Freed POWs Arrive In Peking

PEKING (AP)—Three American servicemen released from North Vietnam's prisoner of war camps arrived in Peking Tuesday, presumably en route to Europe.

They flew into the Chinese capital from Hanoi aboard a regular Chinese flight which touched down at Nanning and Changsha in Hunan province.

The three men, dressed in civilian clothes and in apparent good humor, were immediately taken over by Chinese travel service personnel, put into a bus and driven 18 miles into Peking from the airport.

Foreign correspondents who met them at the airport were prevented from speaking with them, except for snatches of conversation as they walked to the bus.

"This is out of our hands," said David Dellinger, head of an American "peach group" which is escorting the men home.

"I'm delighted to be here," said Navy Lt. j.g. Markham Gartley, grinning broadly. "But I didn't expect to be seeing Peking. I hope I have a chance to try the Peking duck."

The three freed men, Gartley, Navy Lt. j.g. Norris Charles and Air Force Maj. Edward Elias, looked like ordinary tourists as they came down the steps of the plane. But the difference was emphasized when they were halted near the ramp while the Chinese engaged in consultations with members of the peace group.

Afterward, they were taken by a side entrance, rather than through the main airline terminal, to avoid the newsmen.

Cattle Overrun Kansas Capitol

TOPEKA, Kan.—It was a weird scene, even in agricultural-minded Kansas with its rich lore of bygone cattle drive days.

Yet, there they were in the street on the west side of the Kansas statehouse Monday: 43 Texas Longhorn cattle.

H. J. Banana, a Texan who brought the cattle north 840 miles from San Antonio to Dodge City, Kan., to publicize what Banana called some "good news," and his trail boss, D. R. "Dick" Tandy, herded the Longhorns up to the statehouse from the Mid-America fairgrounds to present a memento of the drive to Gov. Robert Docking.

The governor was out of town, but Robert F. Brandt, secretary of administration, greeted the Longhorns, Banana and Tandy and accepted the memento from them.

The drive was billed as a reenactment of the 19th century cattle drives from the Texas grasslands to the Kansas rail centers.

Texas Prison Rodeo Coming

HUNTSVILLE—Prison Rodeo Arena Director Hoot Crawford after testing more than 100 prospective convict riders said that in his opinion the 1972 series, held each Sunday in October, could prove to be the best in the long history of the rodeo.

Although most of the riders had difficulty staying on top of the spirited broncs and Brahman bulls during the tryouts, Crawford said he found a number of new riders who showed promise as top rodeo performers.

"Counting our regular experienced riders, plus the best we found during the tryouts," Crawford said, "We should have around 50 of the best performers from the 14 units of the Texas Department of Corrections."

The one convict cowboy all other riders will be competing against is Harry Southerland of Fort Worth, the 1971 Prison rodeo champion.

This year's rodeo will be an all-convict show, from riders to entertainers, Batten said. What's more, the 1972 rodeo will feature for the first time convict women in a number of contests.

Net proceeds from ticket sales go for treatment services for more than 6,000 inmates housed in the various prison units.

Reserved seat tickets may be obtained by writing Prison Rodeo, Box 99, Huntsville, Texas 77340.

WALTON CARPET is being installed in all ramps in the A&M dorm as part of a dorm renovation program which received its blessing from last spring's Student Senate.
