's first associate director. His Mexia bands used the same marching format as the Aggie Band.

Both Adams and Haney marched and played at A&M under the late Col. Richard J. Dunn, who directed here from 1924 to 1946. Adams is in his 27th year directing the Aggie Band.

"With Mr. Haney many things can be accomplished that were not possible in the past," said Adams of his new charge. "It was really impossible for one man to do the work of five people."

Plans are in the making for a stage band "which will add variety for people interested in that phase." Adams said there is a bare possibility for a volunteer-type concert band next spring, if the proper instrumentation can be provided on a voluntary basis.

After a semester in the band in 1944, Haney spent three years with the 282nd Army Ground Forces Band. A native Texan, he completed his degree in music at SMU in 1950 and received his master's in music education at Sam Houston State in 1955.

In addition to being director at Hemphill, Calvert and Wharton, he is a member of the Texas Band Masters Association, Texas Music Educators Association and Phi Beta Mu, an honorary bandmaster fraternity.

He was a member of the UIL state advisory committee and contest chairman of the UIL region marching competition. His Mexia bands appeared five times on national television and won various honors at band festivals and contests throughout the state.

Forty Cwens Help Orient Freshmen Girls This Fall

Forty members of Cwens, the sophomore honor society for women, are helping freshmen girls with orientation this fall.

The National Society of Cwens was started last spring. The organization, started on campus by Dean Toby Schreiber, is the first of its kind in Texas and the 31st nationally.

"The top 10 percent of the freshman class are invited to join," said Cynthia Galbreath, President. Membership is based on service and academic achievement.

"We helped host an open house at the MSC for freshmen girls last week," said Cynthia. Cwens also held a coke party this summer for girls in summer school.

The service organization plans to help in the press box at the home football games.

Cwens, an Anglo-Saxon word meaning "lady," was started in 1922 in Pittsburgh with 12 girls. Although the club helps foster leadership in freshman girls, the sophomore year is the active year. Although upperclassmen cannot vote, they are considered alumnae and can still participate.

The National Convention of Cwens will be held in Pittsburgh in October. Cynthia and Dr. Ann Marie Elmquist will be attending.

Scrimmage At 7 p.m.

The final scrimmage for the 1972 preseason Aggie football squad has been set for 7 p.m. tonight.

All fans are invited to watch the football finale in Kyle Field. See related story on page 5.

BICYCLES EVERYWHERE are a problem. But in the bike racks at the Krueger-Dunn complex space for them seems to be the major item of concern. The racks were filled to capacity with the start of school Monday morning.

A&M To Be Site For New County, City Poll Spot

The Brazos County Commissioners Court and the College Station City Council have passed plans calling for an on-campus polling site for city, state and national elections.

The proposal to realign Precinct 9 in College Station and establish a poll on campus was approved by a 4-1 vote of the Commissioners Court.

The plan, drawn up by the Student Senate, provides for dividing Precinct 9 into three precincts. The boundaries are defined geographically by University Drive north to the College Station city limit, University Drive south to Jersey Stree and south of Jersey to Holloman Drive, with the latter's western boundary moved from Fairview Avenue west to FM 2154. One of the precincts will be composed of the university campus.

"State law requires a 2,000 voter maximum per precinct," Student Body President Layne Kruse noted, "and Precinct 9 exceeded that maximum last spring." Precinct 9 currently has over 3,700 registered voters.

The plan will go into effect March 1, 1973.

A second proposal presented to the Commissioners Court by Kruse and Barb Sears, Student Senate external affairs chairman, failed to pass.

The proposal called for moving the voting site for the November election from A&M Consolidated to G. Rollie White Coliseum. President Jack Williams and Dr. Carl Landiss approved the resolution.

According to County Judge William Vance, the second proposal was rejected because Precinct 9 Chairman Dr. E. E. Burns has already made arrangements for the polling site to be at A&M Consolidated.

The move by the City Council to establish on campus polls was made earlier in the summer. The motion, passed unanimously July 24, applied only to city elections. Approval by the Brazos County Commissioners Court was needed for state and national elections.

Kruse announced that another voter registration drive is planned for this fall. He hopes that the drive will push the campus precinct too high, requiring another division of precincts. He added that 6,000 students currently live on campus and more are projected.

Krueger-Dunn Refrigerators Distributed

Refrigerator distribution for residents of Krueger-Dunn was slated to begin at 4 p.m. today. Student distributor Steve Hill said he would be renting the machines from a U-Haul moving van which will be parked in front of the Krueger-Dunn complex.

The refrigerators will be distributed until 8 p.m. and will be the only time students may get them until a makeup times is scheduled.

Students in the corps area will get refrigerators Monday and Tuesday in the same manner as in the Krueger-Dunn area.
