

White House, President Emerging As A New Kind Of Monarchy — Nader

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader Tuesday released the first volume of what he promised will be an encyclopedic study of Congress, declaring it "the Great American Default."
"The White House and the President are emerging in the United States as a new kind of monarchy," said Nader in a news conference heralding the release of a paperback book entitled "Who Runs Congress? The President, Big Business or You?"

The over-all conclusion of the book is that the President and big business dominate Congress, but the people could control it if they would lobby their congressmen vigorously, vote out the bad ones and hold the others accountable.
"But until they do so, the proud lords of legislation can frolic in the pool, sleep quietly at their desk, vote themselves pork-barrel legislation, accept the money of special interests, capit-ulate to the president, obstruct important legislation, and be reassured by the knowledge that it is extremely unlikely that these pleasures and powers will ever be taken away," says the book.

In his news conference Nader answered the who-runs-Congress question this way:
"We are in the midst of a very serious constitutional crisis. Congress under the Constitution is really the pre-eminent branch. Unfortunately . . . Congress has abdicated its responsibilities to powerful committee chairmen, executive bureaucracy and special-interest groups."

The book is just a small part of a planned series of 20 to 30 volumes, involving over 1,000 volunteers and costing nearly $200,000. Nader said it is intended as a tool to enable citizens to recapture control of the legislature, and thus the government.
The consumer advocate says he is paying for the project personally out of speaking fees and royalties on books.

Nader proposed that Congress begin recapturing its power by scheduling a special session for late 1973 to tackle one issue: congressional reform.
The book, published at $1.95 by Bantam, is written by Mark J. Green, James M. Fellows and David R. Zwick, all products of Harvard University or its Law School.

The project also includes profiles of 488 senators and congressmen — all those in office in 1972 except those who are retiring. They run 20 to 40 pages each and are published at $1 each by Grossman, with discounts for quantity purchases. A complete set in 12 volumes costs $450.
The profiles are based in part on 96-page questionnaires submitted to every senator and congressman. At least a dozen refused to fill them out, and others would answer only some of the 633 questions.

House Reform Caucus Formed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Four Democratic nominees to the 1973 legislature announced Tuesday the formation of a "freshman caucus" of the Texas House "to fulfill the mandate for reform."
Camm Lary Jr. of Burnet, Larry Bales of Austin, Sarah Weddington of Austin and Bill Sullivant of Gainesville announced the caucus at a news conference.
All but Larry have Republican opponents in next month's general election.
