

Inflation Hits AT&T

BOSTON (AP)—American Telephone and Telegraph Co. is studying the possibility of raising rates for installing and moving telephones to bring charges more in line with costs, the firm's president said Monday.

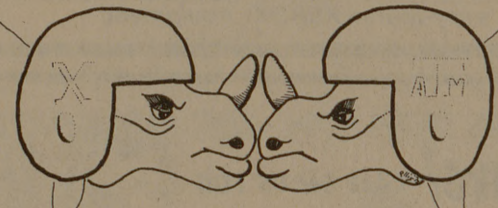

Robert D. Lilley said the average cost of installing a telephone is about $60, while most telephone companies charge $5 to $10 for the service. He said AT&T believes costs of installing and moving telephones "should be borne principally by the customer."

AT&T Board Chairman John D. deButts said telephone customers in Great Britain pay from 25 to 35 pounds—$65 to $90—for installation of a telephone, while in Japan the charge is $300.

Agnew, Shriver Push Hard For Texan Votes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two vice presidential candidates pressed campaigns today for Texans' votes, with Republican incumbent Spiro Agnew going to Fort Worth and his Democratic opponent Sargent Shriver sweeping through Houston and Galveston.

Shriver was in South Texas wooing Mexican-American votes Monday to the accompaniment of mariachi music while Agnew stumped in San Antonio and Arlington.

Agnew scheduled an early morning speech today before delegates to the national convention of retired federal employees in Fort Worth before flying back to Washington to preside over a Senate session.

Shriver planned a motorcade from Houston to a Galveston rally and then was moving on to Fort Worth.

The vice president spoke Monday before the National Defense Transportation Association and criticized Sen. George McGovern's plans to negotiate with the Soviet Union, calling them "frighteningly naive."

Agnew said future arms reductions can come if the United States resists "following any Pied Piper down the road to unilateral disarmament."

The vice president proceeded to Arlington where he was greeted by a group of students from Texas Christian University in Fort Worth who chanted, "TCU for Agnew."

He then attended a reception for supporters of Sen. John Tower, R-Tex. That gathering was closed to newsmen, but some of those attending said many of the guests were registered Democrats.

Former national Republican committeeman Peter O'Donnell of Dallas said Agnew made it

"crystal clear" at the reception that he and Nixon strongly endorse Tower's bid for re-election.

Tower himself could not attend the reception because of a speaking engagement in Houston.

Shriver visited Corpus Christi and McAllen, and in both places he criticized the Nixon administration while at the same time appealing for the Mexican-American vote in South Texas.

He said his primary reason for visiting Corpus Christi was "to underscore the McGovern-Shriver policy of using more Mexican-Americans in government."

He then said that the Nixon administration is guilty of "tokenism" with Mexican-Americans.

Later in McAllen, Shriver shook hands with a cheering crowd of nearly 2,000 people at Archer Park while mariachi bands played in the background.

He was introduced by Dr. Ramiro Casso, a McAllen physician who first launched an attack on former Gov. John Connally, calling him a "vendido," a Spanish term meaning someone who switches allegiance for economic reasons.

Connally, a Democrat, is now campaigning for the re-election of President Nixon.

Shriver said the Nixon administration has doubled unemployment, and added "Nobody in Washington cares about the unemployed because they (the unemployed) have no money, no bombs and no power."

Top Philippines Aide Predicts Two More Years Of Martial Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Philippine Cabinet Executive Secretary Alejandro Melchor, a top aide of President Marcos, said Monday that martial law in the Philippines may last two years or longer and during that time a land reform program can be realized.

Without martial law, he said, it could take 200 years possibly to attain the goals the administration has set.

Melchor declined to say how long the martial law would remain in effect. At a news conference Philippine ambassador Romualdez, the cabinet declared that President has "put his neck on the line with the declaration of law last weekend. He must gain the support of the people. If he does, these are bold measures part."

A little carnal knowledge is a dangerous thing.

So just be careful how you use it. If you're not really serious about the gal, go easy on the English Leather. On the other hand, if you are serious, lay on the English Leather and have a ball. Use English Leather Soap, Shampoo, Shave Cream, After Shave, Deodorant, Talc... the works. And who knows, she may even teach you a little something.
