

Agnew - Primary Campaigner For The Nixon Ticket

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, was recently interviewed by Marc Rosenberg and Anne Casey of the Washington Campus News Service. The following are excerpts from the text of that interview.

Q. Mr. Vice President, what role do you expect to play in this election year?

A. I think there will be a dual role. First of all, I have certain ongoing responsibilities as vice president. My functions as vice chairman of various committees, of course, will continue. All of those assignments are ongoing and can't stop simply because of an election year. But on top of that I will perform the traditional role of the vice president in the Republican Party, and that is to be the primary campaigner for the ticket.

Q. In 1970, you got front-page coverage for the strong statements you made during that election year. Would you comment on election year rhetoric in campaign 72?

A. Well, it's odd that you would raise that question, because at a recent campaign strategy session we were discussing the rhetoric that is being injected into this campaign by our opponents. This has to be of the highest level ever encountered; they compared

President Nixon with Hitler, and they make all sorts of accusations against him, such as calling him the No. 1 war maker, and saying that his acts compare to the killing of the many Jewish people in Germany.

I have forewarned rhetoric for this campaign. And I've got to be honest with you, I've examined what I said in 1968 and '70, and found nothing to compare with what Senator McGovern said. But since I have indicated that I will campaign purely on the issues, I feel a little like the man who sold all his stock just before a boom in the market. Rhetoric has become very popular at a time I have disavowed it. And maybe, I'm not sure that I'm at a disadvantage.

Q. What about our credibility with the North Vietnamese when the United States increased the bombing of the North at the same time we were talking peace in Paris?

A. Well, the answer to that is very simple. The United States increased the bombing because there was an all-out conventional assault from North Vietnam into the South, unprovoked by the South Vietnamese who never made any incursions into North Vietnam. The bombing was a retaliation for an overt act of aggression.

We have no intention of sitting idly by as allies of the South Vietnamese while the North Vietnamese escalate the war as they have done in the face of a very generous offer at the peace table to reach accord with international supervision. It was the North Vietnamese who committed the aggression, not the United States.

Q. Isn't the President's credibility being damaged by the continued refusal to disclose the sources of $10 million in campaign funds received by the Committee for the Re-election of the President before April 7?

A. Senator McGovern's party passed the laws that require campaign disclosures. They are a majority in both Houses of Congress. The President has adhered to the laws they passed; their laws did not require any disclosures beyond the ones he has made.

Now let me just add one thing about the Campaign Disclosure Act. This is a brand new law; there are plenty of technical violations that are going to surface because it was only passed recently and it hasn't been tested. But we have adhered studiously to the letter and the spirit of the requirements of the Democratic Congress, as enacted in that law.

Just because a candidate wants us to go beyond the law to suit himself, we don't intend to do that. It's not required by the law; and the law was in the hands of the opposition.

Q. Are there any circumstances under which you or the President would consider granting amnesty to people who have illegally avoided the draft?

A. Yes. There are conditions. I would not attempt to say what they are, but I believe there should be boards set up for a person who applies for amnesty. He should be heard. If there were some special extenuating circumstances... it would have to be a very visible and extreme type of thing. Maybe he could be granted amnesty without punishment.

The important thing to remember about amnesty is that it is not fair to those who served their country. Even though they disagreed with the draft, they went over and they did... Some of them died... are in veterans hospitals... present time; some are Prisoners-of-War... Action. It isn't fair to the people who decided to let their country to let them... or who ran from... scott-free. And no... our history has ever

FOR EVERYONE INTERESTED IN DEVELOPING GREATER MENTAL POWER

March, 1971, N.B.C.'s "Today Show" starring Hugh Downs featured a noted scientist from one of the nation's leading Veterans Hospitals, discussing Brain Wave research and some of the potential capabilities of man once he learns to control his own brain waves. Hugh Downs, with millions of viewers watching, demonstrated his ability to control his own brain waves, while attached to brain-wave feedback equipment.

This rapidly evolving science deals with the conscious control of the electrochemical activity of the human brain. There are four principal brain waves: The Beta wave, 14 cycles per second and higher, associated with the outer-conscious levels of mental activity; physical activity, anxiety, tension, etc. The Alpha wave, 7-14 cycles per second, associated with inner-conscious levels of mental activity, tranquility, inspiration, creativity, concentration, E.S.P., accelerated healing process, memory, learning, and many other phenomena. The Theta wave, 4 to 7 cycles per second, related to deeper levels of meditation, concentration, and potentially even greater learning and recall capabilities. And finally, the Delta wave, .05-4 cycles per second, associated with deep sleep or total unconsciousness.

It has been demonstrated that the Alpha wave produces a relaxed, tranquil state of mental alertness, and trained individuals can "turn-on" Alpha at will, effectively eliminating unnecessary worry and anxiety without the use of drugs.

PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS

Research and development of the practical application of this exciting new discovery has been pioneered by Motivation Research Center of Austin, Texas. M.R.C. researchers first developed a technique whereby an individual, in a few short hours through mental exercise, could control and regulate his brain waves without the use of feedback equipment. They noted that trained individuals quickly developed a great deal of mental control, and when tested, showed marked increases in I.Q.

By combining M.R.C. techniques with Dr. J. H. Schultz's Autogenic research, students also learned how to control their heart beat, blood pressure, body temperature, in fact, a significant amount of the so-called autonomic nervous system. Students began reporting that many psychosomatic health problems improved or vanished completely. Many students eliminated migraine headaches, insomnia, digestive problems, tension, etc. The implications of this breakthrough in the area of health alone were staggering.

E. S. P. RESEARCH

As research continued, however, another even more dramatic by-product was discovered. E. S. P. could be learned. Students were found to be extremely sensitive to the feelings and emotional attitudes of others. Intuition was enhanced and techniques for sensing information at a distance were developed. Experiments were conducted with businessmen, and it was found that many could use telepathy to obtain information for problem solving and influencing others. In this manner they were able to successfully improve corporate profits by substantial margins.

Modifications of these basic techniques were developed for housewives, mothers, students, nurses, engineers and salesmen to allow them to control and direct their lives to new heights.
