Three Freshmen May Start Aggies Injury Riddled

By BILL HENRY
Battalion Sports Editor

Biggest news coming from Coach Emory Bellard's press conference Tuesday was the possibility A&M's backfield against Army Saturday will be made up of three freshmen and a senior. "Both Brad Dusek and Mark Green are question marks for Saturday's game against Army," Bellard said. "And every time I have said a player was a question mark, he has not played."

Dusek, injured in the second period against Nebraska, is still under treatment for a sprained knee while Green suffered an exremely painful, but harmless, hip-pointer against LSU in the first half.

Freshman replacements for each, Alvin Bowers at fullback and Skip Walker at halfback, did a commendable job last week against the Tigers.

"Walker has excellent speed (9.5) and instinctive natural running talent," Bellard commented.

Walker scored A&M's only touchdown from scrimmage on a brilliant, catapulting, 12-yard blast. Bowers, since replacing Dusek, has carried 10 times for 42 yards.

On the bright side of the injury problem, Bubba Bean should be back at full speed for the first time since the second quarter of the Wichita State contest.

Other injuries that could definitely cause grief for the Aggies this weekend are to middle line-backer Grady Hoermann and defensive tackle Boice Best. Both of these stellar defenders have slight knee sprains and are hobbling.

"They were not able to practice Monday and I'm not sure about today," Bellard said.

This Saturday's opponent, Army, was soundly defeated by Nebraska last week, 77-7.

"I really don't know what to say after last week," Bellard said of the Cadets. "Army plays tough, hard-nosed football and they didn't play dead against Nebraska."

"They run out of a pro-type offensive set, throw well, run the power sweep well and similar plays to what we've seen the past three weeks."

Another question mark for the Aggies is whether or not the two losses have affected their confidence enough to hurt upcoming performances.

"It hurts to lose," Bellard emphasized. "But, there is nothing wrong with our team that a good win wouldn't eliminate. There is no morale problem but a team shouldn't feel good about losing."

Murski Finally Finds A Home

It took A&M's Robert Murski awhile to find his niche, but he's making the most of it now.

The 6-1, 180-pound senior from Houston is the kind of athlete who could have been a standout at any one of nine positions. At St. Thomas High School, where he twice earned all-state honors, Murski was a quarterback, running back and defensive back. As a freshman and sophomore at A&M, he was at cornerback. Last year he was a flanker and split end.

Last spring Murski was moved back to cornerback to strengthen a defensive backfield which had lost all four starters from the previous year. The move proved to be a wise one as Murski has been the leader of the secondary through A&M's first three games.

Murski also won the punting job in a stiff three-way battle and has averaged 37.5 yards on 15 kicks.

Murski got married this past summer and is one of 33 married players on the Aggie team.

In A&M's first three games, the secondary has faced three outstanding passers. Hopefully, that experience and Murski's leadership will contribute to a mature containing unit for the conference race ahead.

Water Polo Match Set

Texas A&M's water polo team will have two matches this week. Coach Dennis Fosdick's squad hosted Arlington Wednesday in Downs Natatorium.

The Aggies beat Rice 23-10 in their only action thus far.

Starting for the Aggies will be Paul McKinzie, goalie, an All-America from DeAnza Junior College in Cupertino, Calif.; Fred Meyers and Lester Hamann, both All-Americans from College of San Mateo, Calif.; Gordon Brown, from Foothill College in Los Altos, Calif.; Steve Prentice, from Pasadena, Tex.; Mike Hicks, from Farmington, N.M.; and Steve Sonnenberg, from Houston Memorial.

Brown and Meyers are co-captains of the water polo team.

Golf Team Hosts Army

The Texas A&M golf team will host Army in a 10 a.m. match Saturday on the A&M course.

Playing for the Aggies will be Tom Johnson, Steve Veriato, Charles White, Randy Tickner, Clay Dozier and Bill Hodges.

The match will be the first of the year for the Aggies.
